DECISION.

On the 31st of January 1951, 11 workmen were discharged on the ground they had become surplus. Two of them, Shri H. D. Banerjee and Shri S. P. Bhattacharjee, were employees of the B. N. Elias & Co., Ltd., and the remaining 9 of the National Tobacco, Limited, an associated concern of Messrs. B. N. Elias & Co., Ltd. A dispute being raised concerning their discharge, the State of West Bengal referred the following issue for adjudication by order No. 2264-Lab., dated 12th April 1951, namely:—

"Whether the retrenchment of the men (as per list attached herewith) was justified? What relief are these men entitled to?"

The Tribunal held that the Company was not justified in retrenching any one of them and so by its award directed all the 11 workmen to be reinstated with continuity of service and also ordered the Company to pay them their wages and other emoluments from the date of their discharge to the date of their reinstatement. The Company has preferred this appeal against the said award. We will first of all deal with the cases of 9 discharged workmen of the National Tobacco Co., Ltd. The case of the Company is that prior to the year 1942, the sales throughout India were controlled by the Head Office at Calcutta. In 1942, a scheme for decentralisation of the control of sales was adopted. In accordance with that scheme, Sales Departments were established at different parts of the country. In 1942, the control of all sales in Punjab and Delhi (excluding Rajputana Section) was transferred to the Delhi Office and in 1949, the control of the Rajputana Section was also transferred to that office. In 1949 also the Madras centre was closed down and in 1951, the control of sales in the territories Nos. 2 and 4 (U.P. and Bombay) was transferred to Kanpur and Bombay respectively. In the same year, the Company closed down the [illegible] sales depots which were then under the Head Office and the work of sale was transferred to the Company [illegible] seven of 29 workmen who were employed in the Sales Department at Calcutta were retained and the remaining 22 workmen became surplus to the Company's requirements. Out of these 22 workmen, 11 were provided with alternative jobs in Messrs. B. N. Elias & Co., Ltd., the Managing Agents of the Company, and one died; 9 workmen could not be provided with suitable alternative jobs and so, they had to be retrenched. The case of the Union is that the retrenchment of those 9 workmen was not justified. It says that although those 9 workmen not required at the Head Office, there was work for them at the centres at Kanpur and Bombay and they could have been absorbed by transferring them to those centres. In fact, they were willing to go to those centres but the Company did not accede to their request. It further alleged that in fact, new hands were engaged in those centres after their discharge. In short, the defence of the Union is that their retrenchment was not bona fide.

2. The evidence establishes that as far as 1942, the Company had adopted a scheme of reorganisation of the Sales Department, and began to implement the scheme gradually from the year 1942. This was undoubtedly a management function and there cannot be any question that in setting up sales departments at Delhi Bombay and Kanpur, the Company had acted bona fide and for genuine trade reasons.

3. The finding of the Tribunal that seven new hands were engaged at the Kanpur and Bombay Offices shortly after the discharge of those 9 workmen has not been challenged before us. The conclusion is, therefore, irresistable that although there was no work for these workmen at the Calcutta Head Office at least the services of seven of them could have been retained by employing them for the additional work at Kanpur and Bombay. They were willing to be transferred to Kanpur and Bombay Offices but the Company refused their request. It discharged them by notice on the 21st January 1951 and after discharging them offered them re-employment at the Kanpur and Bombay Offices, not on the terms on which they were working at the Calcutta Head Office, but on terms less favourable to them. The Company's action in offering fresh employment after the discharge was obviously impelled by the motive of avoiding payment to them of travelling and other allowances which an employee on transfer is entitled to get. The Company also offered employment to them at Kanpur and Bombay but only at emoluments at which local people could be recruited at those two places, which the evidence shows to be much lower than they were getting at Calcutta. The offer made by the Company for re-employing them at Kanpur and Bombay conclusively proves that there was sufficient work for them at the Kanpur and Bombay Offices and the terms on which re-employment was offered to them establishes the case of the Union that the Company had not acted bona fide in discharging them.

4. Maheswar Bearer was re-employed by the Company at the Calcutta Office on the same pay two months after his discharge but on a temporary basis. By its award, the Tribunal directed his reinstatement with continuity of service and on the same terms and conditions on which he had been employed before his discharge. That meant that he was to be regarded as a permanent workman and was to get wages and other emoluments from the date of his discharge till his re-employment. The Company does not press its appeal in regard to him. The award in his favour as made by the Tribunal, therefore, stands.

5. We have already held that in discharging the remaining 8 workmen, the Company had not acted bona fide. The question of relief to them, therefore, must be considered. We do not see any reason for interfering with the order of reinstatement made in their favour by the Tribunal, as also with the direction that their services are to be treated to be continuous. The Tribunal, however, further ordered the Company to pay them compensation at the same rate of wages and other emoluments that they were drawing at the date of their discharge for the whole period of their non-employment. We are not satisfied, however, that they remained unemployed all the time, that is to say, without earning anything since their discharge. We, therefore, think that the order for compensation made in their favour should be revised. We think that the proper order in respect of compensation should be to direct the Company to pay them for the period of their non-employment at half the rate allowed by the Tribunal.

6. After the filing of the appeal, the Company made an application before us for stay of implementation of the award. That application was numbered as Misc. Case C-76/52. By our order, dated the 26th of June 1952, made on that application, we stayed the implementation of the award so far as the reinstatement was concerned on the Company's undertaking to pay within a fortnight half of the total emoluments then due to each of the workers as shown in the chart which was supplied to us at that time by the Union. In accordance with that order, the Company has paid the following amounts shown against the names of those 8 workmen, namely:—

	Rs.	a.	p.
(1) B. B. Chowdhury	2,226	1	9
(2) Munshi Majed Ali	2,106	10	3
(3) P. Roy	1,927	6	3
(4) G. [illegible]	1,927	6	3
.. .. ..	1,987	2	9
.. .. ..	2,226	1	9
.. .. ..	1,898	12	5
.. .. ..	1,912	8	0

It would thus be open to the Tribunal to examine the findings of the Management on the charge of misconduct to assure itself that there is evidence to support the finding and that the decision of the Management is a possible view on the evidence before it. In such a case the Tribunal should refrain from substituting its own judgment for the judgment of the Management, as in such matters the Tribunal does not act like a court of appeal but rather as a supervisory body exercising what would ordinarily be regarded as powers of revision for correction of basic errors, which go to the root of the matter and of perverse findings.

Consequently, any vindictive or capricious action on the part of the Management or the fact that the trouble had been provoked by the action of the Management, may be relevant factors for consideration in determing whether interference with the decision of the Management is called for. The result, therefore, is that the decision of the Management in relation to the charges against the employee will not prevail, if—

(a) there is want of bona fides, or

(b) it is a case of victimisation or unfair labour practice or violation of the principles of natural justice, or

(c) there is a basic error on facts, or

(d) there has been a perverse finding on the materials.

The law, as laid down there, can be summarised thus :—

That in normal cases, that is to say, where there is no want of bona fides or the case is not of victimisation or of unfair labour practice or where the principles of natural justice had not been violated or there is no basic error on facts, or no perverse finding on the materials before the Management, the Tribunal should not substitute its own judgment for the judgment of the Management and has only to see that there was evidence before the Management as could support its decision but where there was either want of bona fides or the case was one of victimisation or unfair labour practice, etc., the Tribunal could go into the question and come to its own conclusions as to whether the charge levelled against the workmen has been substantiated on the evidence laid before it. As the finding of Shri G. Palit is that it was a case of victimisation and as that finding is supported by evidence, the questions of law which has been raised in the grounds of appeal are not substantial ones for they have all been already dealt with and the law has been laid down by a Bench of this Tribunal in the Buckingham & Carnatic Mills, Ltd. case and other cases.

We, therefore, hold that no substantial question of law is involved in this appeal and dismiss it as being incompetent. The appellant must pay Rs. 50 as costs to the respondent.

J. N. MAJUMDAR, Chairman.

R. C. MITTER, Member.

These amounts are to be adjusted towards the amounts payable to these workmen under our decision and the balance paid to them as soon as our decision becomes enforceable in law.

7. The remaining two workmen, namely, H. D. Banerjee and S. P. Bhattacharjee, were just before their discharge, employees of Messrs. B. N. Elias & Co. With regard to Shri H. D. Banerjee, the case of the Company was that he was previously an employee of Lux Lamps, Ltd., as book-keeper. That Company was under the Managing Agency of Messrs. B. N. Elias & Co. Lux Lamps Company was closed down some time in the year 1946, but the services of some workmen including this workman were retained thereafter to complete the accounts. He was in March 1949 given an alternative job in the Provident Fund Section of the Messrs. B. N. Elias & Co., Ltd. There he was found unsuitable and a charge-sheet was issued to him to that effect, and he was reverted to his original post in the Lux Lamps Co., Ltd., to complete the accounts work of that Company. Lux Lamps Co., Ltd., was finally wound up in the year 1951. He was given salary for the month of February and one month's salary in lieu of notice and gratuity at the rate of half month's pay for each year of service. His provident fund savings were also given to him. The charge-sheet said to have been delivered by the Company to him for his alleged incompetence as a clerk of Messrs. B. N. Elias & Co., in the Provident Fund Department has not been proved and admittedly, no enquiry on that charge was held. The fact remains that knowing that the Lux Lamps Co., Ltd., would be wound up very soon, the Company reverted him to his original post under the said Company. The conclusion is, therefore, irresistible that the Company wanted to get rid of his services in an easier manner by avoiding an enquiry into the charge of incompetency levelled against him. His discharge, therefore, was not bona fide. As his reversion to his original post in the Lux Lamps & Co. was not bona fide, he must be regarded to be an employee of Messrs. B. N. Elias & Co., at the time of his discharge. At that time his age was 54 years 10 months. Under the Mercantile Award to which Messrs. B. N. Elias & Co. and its workmen were parties, the retiring age of employees of Messrs. B. N. Elias & Co. was fixed at 55 years. He had, therefore, only two months of services at the time of his discharge. He had been given all the retiring benefits which he would be entitled to at his superannuation. By his discharge at that age, he lost the benefit of two months' services only, but got one month's pay in lieu of notice. He is affected, therefore, by the unjustifiable discharge to one month's pay and emolument only. We accordingly modify the award as given in his favour by directing the Company to pay him only one month's total emoluments by way of compensation and the order for reinstatement passed in his favour is set aside.

Shri S. P. Bhattacharjee was a typist in Messrs. B. N. Elias & Co., Ltd. The case of the Company is that due to the reorganisation of the National Tobacco Co., Ltd., a Senior Typist of that Company became surplus. That Senior Typist was taken in service by Messrs. B. N. Elias & Co., Ltd., and so, the services of Shri S. P. Bhattacharjee who had been appinted in April 1944 by Messrs. B. N. Elias & Co., Ltd., and was the juniormost amongst the staff became surplus. He was accordingly discharged. The position taken up by the Company is obviously unsuitable. The action of the Messrs. B. N. Elias & Co., Ltd., in discharging him on that account is, in our opinion, an arbitrary act. The order for his reinstatement, as made by the Tribunal, must, therefore, stand. There is, however, the question of compensation. For the reasons which we have given in dealing with this topic in relation to the eight employees of National Tobacco Company, we modify the compensation as awarded by the Tribunal in the same manner. These reasons apply with greater force in respect of this workman. He was a Typist of some experience and we cannot believe his case that he had no earnings during the whole period from the date of his discharge.

9. In accordance with our order in the said application referred to above, Shri H. D. Banerjee had been paid Rs. 2,465-2-6. He has thus been overpaid. The Company is at liberty to take such steps as it may be advised for recovering the balance.

10. Shri S. P. Bhattacharjee had been paid Rs. 1,898-12-3 in accordance with our said order. According to our decision, he is entitled to get compensation from the date of his discharge till his reinstatement at half the rates of wages and other allowances that he had been last drawing. The amounts thus paid to him in pursuance of our order made on the said application is to be set off and the balance paid to him as soon as our decision becomes enforceable in law. As the appeal of the Company has substantially failed, we direct the appellants to pay Rs. 170 as costs.

DECISION.

1. This employee, Shri G. P. Sarathi, was working in the Bengal and Bihar Circle of the Company with his headquarters at Calcutta. On the 16th of April 1951, the Company ordered his transfer to its recently established Bombay Branch Office. He was originally asked to report himself at Bombay on the 1st May 1951. When the order for transfer was communicated to him, he made a representation to the Company by his letter, dated the 18th April 1951, addressed to his departmental head, the Chief Accountant. Therein, he stated that his wife was ill and was undergoing regular treatment which was likely to continue up to the middle of May and that after the medical treatment of his wife was completed, he would require at least three weeks' special leave for the purposes of proceeding to his native village to settle his family there before proceeding to Bombay. He, therefore, requested the Company to reconsider its decision of his transfer to Bombay, at least to postpone his joining date there. The Company agreed to postpone his joining date at Bombay from the 1st May to the 15th May following. Further correspondence ensued between him and the Company but the Company was not agreeable either to reconsider its order of transfer or to postpone his date of joining, as requested by him in his said letter. The Union was informed about the attitude of the Company which considered the transfer to be an act of victimisation for his Trade Union activities. The result was that on the 12th May 1951, a complaint was made on his behalf under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act to the Tribunal where adjudication proceeds between the Company and its workmen were pending on the allegation that the order of transfer was by way of punishment for his Trade Union activities. Thereafter, further correspondence ensued and the Company ultimately told him to join at Bombay on the 22nd of May 1951. On his pleading inability to do so he was actually suspended on the 22nd of May 1951 and his suspension was the subject-matter of another complaint made by him under section 33A and filed before the Tribunal on the 24th of May following. Both these complaints were heard together. The Tribunal came to the conclusion that the order of transfer made by the Company was a bona fide order. His complaint in this respect was accordingly dismissed. It, however, at the same time came to the conclusion that his suspension was not justified. It accordingly directed the Company to withdraw or cancel the order of suspension and to treat him as on duty from the date when the order was put into force. It also directed the Company to pay him his pay and other allowances during the period of his suspension. It, however, made a reservation in favour of the Company that it will be at liberty to transfer him to Bombay, as previously ordered, if it considered that such transfer was necessary. The Company has preferred this appeal against the said order. The points raised before us in support of the appeal are (1) that the Tribunal was wrong in holding that the suspension was by way of punishment; (2) even if it be so regarded, it should have held that it was justified; (3) that he was not a workman and (4) that in any event, no permission was necessary under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, as at the date of his suspension, no proceedings between the Company and its workmen was pending before the Tribunal. The fourth contention rests on the same facts which we have noticed when dealing with Appeal No. Cal.-186/52 and for the reasons given there. we overrule the same.

2. For the purposes of considering the first two points we will for the present assume that Shri Sarathi was a workman. The Company's contention is that the order of suspension made on the 22nd of May was not by way of punishment. It was, as the said order expressly states, suspension pending the decision of his complaint directed against the order for transfer.

3. We have already stated that there was correspondence between the employee and the Chief Accountant about his transfer to Bombay. We have already stated that the Company postponed his joining date to the 15th of May. Later on, on the 24th of April, the Company notified to him that his joining date at Bombay could be extended to 22nd of May (Ext. D). On receipt of that letter he addressed a letter to the Chief Accountant on the 8th of May 1951 (Ext. 5B). In the first paragraph, he stated that the medical treatment of his wife was only half completed and that he had decided to take her to his native village in Madras on the 15th instant and to arrange for her medical treatment there. For that purpose, he wanted privilege leave from the 15th to the 31st May and two days' time as the travelling time for joining his duties at Bombay. He accordingly requested the Company in that paragraph to extend his joining date at Bombay to the 3rd of June 1951. In the second paragraph, he stated that if the Company still wanted to pursue the adamant attitude giving no regard to his domestic circumstances, he would ask the Company to give him five days' casual leave from the 15th to 19th May and two days' joining leave for the 21st and the 22nd May 1951 and to allow him to report to the Bombay Office on the 23rd May 1951. He pointed that in that event, he would not be able to make arrangements for further medical treatment of his wife in his native village and she was to be left to tackle the problem herself. He accordingly asked for only one day's extension of his joining time and was even prepared to join without making any satisfactory arrangements for the medical treatment of his wife in his native village. On the 9th May the Chief Accountant replied to that letter which is marked as Ext. 4B. He observed that further correspondence in the matter of his leave would be useless and the Company had nothing to add to what was contained in previous letters on the subject to his reporting for duty at the Bombay branch office by the 22nd instant. The modest request of the employee for extension of time by one day only was thus summarily rejected by the Company. This is not all, for on the 15th of May, the Chief Accountant wrote to him a letter stating that he was "again directed to report to the Bombay branch office on the 22nd instant, failing which he will be dismissed from service without any further reference" (Ext. G). Thereafter, on the 22nd May, however, a Director of Company informed him that had not the proceedings under section 33A relating to the transfer commenced, he would have been discharged by that time, but as those proceedings were then pending, he was suspended from the 22nd instant as the Company desired to await the decision of the Tribunal on that matter. On these facts, we have no doubt that the suspension was by way of punishment, the phrase "pending decision of the Tribunal" used in the said letter (Ext. 6) being a cloak to hide the real intention of the Company. Section 33, clause (b) of the Industrial Disputes Act, was thus violated by the Company and so the complaint under section 33A against his suspension is maintainable Those facts also lead us to the conclusion that there was no justification for the Company for suspending him.

4. There thus remains the last question to be considered, namely, whether Shri Sarathi was a workman. He was appointed from the 1st of July 1944 as a Touring Auditor (Ext. 1.) But it appears from the evidence that his duties were thereafter enlarged. He was also required to work in the Sales Tax Section of one of the six regions of the Company and there his duties were to prepare figures of sales, compile sales tax figures, prepare reports, visit depots, check and calculate figures, write reports to the Head Office, make octroi accounts and to do whatever other clerical work was given to him by the Chief Accountant under whom he worked directly. This evidence is to a certain extent corroborated by a document filed by the Company which has been marked as Ext. J. There the duties of all internal auditors, to whom the work in connection with the sales tax has been assigned, are enumerated. The first paragraph therein runs thus:—

"(1) Sales Tax of Provinces—

(a) C. P. (b) Bihar. (c) U. P. (d) Assam. (e) Bhavnagar. (f) Bengal (Part).	Circular Accts/ST/1, dated 5th April 1951, contains a comprehensive picture of S. T. matters. Depots will forward monthly particulars within a reasonable time after the expiry of the month. They are checked in Head Office, and quarterly returns are to be submitted within one month, after expiry of the quarter. For Assam, returns are submitted half-yearly. Rates, method of compilation, etc., can be seen from previous returns. As problems arise, the respective Acts and Rules should be consulted and decided accordingly."

Thus his clerical duties were of an important nature. To rebut the evidence thus given, the Company produced a typed brochure entitled "Salary Manual—Executives and Supervisory Staff". It is an unsigned copy with many manuscript alterations not initiated. It has been marked as Ext. K. The brochure first deals with the question of organisation and states that the Company's executive staff shall be grouped into six sectional divisions, namely, Leaf, Supplies, Manufacturing, Sales, Accounts and Office. Executive of those sectional divisions are then classified as Divisional Executives, Senior Executives, and Junior Executives. In the category of Divisional Executives, only the Managers of some of the sections and the Chief Accountant are included. Their salaries and allowances are detailed. The next head deals with Senior Executives of the Leaf Division, Supplies Division, Manufacturing Division and Accounts Division. Only one officer is designated as the Senior Executive of the Accounts Department and he is the Assistant Accountant. He is also placed on the same footing as Divisional Executives in regard to salary, dearness allowance and travelling allowances. Then the classification of Junior Executives. In the Leaf Division, the supervisory executive staff are divided into four categories, namely, (1) Branch Managers, Factory Managers and Assistant Accountants, (2) Supervisors, Grade A, (3) Supervisors, Grade B and (4) Supervisors, Grade C. Their salaries, dearness allowance and other allowances are also indicated. In the Supplies Division, two categories are mentioned, namely, (1) Assistant, Foreign Supplies and (2) Assistants, Local Supplies. In the Manufacturing Divisions, supervisory executive staff is divided into three groups, namely, Supervisors, Grade A, Grade B and Grade C and then the duties of the Supervisors in those grades are indicated, as also their pay and emoluments. In the Sales Department, the supervisors are divided into three grades, namely, (1) Territory Managers, (2) Assistant Territory Managers and (3) Circle Salesman. In the Stock Central Department, the designations of supervisory staff are not given but the remark is "Supervisory Executive in this department would get the same salary scale as for Circle Supervisors, Grade A in the Sales Department." The fifth item deals with Accounts Department. No designations are mentioned and the only remark is "Employees in Accounts Division, at a level equivalent to supervisory executives in other functional divisions, occupy the following positions, namely, (1) Accounts, (2) Cost Control, (3) Leaf and Manufacturing and (4) Sale." It is very difficult for us to comprehend the meaning of their remark. Any way, as the designations are not given, it is impossible for us to hold that an employee in the Accounts Department who had to perform such duties as had been assigned to Shri Sarathi would be regarded as a Member of the supervisory staff. On this state of the evidence, we hold that Shri Sarathi is a workman. The result is that we cannot accept any of the contentions urged before us by the Company, and the appeal is dismissed with costs which we assess at Rs. 170.

DECISION.

By its order No. 2221Dis.-101/1851, dated 8th of November 1951, the Government of West Bengal referred 10 items of dispute between the two Companies, Messrs. Garden Reach Workshop, Ltd. and Messrs. McNeill & Barry, Ltd. and their workmen. The subject-matter of this appeal which is on behalf of 25 workmen is against the award on issue No. 5 of the said reference. That issue is in the following terms:—

"5(a) Whether the 25 clerks originally at the Company's Head Office and since transferred to the Workshop in 1947 are entitled to all the benefits and privileges pertaining to the clerical staff of the Head Office. If so, under what conditions?

5(b) Whether the said 25 clerks are entitled to any redress for privileges, if any, not granted to them since their transfer to the Workshop; if so, what?"

2. The Head Office of both the Companies, namely, Messrs. McNeill & Barry and the Garden Reach Workshop, Ltd., are located in the same premises at No. 2, Fairlie Place, Calcutta. Before the Tribunal, these 25 clerks contended that they were employees of Messrs. McNeill & Barry originally employed at the Head Office and on their transfer to the Workshop at Garden Reach, they still continued to be the employees of Messrs. McNeill & Barry, Ltd. The Tribunal, however, recorded the finding that at the time of their transfer which was in the year 1947, they were workmen of the Garden Reach Workshop, Ltd. This finding was sought to be assailed before us by the appellant but we do not think that there are sufficient materials on the record to substantiate their contention. In fact, the letters of appointments on which the Counsel for the appellants relied upon for substantiating his contention go against it. They show clearly that they were engaged as employees of the Garden Reach Workshop, Limited, by its Managing Agents Messrs. McNeill & Barry, Ltd.

3. At the hearing before the Tribunal, the case of these 25 clerks was that while posted at the Head Office (a) they enjoyed a larger number of festival holidays, (b) they were being paid at a higher rate for overtime and holiday work than what they are being given after their transfer to Garden Reach Workshop, Ltd. They further stated that they were entitled to (c) tiffin allowance and (d) travelling allowance which are being paid to the Head Office clerks. They further claimed (e) Pujah advance and (f) Pujah bonus for the year 1951 on the ground that the clerical staff at the Head Office was paid Pujah advance and Pujah bonus in that year. For the purposes of supporting their claims they put forward alternative cases, namely, (1) that before and after their transfer, they were employees of McNeill & Barry, Ltd., and ought to be treated on the same footing as the employees of McNeill & Barry at the Head Office and (2) that at the time of the transfer, the Management gave an assurance that the salary and other amenities which they were then enjoying when posted at the Head Office would not be prejudicially affected on their transfer. Before us, a third ground was taken, namely, that even if they were not the employees of McNeill & Barry but of Garden Reach Workshop, Ltd., their transfer to Garden Reach Workshop was only a temporary affair and so they are entitled to all the privileges and other amenities which the employees of the Garden Reach Workshop, Ltd., have been posted at the Head Office and are enjoying. The first ground was repelled by the Tribunal and our conclusion is that the finding in that respect made by the Tribunal is correct one. The third ground which has been for the first time urged before us has no substance. The orders for transfer have been exhibited in the case. They militate against the case of the transfer being only temporary. Besides, the fact is that they have been kept employed at the Garden Reach Workshop for more than four years, that is to say, from 1947 to the end of 1951. This is a factor which also militates against the case of the workmen that the transfer was temporary, as case which they attempted to establish only by oral evidence, which is not acceptable to us in the face of circumstances which we have pointed out.

4. The second case only has, therefore, to be considered. We have already stated the case of the workmen on the point. The case of the Management, however, is that the Management realised that if the service conditions of clerks employed at the Garden Reach Workshop, Ltd., who were about 300 in number be made applicable in all its strictness to these 25 clerks on their transfer they would be financially affected to a certain extent. So at the time of the transfer, the Company increased their wages at a flat rate of Rs. 15 per month to compensate for these disadvantages. To explain the increment of Rs. 15 per month in their salary, the workmen led evidence to the effect that the said increment was given to them to compensate them for their part time earnings elsewhere after the office hours. In fact, one of the workmen in his deposition said that while in Calcutta he used to make extra income by working as private tutors and as the transfer to Kidderpore had the effect of depriving of this part-time extra income, the Company took that fact into consideration and allowed an increment in the salary. The Tribunal observed and we think rightly, that this explanation is fantastic. The Tribunal seems to agree with the Management's case, namely, that the increment in their salary was given to compensate them for the disadvantages they would be put to if the terms and conditions of the other clerks employed at the Workshop were made applicable to them. We also think that the Management's case on the point is acceptable. The broad fact remains that if these 25 clerks when employed at the Workshop were placed on a different footing in regard to amenities, etc., from the other clerks employed there where number was considerable that would have created discontent and so, they were left to enjoy the same privileges and amenities which those other clerks posted at the Workshop enjoying and Rs. 15 as increment in their salary was given by way of compensation to make good the difference in the amenities and privileges which these clerks when at the Head Office were enjoying. The Tribunal, however, came to the conclusion that the increment of Rs. 15 in their salary was inadequate for compensating the disadvantages in respect of festival holidays and overtime allowances and increased it by a flat rate of Rs. 5 with prospective effect and for the past compensate then by a lump payment of Rs. 50 to each of them.

5. As we have come to the conclusion that the Company's case is acceptable, it is unnecessary to consider the details of the claim on the six heads which we have enumerated above. But as the matter has been argued before us in great detail by the appellant, we wish to express our views thereon. The clerks at the Head Office are getting 28 days' festival holidays. The staff at the Workshop, Ltd., were being given originally 10 days' festival holidays which were later on increased to 12 days. There is some controversy whether the number was further increased, the Company's contention being that it was increased to 16. We do not, however, consider that to be material; for there would still be a difference in the number of holidays which the Head Office staff and the staff at the Workshop enjoy. The overtime allowances at the Head Office was Rs. 1-8 per hour. For some time the rate of overtime at the Workshop was Re. 1 for a day of two hours, but from the year 1949 onwards, the overtime allowances for both the places were placed on the same footing. If we had believed the case of the employees and discarded that of the employer, a claim under these two heads, namely, holidays and overtime which has been evaluated in the written statement of the workmen at Rs. 8,025 and Rs. 7,043 would have had to be considered. But as the Tribunal has accepted the employer's version and we agree with the Tribunal, this question does not arise. The Tribunal, however, considered the compensation of Rs. 15 per month in the shape of increment in their salary to be inadequate and increased it to Rs. 20. There is no appeal by the Company against this part of the award and, therefore, we must proceed on the footing that Rs. 20 per month (Rs. 15 plus Rs. 5) would be adequate to compensate them for the disadvantages which they had to suffer by reason of their permanent transfer to the Workshop at Garden Reach Workshop. We would deal later on with the question as to the time for which this increment of Rs. 5 is to take effect.

6. With regard to tiffin allowance, the position is this that at the time of their transfer no tiffin allowances were payable to the clerks at the Head Office. The system of paying tiffin allowance to the clerks employed at the Head Office was introduced some time later. In these circumstances, we do not see how this claim could be admissible in any event. The claim for the travelling allowances is equally unsustainable. The evidence is that the clerks employed in the Head Office used to be paid 9 annas for travelling allowances when they had to travel on duty from the Head Office to other places. We fail to see how these clerks can claim travelling allowances for coming to the office from their respective residences, even if the case of the workmen that at the time of transfer, the Management gave them the assurance that their amenities and privileges would not be curtailed on their transfer had been accepted. That would not be travelling on duty. With regard to 1951 Pujah advance, the evidence coming from the side of the workmen is that the clerks employed at the Head Office and at the Workshop were given by way of advance before the Pujah 2½ months' salary. The grievance is that, at the time of the hearing, the advance so given to the clerks employed at the Workshop including these 25 clerks had been fully recovered while one month's advance only had been recovered from the Head Office clerks and the remaining 1½ month's advance was still outstanding. There is no evidence that the Management has given up its claim to recover the balance for the advance from the Head Office clerks. This claim, therefore, has no legs to stand upon.

7. With regard to the Pujah bonus for the year 1951, the evidence given on the workmen's side is that only the clerks of Messrs. McNeill & Barry at the Head Office were given one month's basic wage as Pujah bonus for that year and no clerks of the Garden Reach Workshop, Ltd., posted at the Head Office was given any bonus for that year. As our finding is that these 25 clerks are the employees of the Garden Reach Workshop, Ltd., the claim for bonus for that year is entirely unfounded.

8. The only other point, that remains to be considered is the point relating to the time from which the increment of Rs. 5 in the salary which has been awarded by the Tribunal is to be given effect to. That increment has been made prospective from the date of the award but for the past a lump compensation of Rs. 50 to each of these clerks has been awarded. We think that this is wrong. When the Tribunal came to the conclusion that the increment of Rs. 15 in the salary was not adequate to compensate these 25 clerks for their financial loss due to their transfer but Rs. 5 more was required to compensate them due for the difference in the terms of employment at the Head Office and at the Workshop; on the items of holiday and overtime allowances, we do not see any reason why this additional sum of Rs. 5 should not be paid to them from the date of their transfer. We accordingly modify this part of the award and direct the Company to pay this additional sum of Rs. 5 to each of these 25 clerks from the date of their respective transfer to the Garden Reach Workshop.

9. For greater caution, we may add that in this judgment we have only dealt with the special case of these 25 clerks under Issue No. 5. An appeal has been preferred by the workmen of the Garden Reach Workshop, Limited, against the award on the other issues referred to for adjudication by aforesaid order of the West Bengal Government. That appeal has been numbered as Cal-184/52. As the appeal has succeeded in part, we direct the Garden Reach Workshop, Ltd., to pay Rs. 100 to the appellants as costs.

True copy of order No. 2, dated 10th September 1953.

In this application, the Company asks for permission under section 22 of the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act to dismiss the opposite party Gobardhan Missir who was employed as a "Weaver" in the employment of the applicant Company. The opposite party was granted 55 days' leave from 22nd December 1952 to 14th February 1953. On 10th February 1953 the opposite party sent an application for leave on the ground of sickness. The applicant Company on 20th February 1953 wrote a letter to the opposite party asking him to send a medical certificate from a registered medical practitioner in support of the applicant but the same was not sent, whereupon the applicant Company informed him that unless he produced the medical certificate within 10 days his name would be struck off from its permanent workers' list. This letter was received by the opposite party but no medical certificate was sent Under the standing orders, absence without leave for more than 10 days amounts to a misconduct for which a workman is liable to be dismissed without notice or compensation in lieu of notice. It is alleged that the opposite party is guilty of misconduct. On 30th March 1953, a charge-sheet was sent to him asking him to explain why action should not be taken against him for absence without leave. The said charge-sheet was received by the opposite party, but no explanation was sent, nor the opposite party reported himself for duty In these circumstances, a notice of this application was sent to the opposite party but he has not appeared. This application has been made by the applicant Company by reason of the fact that the opposite party is concerned in an appeal which is pending before this Tribunal. We are satisfied that a prima facie case has been made out by the Company and that the Company is not actuated by any ulterior motive. The application thus being bona fide, we grant the permission asked for.

DECISION.

Five items of dispute which were set out in the five issues were referred by the West Bengal Government by its order No. 269Dis./11L-11/51, dated the 21st November, for adjudication by the Chairman of the Third Industrial Tribunal, West Bengal. The Tribunal made its award on the 15th July 1952, which was published in the local Gazette on the 14th August following. The workmen have filed this appeal. It was presented two days beyond time, but on an application made by them under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, we have condoned the delay.

2. The issues on which the appeal has been preferred are as follows :—

2. Dearness allowance.
3. Leave.
4. Whether the dismissal of Nobin Chandra Das, Kalipada Dutta and Sirish Chandra Bose is justified ? Whether they should be reinstated and/or given any compensation ?
5. Whether the Management is justified in not opening the factory before Aswin ? What relief the men are entitled for this action of the Management ?

The appeal against the award on Issues Nos. 3 and 4 are not competent, as no substantial question of law is involved. But as we were taken through the evidence bearing on issue No. 4, we propose to give our decision on the merits on that issue, as also on Issue No. 5 together.

3. The three workmen whose names are mentioned in Issue No. 4 were the President, Vice-President and Secretary of the Labour Union. They were dismissed on the 30th June 1951. Charges were framed against them but they refused to accept the charge-sheets. The misconduct alleged in the charge-sheets was that they had threatened the factory workers within the factory and had assaulted a worker after working hours. In short, the charges were that they were guilty of acts which endangered discipline in the factory. The evidence as led by the Company which has been believed by the Tribunal and which we also believe, is that the Company refused to meet the charter of demands of the Union. Thereupon, those workmen instigated the other workmen to adopt go-slow methods with a view to put pressure upon the Company. Most of the workmen on their advice intentionally began to produce less, but some did not follow their advice. Those workmen who disregarded their advice were threatened with violence by them and one of them Ramesh was actually assaulted by all the three after working hours for not following their advice. In these circumstances, the position which they hold in the Union cannot protect them. Their position in the Union carried with it the responsibilities which they failed to appreciate and discharge and the responsibilities of their office made their offence more serious for in this case by their action they not only deprived themselves of their services but by misguiding other workmen had deprived them of the daily bread in these hard days, when unemployment is presenting a serious problem. Such conduct on the leading office bearers of the Union must be emphatically condemned. The plea of victimisation is a stock plea in this case, which has rightly been overruled by the Tribunal.

4. On the date of their dismissal the other workmen, who were their camp followers,—not those who had not accepted their advice to go slow—surrounded the Manager in his office and confined him there till late at night. They adopted a threatening attitude and shouted slogans which led the Management to a reasonable apprehension that life and property would be in danger if the factory was kept open. It accordingly declared a lock-out from the next day (1st July) and informd the Labour Commissioner. The Assistant Labour Commissioner came and the evidence is that she was disgusted with the conduct of the workmen whom she met as also the Manager. They would not listen to reason and insisted on the immediate reinstatement of these three workmen as condition precedent to their taking part at the conciliation proceedings which she wanted to start. She left the factory in disgust but at the same time requested the Management to lift the lock-out. The Management did act on her advice and decided to reopen the factory from the 9th July and opened the gate of the factory on that date for admittance of workmen to work. None appeared and the gates were kept open for them till the 13th July. Thereafter, the Management rightly thought that no useful purpose would be served in keeping the gate open. It decided to close the factory from the 14th July and the factory had not reopened even when evidence was being led before the Tribunal. It is stated before us by the Company without any contradiction that it is closed even up to now. These facts, in our opinion, establish that the lock-out from the 1st to the 8th July 1951 was justified and the closure of the factory from the 14th July was bona fide. No relief to the workmen under this issue and Issue No. 5 is admissible.

5. The appellants did not address us on the merits on Issue No. 3 (leave). The award on Issue No. 2 (dearness allowance) is competent but no materials were placed before us by the appellants' advocate which would induce us to modify the award of the Tribunal on this point. The concern is a small one and has been a losing one since its start. It paid consolidated salary to all the categories of workmen, which was low especially in the case of the unskilled workmen. The Tribunal awarded to them Rs. 31 as dearness allowance. This is in accordance with the award of the Second Engineering Tribunal, which governs much bigger and prosperous engineering concern. This, in our opinion, is a fair amount. The Tribunal did not make any award in respect of dearness allowance for semi-skilled and skilled workmen as the only demand of the workmen before it was dearness allowance for workmen whose salary was below Rs. 50. The appellants' advocate did not make any attempt before us to show that the existing salary of semi-skilled and skilled workmen were below Rs. 50.

5. The result is that the appeal is dismissed. Each party to bear its respective costs.

DECISION.

1. Three references between Messrs. McLeod & Company (hereafter called the Company) and its workmen were made by the West Bengal Government on the 14th September 1951, 11th February and 15th May 1952, respectively. The first reference has been disposed of by the Tribunal by an award made in November 1952 and an appeal against it is now pending in this Tribunal. The second and third references have not been disposed of.

2. The Company carries on business in various lines. It was the Managing Agents of the Western Jute Bailing and the Eastern Jute Bailing Company, Limited, and were the Managing Agents of seven sterling tea companies owning between them 23 tea gardens and of a rupee company owing 2 tea gardens. Besides, it was and still is the Managing Agents of other tea companies owning 15 tea gardens. It had among others two agencies called the Luralda Agency and the Ruston Bucyrus Agency. In May 1952 it first lost the Managing Agency of the Western Jute Bailing Company, Ltd. As an adjudication proceeding between it and its workmen was then pending, it made an application under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act on the 13th May 1952 in the second reference for permission to retrench six clerks and two bearers. That application is still pending but the Company has undertaken before us to withdraw the same. It later on lost other agencies and as by the loss of those agencies some of its workmen had according to it become surplus and it made two other applications under section 33 of the said Act for permission to retrench other workmen. These two applications were made in the second reference also on the 1st August 1952 and on the 5th September 1952 and they were withdrawn. The fourth application out of which this appeal arises was made on the 19th February 1952 in the third reference and is for permission to retrench 66 workmen. The circumstances under which this application was made is as follows:—

The Company began to lose agencies and managing agencies from time to time from May 1952 onwards. As and when it lost a particular agency or the managing agency of a particular company, it made applications for permission to retrench workmen. That accounted for the three earlier applications. By December 1952 it lost the managing agencies of the seven sterling tea companies and of a rupee company, thereby the Management of 25 out of 40 tea gardens which it was managing till then was lost. By that time, it had lost also the two agencies, namely, the Luralda Agency and the Ruston Bucyrus Agency and the managing agency of the Eastern Bailing Company, Limited. It was left with the managing agency of some jute mills and of a comparatively small number of tea companies. It was still left with some other business, the details of which do not appear from the record. It is on this basis that the fourth application under section 33 was made and it purports to be a consolidated application.

3. The head office of Company is and was divided into several departments. One department dealt with the work of the Western Jute Bailing Company, Ltd., another of the Eastern Jute Bailing Company, Ltd., a third called the agency department dealt with the work of the said two agencies and of the other agencies. Another department called the Tea Department dealt with the work of all the tea companies including seven sterling and one rupee company of which the Company was the managing agents. Besides, there are the Shipping Department and Cash and Account Department. The Tea Department had several sections (i) The account section, (ii) tea sales section, (iii) filing and dock section, (iv) cash section and (v) stores section. The case of the Company in support of this application is that owing to shrinkage of business by the loss of these agencies and managing agencies a large number of workmen, clerks and subordinate staff became surplus and there was also no work for a number of officers. The Company carried on negotiations in the interest of the surplus staff with other companies, viz., Gillanders Arbuthnot & Co., James Warren & Co., Jardine & Henderson Co., Greaves Cotton & Co., etc., to whom those agencies and managing agencies had been transferred by the parent companies, and got an appreciable number employed by them. It also gave alternative jobs in its other departments to some of the workmen who had thus become surplus. It could not, however, absorb the 66 workmen whose names are given in an annexure to its application. After the filing of the application, there were vacancies in the head office staff by retirement and otherwise and twenty of the workmen whose names appear in the list annexed as aforesaid were later on provided with alternative jobs. Thus, there remained 46 workmen whose cases were considered by the Tribunal. They consist of 31 employees in the clerical staff including a stenographer and 5 typists, 7 outdoor sirkars and 15 members of the subordinate staff. The details are as follows: Of the 31 members of the clerical staff (a) seven were employed in the Department of the Eastern Jute Bailing Company, Limited, (b) three employed in the Department of the Western Jute Bailing Co., Limited, (c) five employed in the Department of Luralda Agency, (d) three employed in the Tea Department, (e) eight employed in the Shipping Department and (f) three employed in the Cash and Accounts Department. Of the 15 subordinate staff sought to be retrenched, seven are durwans and eight are bearers and of other categories. They were not attached to any particular department.

4. The case of the workmen as presented before the Tribunal was that (1) that the transfer of the managing agencies to other companies, Gillanders Arbuthnot & Co., etc., were collusive, (2) that the Company gave up its managing agencies with ulterior motives for the purpose of harassing and victimising its workmen, (3) that the Company has acquired new business which require additional hands, (4) that owing to retirements and superannuations expected in the year there would be a good number of vacancies in which the workmen proposed to be retrenched could be absorbed and (5) in any event, the Company is, without sufficient grounds, departing from the normal rule applicable to retrenchments, namely, the rule of "last come, first go". The defence in substance is that (1) there is no case for retrenchment or all, (2) that the act of the Company in proposing the retrenchment is not bona fide and (3) in any event, permission to retrench the persons whose names are mentioned in the list should not be granted as the Company proposes to retrench senior workmen while retaining the services of junior ones of the same category, without any justification.

5. The Tribunal made its order granting the Company permission to retrench all the said 46 workmen. The aggrieved workmen have filed this appeal but one of them, namely, a clerk named Shamapada Ghosh withdrew from the appeal. We are, therefore, left with the case of 30 members of the clerical staff and 15 members of the subordinate staff. In making its order, the Tribunal found that the Company lost the agencies and the managing agencies of the Companies mentioned by it for reasons beyond its control and by the loss of those agencies and managing agencies a prima facie case had been made out that a large number of its workmen had become surplus, that it tried its best to have the surplus staff employed in the other companies who had acquired those agencies and managing agencies and to absorb a good number itself. It thus held that the Company had established a prima facie case for retrenchment and the action it proposed, namely, to discharge those workmen was perfectly bona fide. These findings have not been challenged by the appellants. In regard to the last question as to whether the rule of "last come, first go" had been followed in selecting the personnel for retrenchment, the workmen contended the whole of the head office staff, category by category, should be considered as one unit. That is to say, all the stenographers, all the typists, all the clerks and all the subordinate staff on the rolls must be pooled together according to their respective categories and the juniormost among a particular category should be allowed to be retrenched unless the Company established a prima facie case for departure from that rule. The Company however, contended that the whole staff should not be considered as one unit for the purpose of selecting the personnel for retrenchment but the rule "last come, first go", should be applied department by department and to the departments affected by the fall of business. The Company examined two witnesses on the point, T. V. Srinivasan and C. Weale. Weale's evidence is important and is that in the matter of selection of the personnel of the subordinate staff all the workmen of those categories were taken into consideration and the juniormost of the particular category to which they belonged was proposed to be retrenched. This is also the finding of the Tribunal. He, however, admitted that with regard to the clerical staff the selection was department by department and generally the juniormost of the particular category in the particular affected department has been chosen for retrenchment, though he may not be the juniormost in that category if the whole of the clerical staff of the Company be taken to be the unit. The Tribunal has upheld the Company's contention in respect of the clerical staff and has accorded permission to discharge the 31 workmen of the clerical staff.

6. Mr. Niren De, appearing in support of the appeal contends that the normal rule of "last come, first go" has not been correctly interpreted and applied by the Tribunal on the admitted facts of this case. His contention is that so far as the operatives with technical knowledge are concerned, the rule of "last come, first go", may be applied on the basis of the personnel of the affected department. But where no such technical knowledge or experience is required or exsists in a Company the principle of selection of the personnel for retrenchment should be to take the whole of such staff employed in the particular place of work (in this case the head office of the Company) and the juniormost in the particular category should be the one which can be retrenched except in cases proceeding on comperative efficiency and like causes which the employer must allege and prove. His contention is that the clerical staff here consists of four categories, viz., (1) stenographers, (2) typists, (3) clerks and (4) sircars. Every employee of each of the categories does the same class of work and the clerks in particular do the same type of routine work in every department of the Company. Therefore, the workmen should have been pooled together into four pools of stenographers, typists, clerks and sircars and the juniormost of them should be allowed to be retrenched. On the admission of Weale this has not been done, and, therefore, either the matter should be remitted to the Tribunal or this application should be dismissed giving leave to the Company to make a proper application. Besides, this point, Mr. Roy Chowdhury who followed Mr. Dey submitted two other points, namely, (1) that as the first application under section 33 has not been disposed of, this application is not maintainable in law and (2) that as two references were then pending adjudication, namely, the second and the third, applications for permission should have been made in both those references, and not in the third only as has been done in the present case. The first contention does not require considerations as the Company has undertaken to withdraw its first application. The second contention, in our opinion, has no substance. We have had occasion in the past to point out the underlying principles of section 33 of the Act and in our opinion, as application made in one of several references pending between the workmen and the employer for permission to terminate the services of any of the workmen concerned in those references would be sufficient, for the safeguard as envisaged by section 33 of the Act would be satisfied.

7. Weale's evidence that in selecting the personnel of the subordinate staff, the whole of the subordinate staff of the particular categories proposed to be retrenched was taken into account and the juniormost was selected remains unchallenged, and that is also the finding of the Tribunal. The appeal of those 15 workmen of the subordinate staff, therefore, fails on the merits as well as on the preliminary objection that in their case no substantial question of law arises. We accordingly affirm the order of the Tribunal in respect of them.

8. With regard to the clerical staff, Mr. Banerjee appearing for the Company, submitted before us the following points : (a) that their appeal is incompetent as no question of law is involved, (b) that the only scope of enquiry on an application for permission to discharge workmen by way of retrenchment, as in all other cases for the termination of services, is to be confined to two points only, namely, (1) whether an employer has made out a prima facie case and (2) whether in proposing to terminate their services, the employer was acting bona fide. The question as to whether the rule of "last come, first go", has been observed or not in seeking permission to retrench cannot be enquired into at that stage. It would be a relevant point for enquiry in a dispute if it is referred for adjudication after the workmen had been discharged in pursuance of the permission for retrenchment, (3) that in any event, assuming that such a question can be gone into at this stage even with regard to the clerical staff, the personnel must be selected from the affected department according to that rule and not by taking the whole of the clerical staff of the Company as one unit and (4) even if the aforesaid contentions be overruled, the clerical staff employed in Western and Eastern Jute Bailing

Companies, Limited, and in the department of Luralda and Bucyrus Agencies, the Company was justified in selecting the personnel from these affected departments only as these departments were water-tight departments in the sense that the clerical staff sought to be reduced was employed for and worked in those departments only, and were not subject to inter-departmental transfers.

9. The questions raised in this appeal as to the scope of the enquiry on an application under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act for permission to retrench workmen and whether the normal rule of "last come, first go", has to be applied by taking the whole of the particular category of workmen in the factory as one unit, are, in our opinion, substantial questions of law and therefore, the objection as to the competence of the appeal fails.

10. In the case of Atherton West & Co., Ltd. versus Suti Mill Mazdoor Union (1953 L.A.C. 263), the Supreme Court had to consider the scope of the enquiry when an application for permission to terminate the services of workmen is sought for by the employer. That case was a case under the U. P. Industrial Disputes Act of 1947. Clause 23 of Government order No. 781 of the 10th March 1948, as amended by Government order No. 338, dated 2nd March 1951, issued by the U. P. Government provided that the "no employer, agent or manager shall discharge or dismiss any workmen concerned in and during the pendency before the Regional Conciliation Board or in an appeal pending in an Industrial Court without the written permission of the Regional Conciliation Officer or the Assistant Conciliation Officer. In that case the Regional Conciliation Officer had given permission to dismiss a number of workmen for alleged misconduct. In pursuance of that permission they were dismissed. The validitiy of their dismissal was subsequently contested and the dispute so raised was the subject matter of an adjudication proceeding by the Regional Conciliation Board. Before the Regional Conciliation Board, the employer contended that the dispute could not be readjudicated upon before that Board, because the permission accorded to the Regional Conciliation Officer had concluded the matter. This contention was overruled by the said Board which went to the merits of the dismissal and held that it was not justified. It accordingly gave relief to those workmen. An appeal was preferred to this Tribunal by the Company in which it reiterated the stand which it took before the Regional Conciliation Board. This Tribunal also observed that the contention of the Company was not sound for the permission of the Regional Conciliation Officer only removed the ban to the termination of their services and had not the effect of concluding the question as to whether the proposed dismissal was justified. This view was affirmed by the Supreme Court which said that the authority to give permission had to see only two things, namely, (1) whether a prima facie case had been made out by the employer and (2) whether he was prompted by motives of victimisation, etc., or other bad motives. In coming to its conclusion, the Supreme Court gave two reasons, namely, (1) that the function of the Regional Conciliation Officer or the Assistant Regional Conciliation Officer when considering an application for permission was not to validate the discharge or dismissal, as it was the Board or the Industrial Court, and not he, which had been entrusted to determine the question as to whether the discharge or dismissal of the workmen during the pendency of the enquiry was within the rights of employer, his agent or manager and (2) that an employer who had obtained the permission from the Regional Conciliation Officer or the Assistant Regional Conciliation Officer may or may not discharge the workmen ultimately. So, an industrial dispute replating to employment or non-employment of the workmen concerned does not arise at the stage when permission is sought for but later on when the permission is implemented by actual discharge or dismissal. In our opinion both these reasons apply only when the application for permission is made under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. There the authority to give permission is either the Conciliation Officer or the Conciliation Board or the Tribunal, as the case may be, before which proceedings are pending between the workmen and the employer. The scope of the enquiry must, therefore, be the same whether the authority to give permission is the Conciliation Officer or the Board or the Tribunal. In the Act, the functions of the Conciliation Officer and of the Board are defined. They are, however, only to promote settlement. If no settlement is arrived at before them, they have no power to adjudicate upon the merits of the dispute.

11. In the case of Prakriti Bhusan Gupta vs. The Chief Mining Engineer (1953 L.A.C.P. 373), this Tribunal held that section 33 of the Industrial Act is pari materia with the provisions of clause 23 of the said U. P. Government order which was under consideration by the Supreme Court in Atherton West's case and the observations made by the Supreme Court as to the scope of the enquiry would equally apply to a case where permission is sought for under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act. The Tribunal then examined the scope of section 33 of the Act and pointed out that an application under that section must be directed against named workmen or against workmen who can be identified from the particulars given in the application and an application for permission in general terms to discharge whether by way of retrenchment or otherwise one or a number of unspecified or unidentifiable workmen, though their total number is mentioned, is not authorised by the section. Thus, where the employer simply proves that a number of workmen has become surplus a general permission to retrench that number cannot be given leaving it to the employer to select workmen up to that number and to terminate their services on the basis of that permission, even when in seeking permission or in selecting the personnel he is not inspired by ulterior motives.

12. The case before the Supreme Court was a case where permission had been sought for and given to dismiss some specified workmen for misconduct, but as the Supreme Court laid down propositions of law defining the scope of an enquiry when permission is sought for, we are bound by the law as laid down and take it that it is exhaustive on the subject, i.e., only two matters have to be taken into consideration by the authority charged with the duty of according permission, namely, (1) whether the employer has made out a prima facie case for the proposed action against the workmen and (2) whether in proposing to take that action, it was actuated by motives of victimisation or other ulterior motives. The first element presupposes an examination of the grounds alleged by the employer in support of the proposed action. Where the employer proposes to dismiss a workman for a particular offence, prima facie case means that he must place before that authority, the materials to show that the workman concerned is guilty of that offence. The authority to give permission is not to pronounce an opinion which would finally conclude the matter but he will have to see whether on the materials so placed before him, a case for his dismissal on the grounds alleged has been made prima facie made out. Similarly where the ground of discharge is retrenchment, namely, that those named workmen had become surplus, the evidence must be led on behalf of the employer on points which it proved would justify their discharge in a dispute if raised and the authority charged with giving permission would have to see whether that evidence is of such a nature as would prima facie justify the termination of service, on the ground alleged. This, in our opinion, is the meaning to be attached to the observations of the Supreme Court which is that before giving permission, the authority concerned must be satisfied on the materials placed before it that a prima facie case has been established by the employer. In the case of retrenchment of workmen, the questions that necessarily arise, if the termination of their services is questioned in an adjudication proceeding are: (1) whether a case for retrenchment has been made out, that is to say, whether the grounds for saying that they are surplus has been made out by the employer, (2) even if such a ground has been made out by the employer, whether in the matter of retrenchment the employer had acted bona fide. If both these elements are established, the employer is the sole judge as to the number to be discharged by way of retrenchment. If the second element is not established but the first is to the satisfaction of the adjudication authority, namely, the Tribunal it must scrutinise the number and only uphold the retrenchment of such number as it thinks to have become surplus, (3) that in discharging those named workmen, whether the employer had followed the rule of "last come, first go" or not. That rule is not a fixed rule but it is the normal rule and if departed from by the employer, he must justify by evidence the departure made by him. Accordingly, where permission is sought for to discharge a workman or a number of workmen on the ground that he or they had become surplus to the requirements of the employer, the authority charged with giving permission must require the employer to lead evidence on all the points noticed above and see whether on the evidence so led, a prima facie case against the said named workman or workmen had been made out We accordingly hold where permission to retrench is sought for, the authority charged with the duty of giving permission would also have to be considered the question whether the rule "last come, first go" has been followed in the proposed retrenchment and if departed from, whether the evidence so led would prima facie support the case of departure from that rule. We accordingly cannot accept Mr. Banerjee's contention that a consideration of these questions is only relevant in an adjudication proceeding on a reference under section 10 which must necessarily start the permission had been given and acted upon.

14. This leads us to the remaining question, namely, whether in regard to the clerical staff, the rule "last come, first go" (subject to the exceptions which we have already indicated above) should be determined taking the whole clerical staff at the head office to be the unit. We think that it should be after dividing them into separate categories, namely, of the stenographers, typists, general clerks and sircars. All workmen in the particular category do the same type of work and if the selection proceeds taking the affected department only to be the unit, there would be great injustice. A clerk who is comparatively senior and happens to be at the time of the proposed retrenchment in the affected department where he is the juniormost amongst the clerks, will lose the benefit of his long services where another clerk employed in another department which is not affected and in which no surplus has occurred would still be in service though junior in service to the others. This on the face of it would not only be against the principle underlying security of service and the rules of social justice which is the foundation of the normal rule of "last come, first go,". Different considerations may, however, apply where the departments are water-tight where, as we have already observed, a set of employees is tied down to a particular department, that is to say, where it is a condition of service—express or implied—that the employer cannot put him to work elsewhere. We must, however, make it quite clear that our observations apply only to clerical staff and not to workmen of the labour force where different considerations may apply. In the case of Halda Salt & Chemical Works vs. Their Workmen—1953, 2 L.L.J.P. 39—a Bench of this Tribunal laid down a different rule but that case concerned workmen of the labour force.

The result of our findings is that in according permission to discharge 30 members of the clerical staff (excepting one, namely, Shri Shamapada Ghosh, who has withdrawn from the appeal), the Tribunal had proceeded on a wrong basis. As the comprehensive list of all the clerks (including stenographers, and typists) with their dates of appointments not on the record we must remand this case for further enquiry in respect of these 30 members of the clerical staff, i.e., stenographers, typists, clerks, sircars, giving liberty to the parties to adduce further evidence to show (1) whether the three departments devoted to the work of Western Jute Bailing Co., Ltd., and the Eastern Jute Bailing Co., Ltd., and of Luralda and Bucyrus agencies were water-tight departments, (2) if the Tribunal is satisfied that those departments were of that character in considering the rule of "last come, first go", it would proceed according to the seniority list of the different categories employed in those departments. If that is not established, those categories must be put in a pool with their confreres in other departments, (3) subject to what is stated above, it would pool the separate categories attached to all the departments and see whether the junior-most employee in their respective categories is proposed to be retrenched and (4) if there is any departure, the Company must in the first instance place before the Tribunal, the evidences justifying such departure. It is needless to say that the aggrieved workmen whose case we are remanding would be entitled to adduce evidence in the rebuttal on all those points. On the evidence so led, the Tribunal is to see whether a prima facie case has been established for retrenching all or any of those 30 named workmen. It would make the order accordingly. For greater caution, we observe that it would not be open to the Tribunal again to go into the question as to whether there was a surplus of 30 members of the clerical staff including stenographers, typists, etc. Our order makes it final that the number required for retrenchment is 30. The question of bona fides on the part of the Company is also settled at rest by our decision. The only point on which we make the remand is the point relating to the question as to whether the rule of "last come, first go" has been followed in respect of those 30 members of the clerical staff and if departed from, whether there were prima facie grounds for such departure in any individual case. On receipt of the records, the Tribunal shall without delay notify the parties of its arrival and proceed expeditiously and if possible, to dispose of the matter within six weeks of the reciept of the records. Let the records be sent back to the Tribunal immediately.

As the appeal succeeds substantially, we direct the Company to pay as costs of this hearing, irrespective of the final result, the sum of Rs. 500.

DECISION.

Two issues, namely, (1) whether the discharged workers of the Associated Rubber & Plastic Works are entitled to any relief for their past services in the said concern and (2) whether the stoppage of work of the Associated Rubber & Plastic Works from the 2nd October 1951 is a closure or a lockout. If it is a lockout, whether the discharged workers of the Associated Rubber & Plastic Works are entitled to wages for the lockout period or any other relief, were referred by the West Bengal Government by its order No. 357Dis./D/III-260/51, dated 11th December 1951 and No. 24Dis./D/III-260/51, dated the 4th January 1952, for adjudication by Shri S. K. Neogy. The Tribunal by its award, dated the 5th March 1952, decided both these issues against the workmen who have preferred this appeal before us. The facts are as follows:—Two brothers Shri M. N Ghosh and Shri A. D. Ghosh, formed into a partnership and started a factory at Dum Dum for the manufacture of rubber goods. The factory started working from May/June 1949. They were inexperienced in this line of business, so they appointed a managerial staff who laid out the factory and appointed men and guided the affairs of the Company. Towards the end of 1950, the partners reviewed the position of the concern. They found that they had misplaced their confidence on the administrative and the managerial staff and that the concern was running at a loss. By the 31st of December 1949, the loss amounted to Rs. 30,000. By the middle of October 1950, the two partners decided upon closing the factory. Later on they changed their mind, as in their opinion, the administrative staff was more responsible for the affairs of the concern. They decided to terminate the services of the administrative staff and to continue the work of the factory in the hope that by being better managed the affairs of the factory would be stabilised in time. But their expectations were belied. Next year the loss rose to a higher figure and they decided to close the factory by discharging the workmen gradually. In October 1951, there was a charter of demands submitted to the Management, one of the demands being for Puja bonus.

The Management, however, having regard to the financial position of the concern, did not accede to those demands. The result was that on the afternoon of the 1st October 1951, after the factory had closed for the day, a large number of workmen confined the officers in their rooms and assumed a threatening attitude if their demand for Puja bonus was not immediately met. Police came and after the arrival of the Police force, the workers left the factory and the officers of the concern who had been confined were released. On the next day, namely, on the 2nd October 1951, the factory gates were closed and a notice was hung up there. After stating the circumstances, some of which we have noticed above, the notice concluded as follows:—

> "It is, therefore, notified that we close down the factory indefinitely with immediate effect from today, the 2nd October 1951.
> The services of all workmen are hereby terminated with effect from this date, the 2nd October 1951 and the weekly-paid workers will get one week's pay and monthly-paid workers will get one month's pay in lieu of notice in addition to their due wages. The payment will be made at the Head Office at 55, Bentinck Street, Calcutta, on dates and times noted below".

The workmen in their written statement wanted to make the case that the said notice now produced was anti-dated but there is no evidence in support of that case. In fact, from the documentary evidence, appearing in the Labour Directorate's file, it is conclusively proved that when the factory gates were shut this notice had been hung up there. As the notice terminated the services of the workmen, there cannot be any question that there was lockout in the factory but that the factory was closed. It is admitted before us that it has not re-opened yet. As an employer has the right to close his business, no question of reinstatement arises. A question of compensation would only arise only if it is proved that the closure was not bona fide. There is no evidence on the record worth consideration coming from the workmen's side which would satisfy us that the closure was mala fide. Leaving aside the details on which adverse findings against the workmen has been recorded by the Tribunal, the fact remains that the concern belonged to a partnership consisting of two persons and ever since it started it was running at a heavy loss. One of the reasons given for the closure of the factory was the continued loss to those two partners. That fact alone is sufficient, in our opinion, to justify the finding on the facts of the case that the closure was bona fide. Relief by way of monetary compensation is, therefore, not admissible. No question of gratuity can arise for none of the workers have put in more than 2½ years of service. Moreover the closure was precipitated by the irresponsible conduct of the workmen concerned and the finances of the concern are bad. We accordingly dismiss this appeal. We award no costs.

By order No. 135Lab., dated 17th January 1948, a number of disputes between the 267 mercantile firms of Calcutta and their employees was referred for adjudication by a Tribunal (hereafter called the Mercantile Tribunal). Within the said 267 firms were included the Bengal Chamber of Commerce and the remaining firms were members of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce. Amongst the issues referred to for adjudication was an issue relating to wages. The Mercantile Tribunal first of all considered the issues between the Bengal Chamber of Commerce and their employees consisting of clerical and subordinate staff and made its award on the 26th January 1948. That award was published in the Calcutta Gazette on the 17th February 1949. The Tribunal then took up the disputes between the member firms of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce and their employees in groups. The award in respect of Messrs. B. N. Elias & Company and four other member firms was made on the 23rd April 1949 and published in the Calcutta Gazette of the 12th May following. By this award certain grades of clerks and of the subordinate staff were laid down and incremental scales fixed. In the case of Messrs. B. N. Elias & Company, indoor clerks were placed in three grades as follows:—

		Rs.
Grade A	... ...	... 160—10—260.
Grade B	... ...	... 110— 7—180.
Grade C	..	... 70— 4—134.

Outdoor clerks, sircars and tally clerks were placed in a separate grade of Rs. 65—2—95—E.B.—140. For the subordinate staff, there was one grade Rs. 30—1—40—E.B.—50. A flat increase of Rs. 10 to their existing wages was given to clerks and of Rs. 5 to the subordinate staff. With regard to the fitting in the rule that was laid down was that if the pay of any employee did not reconcile with any stage in the revised scale as laid down by the Tribunal, he should be placed at the next higher stage. B. N. Elias & Co., was a party to the reference and so were bound by the award but the National Tobacco Co., Ltd., was not a party to the reference though it was an associate company of B. N. Elias & Co., Ltd., and as such not bound by the award. This position is made clear in the award itself. From the year 1943, increments were granted by both the Companies, B. N. Elias & Co., and the National Tobacco Co., Ltd., year after year till the year 1947. In fact, with the exception of one year, namely, 1942, increments had been given much earlier but the rates of increments granted from 1943 to 1947 were not on any fixed principle or at fixed rates. Increments in the year 1947, was given in the month of June of that year. In the year 1948, however, no increments were given by the Companies—firstly, on the plea that fixation of grades and incremental scales were then pending adjudication before the Mercantile Tribunal and finally, on the plea that in that year, no profits had been made. The result was that after the Mercantile Tribunal made its award, B. N. Elias & Company granted a flat increment of Rs. 10 to the clerical staff and fitted them in the new scales at the places indicated by the directions which we have quoted above. If the clerical staff had been allowed increments for 1948, they would have been fitted in at a higher step in the incremental scales and as the National Tobacco Company had voluntarily adopted the said award which by its force was binding on B. N. Elias & Co., only, the position of the clerks of that Company would have been the same. With this background, we will now proceed to consider the subject matter of the three appeals, namely, (1) Appeal No. Cal-363/52, (2) Appeal No. Cal-368/52 and (3) Appeal No. Cal-371/52. Appeal No. Cal-363/52 has been preferred by the National Tobacco Company of India, Limited, No. Cal-371/52, by B. N. Elias & Co., Ltd., and No. Cal-368/52 by the workmen of B. N. Elias & Co., Ltd., and of the National Tobacco Co., Ltd. They arise out of the same award made on the 20th September 1952 by the Sixth Industrial Tribunal, West Bengal, and published in the Calcutta Gazette on the 21st October following. That award was made on a reference by the West Bengal Government by order No. 5811-I.T./3J-70/51, dated the 14th September 1951, by which certain issues were referred for adjudication, namely, (1) increments for the years 1948 and 1949 claimed by the workmen of both the Companies, B. N. Elias & Co., Ltd., and the National Tobacco Co., Ltd., and (2) increment claimed by the employees of the National Tobacco Co., Ltd., for the year 1951. The Tribunal awarded increments of the employees of both those Companies for the year 1948 at the rate allowed to them in the year 1947, but refused their claim for increment for the year 1949. It also allowed increments to the workmen of the National Tobacco Company for the year 1951 at the rate mentioned in the Mercantile Award which was published as already said on the 12th May 1949. It held that though the National Tobacco Company was not a party to that award and so not bound by it; it had voluntarily adopted the terms of that award in the matter of wages. In course of the argument before the Tribunal the workmen raised another question, namely, the question that they ought to be fitted in terms of the Mercantile Award at that stage or at the next higher stage of the wage scale settled by the Mercantile Tribunal, as the case may be, after adding to their wages the increments which, according to them, they were entitled to get for the year 1948 but which had been then withheld. The Tribunal refused to consider this question on the ground that the question of fitting in the workmen at the proper places in the wage scale laid down by the Mercantile Tribunal was not one of the points referred for adjudication. The appeal by B. N. Elias & Co. and the National Tobacco Company is against the award of increment for the year 1948, and though the appeal of last-mentioned Company was also directed against the award allowing increments for the year 1951, this part of the appeal was finally pressed, Mr. Sen appearing for the Company accepting the finding that the National Tobacco Co., Ltd., had adopted the terms of the award of the Mercantile Tribunal in relation to wage scales. In their appeal, the workmen claimed increments for the year 1949 and raised the question of fitting them in at proper places in the wage scales laid down by the Mercantile Tribunal. We may at once say that there is no substance in the claim of the workmen, for increment for the year 1949. B. N. Elias & Co., were bound by the Mercantile award and the National Tobacco Company had voluntarily adopted that award at least so far as the wage scale settled by it is concerned and both these Companies had given increments in June 1949 in terms of the Mercantile Award which came into force in that month.

With regard to the claim for increments for the year 1948, the Tribunal referred to two charts—Exts. A and E—which had been adduced in evidence by the Company and observed as follows:—

"those charts show that increments given were not at uniform rates to all employees. Those charts also showed that there was no grade or classification of employees and the rates of increments varied from man to man and not in conformity with the Bengal Chamber of Commerce Scheme. Persons getting the same salary did not get the same increments, but excepting some rare instances, increments were granted to all in the year 1947. I would prefer to accept the Company's evidence that there was no definite pre-award scale of increment, but increment was given at the discretion of the employer."

After recording the aforesaid finding, the Tribunal then referred to a decision of this Tribunal in Ganesh Flour Mills Co., Ltd., and their workmen (1952 L.A.C. 172, I.L.L.J., Vol., I, 1952, p. 524) and held that as increments had been given regularly in the past by the Companies the employees were entitled to look upon them as conditions of their service and so gave them increments at the rates which had been given in the year 1947. Mr. Sen in support of the appeal relies upon the findings which we have quoted above. He submits that inasmuch as there was no system in granting increments and as the Tribunal has itself found that increments before the award of the Mercantile Tribunal were given at the discretion of the Company and as they liked, this part of the award is wrong and that the Tribunal has not correctly appreciated the decision of this Tribunal in Ganesh Flour Mills' case. In the view that we are taking it is not necessary to consider whether the decision in Ganesh Flour Mills has been correctly applied to the facts of this case or not. It was the case of the workmen that both the Companies had adopted in the year 1947 the incremental scales recommended by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce to its member firms. This contention was negatived by the Tribunal by observing that an examination of the rates of increment as given in the two charts produced by the Companies established the fact that the increments given were not in conformity with the Bengal Chamber of Commerce Scheme. It is this finding which is attacked by the Union for the purposes of supporting the actual award of the Tribunal on the point. We have already held that a respondent can support an award made in his favour even though by attacking a finding made against him (Upper Ganges Valley Electric Supply Co., Ltd. vs. Their Workmen, 1953 L.A.C. 127). Therefore, the workmen, as respondents in the two appeals of the Companies, are entitled to show that the increements recommended by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce had in fact been adopted by the Companies in the year 1947 and had been made a part of the conditions of service and so, the Companies were bound to give increment according to that scheme for the year 1948 also, that is to say, the year immediately preceding the year in which the award of the Mercantile Tribunal had come into force. The question, therefore, is a question of fact, namely, whether both these companies had adopted the Bengal Chamber of Commerce Scheme before 1948. If this question is answered in favour of the workmen, the award as made by the Tribunal allowing increments for the year 1948, would stand, and no other question would arise.

The scheme of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce was placed before the Tribunal as is apparent from the passage of the Tribunal's judgment which we have quoted above. But a copy of that scheme is not on the record. The workmen made an application before us for the reception of a copy of that scheme. Mr. Sen consented to its reception and admitted the correctness of the copy attached to that application. The workmen have also prepared charts showing the names of the workmen of B. N. Elias & Co., and also of the workmen of the National Tobacco Co. (India), Limited, indicating the basic wages drawn by them on the 1st of January 1947 and the amounts of increment given in June 1947 to each of these workmen. These charts have been prepared from the annexures to the Companies' affidavit made in support of their application for stay of the implementation of the award. Only a remark column has been added where explanations have been given in respect of a very small number of workmen of the two companies, to some of which we will hereafter refer. It appears that from the circular letter No. 13/1947 of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, dated the 1st of March 1947, to heads of firms who were members of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce that the Bengal Chamber of Commerce had been recommending to its member firms by circular letters schemes of dearness allowance and scales of pay from the 2nd August 1946. The recommendations as contained in the circular letter of that date was revised in February 1947 and its circular letter of the 1st of March 1947 was the final recommendations in the matter. We are concerned in this appeal not with dearness allowance as recommended but with the clerical grades and grade scales set out in that letter. They are headed as follows:—

"Model terms for service for subordinate and clerical staff in mercantile offices in Calcutta."

The first clause recommends the minimum basic wages of outdoor clerks and indoor clerks. The second clause is important. We give the relevant extracts below:—

(2) Clerical Grades and Grades Scales.

(a) Outdoor clerks—Rs. 55—4—124 per month.

(b) Indoor Clerks:

Grade D—Rs. 60—2—90 per month.

Grade C—Rs. 60—4*—124 per month.

Grade B—Rs. 100—7*—170 per month.

Grade A—Rs. 150—10—250 per month.

Against the annual increment of Rs. 4 in Grade C and Rs. 7 in Grade B, there are * marks which are explained in Note No. 1 as follows:—

"* represents annual rates of increment inserted merely as exemplifying a flexible range of increments varying, according to the employer's assessment of individual merit (See Note iii) from Rs. 2 to Rs. 6 in the case of Grade C clerks and Rs. 5 to Rs. 9 for Grade B clerks."

An examination of the charts supplied to us by the Union shows that in almost all cases where indoor clerks had been placed in Grade B, the increment in June 1947 by the two companies varied from Rs. 5 to Rs. 9, that is to say, that although the normal increment recommended was Rs. 7, they did not go below the figure Rs. 5 and/or exceeded the figure Rs. 9 as recommended in Note 1 and that in the case of clerks who had been placed by the Company in Grade C normal increments of Rs. 4 were given as recommended by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce in most cases and in no cases, the increments did fall below Rs. 2 or exceed Rs. 6, that is to say, the increments were given in accordance with Note No. 1 of the scheme recommended by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce. There are few cases where increments were not in accordance with the said note for which explanations have been given in the remark column of the charts filed by the Union. For instance, G. C. Sur, an employee of the B. N. Elias & Co. and who had been shown against item No. 74 of the chart was given an increment of Rs. 9 according to the chart filed by the Company as annexure to its affidavit in support of the application for stay. He was shown, in that chart in Grade C, that is to say, in 1952 when this affidavit was filed he was in Grade C. But he was given an increment of Rs. 9 in 1947. That increment he would not be entitled to unless he was then, that is to say, in 1947, placed in Grade B as recommended by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce. His pay in 1947 was Rs. 100 so that he could, according to the Bengal Chamber of Commerce scales be either in Grade B or Grade C. The explanation given in the remark column of the Union's chart that he was in Grade B in 1947 but since then, had been demoted to Grade C, appears to be satisfactory. We need not refer to other items pointed out by Mr. Sen from this chart. The position, therefore, is that a fair reading of the charts in the light of Note No. 1 to the Bengal Chamber of Commerce Scheme would show that both B. N. Elias & Co. and the Indian National Tobacco Co., Ltd., in giving the increments in June 1947 were closely following the Bengal Chamber of Commerce Scheme. Mr. Sen had ultimately to admit the fact that the Bengal Chamber of Commerce Scheme was being followed in giving the increments in June 1947, but he submitted that the Companies never adopted it but only followed it as a model. This distinction, in our opinion, is a very thin one. The matter is put beyond doubt so far as B. N. Elias & Co., is concerned by the observations of the Mercantile Tribunal in the award published on the 12th May 1949. Those observations are as follows:—

"Messrs. B. N. Elias & Co., Ltd."

"For the clerical staff, the Company follows the Bengal Chamber of Commerce Scheme as it existed before the recent award (meaning thereby the award of the Mercantile Tribunal made on the 21st January 1949 and published in "Calcutta Gazette" on the 17th February following.)"

It is, therefore, clear that for the clerical staff B. N. Elias & Co., had adopted the incremental scales recommended by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce to its member firms by the aforesaid circular letter of the 1st of March 1947 and had in fact given effect to it as is apparent from the chart to which we have made reference. Although the National Tobacco Company was not a member of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce but an associate Company of B. N. Elias & Co., Ltd., the facts establish that in the matter of wages, B. N. Elias & Company, who are managing agents of National Tobacco Co., Ltd., adopted what they did in respect of its own clerical staff. Though the Mercantile Award was not ex proprio Vigore.

applicable to the Tobacco Company it was adopted for the purposes of giving increments to the employees of that Company for the years 1949 and 1951. The chart prepared by the Union in respect of the employees of the National Tobacco Company, as we have already pointed out, follows closely the scheme as embodied in the circular letter of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce addressed to its member firms. We, therefore, hold in disagreement with the Tribunal that the Bengal Chamber of Commerce Scheme, as contained in that circular letter, had been accepted by both B. N. Elias & Co., and the National Tobacco Co., Ltd., in the matter of giving increments for the year 1947. What appeared to the Tribunal to be arbitrary increments when it made the observation that the increments veried from man to man has been satisfactorily explained by Note No. 1 of that circular letter which the Tribunal apparently had overlooked. The slight variation within the limits recommended by that note is, in our opinion, attributable to the difference in the merits of the different employees in those two Grades B and C as appraised by the Companies in that year. It is worthy of note that those charts also contain the names of outdoor clerks and in their cases increments in 1947 had invariably been at Rs. 4 and this is explained by the fact that with regard to them, the Bengal Chamber of Commerce did not leave any option to its member firms. With regard to A Grade clerks also to which Note No. 1 does not apply, the charts show that they had been given increments at the uniform rate of Rs. 10 as recommended by the Chamber. There is only one case in which special increment of more than Rs. 10 was given but the increments in that case were given twice in the year. That may be for the fact that that employee was considered by the Company to be specially efficient. We accordingly hold that both the Companies had adopted the Bengal Chamber of Commerce recommendations in the matter of increments and grade in the year 1947 and in giving the increments with regard to clerks placed in Grades B and C at different rates. It had proceeded by appraising their merit in accordance with Note No. 1. It is very unlikely that the merit of a clerk would change within a short space of a year and, therefore, we think, though on different reasons, that the Tribunal has made the right award on the point in granting increments to the clerks of the two companies at the same rate at which increments had been given to them by the Companies in June 1947. The Companies' appeals, viz., Appeal No. Cal-363/52 and Cal-371/52, are dismissed with costs which we assess at Rs. 50 in each of those appeals.

We have already expressed our opinion to the effect that the workmen of both the Companies are not entitled to claim further increments for the year 1949. The only question, therefore, that remains to be considered in Appeal No. Cal-368/52 is the question of fitting in. The reference was made on 14th of September 1951. Since then and while the proceedings were pending before the Tribunal, Ordinance 9 of 1951 was promulgated on the 5th December 1951 which enacted that "where in the order referring an industrial dispute to Tribunal under this section (section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act) or in a subsequent order, the appropriate Government has specified the points of dispute for adjudication, the Tribunal shall confine its adjudication to those points." This Ordinance was replaced by Amending Act 18 of 1952 which came into force on the 14th March 1952 while the adjudication proceedings were still pending before the Tribunal. That Act was in the same terms as the Ordinance, except that the phrase "matters incidental thereto" was added at the end of that clause. In the Punjab National Bank vs. Their workmen, this Tribunal had to consider the retroactive operation of the said Ordinance. It held that the Ordinance would apply even when it came into force after the award of the Tribunal and when appeal against it was pending in this Tribunal (1952 I L.A.C. 73 at p. 78). On the principle so laid down the provisions of the Amending Act 18 of 1952 which was in supersession of the Ordinance would be applicable in these cases. Therefore, a Tribunal to which reference had been made would be entitled to adjudicate not only upon the points referred to for adjudication but also upon matters incidental thereto. We have already upheld the claim for increments for the year 1948. These increments were not taken into consideration when the workmen were fitted in the new wage structure laid down by the Mercantile Tribunal which came into force from June 1949. The increments now allowed by us would raise the wages payable to them from June 1948 and the wages thus incresed would have to be paid in the year 1949 also from that time which, but for the award of the Mercantile Tribunal the increments due from June 1949 according to the scheme of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce would have had to be added. But in that year, i.e., 1949, the Mercantile Tribunal Award settled the wage structure and the new incremental scales came into force with effect from June 1949. That award in that respect was binding on B. N. Elias & Co., and has been adopted by the National Tobacco Co., Ltd. There would be an anomaly and the workmen would in effect lose the benefit of the increment for 1948 given by us from June of the very next year and for all times to come unless the total basic wages payable from June 1948 be synchronised with the incremental scales of the Mercantile Tribunal Award. The question of fitting in or to be more accurate, revision of the fitting as already effected by the Companies, must, there, be regarded as a matter incidental to the points referred to for adjudication, for that would be necessary for giving relief to the employees in the special circumstances of this case in the shape of money payments. We, therefore, allow this appeal. The Company must revise the fitting in the employees in the wage structure settled by the Mercantile Tribunal in their proper places after taking into consideration the increment for 1948 allowed by us and pay the arrears that may be due to the workmen concerned in this reference from the month of June 1948 till May 1949, according to the increments allowed by us and also the arrears that would be payable to them up to now by reason of the revised fitting in which we have directed, as soon as our award becomes enforceable in law. Each of the respondents, namely, of the B. N. Elias & Co., and of the National Tobacco Co., Ltd., must pay cost to the appellants which we assess at Rs. 100 to be divided equally between the Unions.

DECISION.

By Government order No. 211Dis./D-11-L/172/52, dated the 6th August 1952, the West Bengal Government referred to the Fifth Industrial Tribunal, West Bengal, the following amongst the other issues, namely:—

(1) Pay and scales of pay;

(2) Dearness allowance;

(3) Annual bonus;

(4) Gratuity; and

(5) Provident Fund.

By its award, dated the 7th April 1953, which was published in the Calcutta Gazette on the 21st May following, the Tribunal fixed the pay and scales of pay thus—

Clerks: I—Rs. 110—7—180—E.B.—10—260.

Clerks: II -Rs. 70—4—110—E.B.—5—160.

Drivers—Rs. 70—4—110.

Peons and bearers—Rs. 35—1—50.

Coolies—35—1—50.

No incremental scales were given to night watchmen and sweepers but their basic wages were fixed at Rs. 25.

The Tribunal directed that the stenographers and typists were to get just like Grade I and Grade II clerks, respectively.

With regard to those who were fixed on incremental scales, the direction was that when the existing wage of an employee is a "little less" than the corresponding point in the proposed scale, he should be pushed up to the said point by giving the required increment. No further direction was given relating to fitting-ins.

2. The Company had been giving dearness allowance to the clerical staff other than the sub-staff, at the rate of 50 per cent. of their basic wages subject to the minimum of Rs. 75. In the case of other categories of workmen, however, it used to pay 50 per cent. of their basic wages without any minimum being fixed as in the case of the clerical staff. The award left the scheme of dearness allowance untouched except that it awarded a fixed amount of Rs. 30 per month to the night watchmen and sweepers and fixed Rs. 35 as the minimum dearness allowance for the sub-staff. Regarding the bonus, the Company had paid 7 days' basic wages voluntarily for the year 1951. The award of the Tribunal did not direct a further payment of bonus. The claim of the workmen for gratuity was also refused and the Provident Fund contribution on each side was raised from 5 per cent. to 6¼ per cent. In the course of the hearing before the Tribunal a point was also raised as to whether salesmen were workmen. Against the said award, the Company has preferred an appeal, namely, Cal.-65/53, in which it challenges the award on Issue No. 1 (Pay and pay scales) and on No. 2 (Dearness allowance) and it contends that the salesmen in this Company are not to be regarded as workmen and should have been excluded from the benefit of the award. The workmen have also preferred an appeal being numbered as Cal.-72/53 and it is directed against all the issues which we have set out above. With regard to the award on Issues Nos. 1 and 2, they claim higher rates of pay and dearness allowance. They also contest the Company's case in regard to salesmen in this concern. At the time of the hearing, however, the scope of both sides' appeals were very much restricted. The Company abandoned its appeal against the decision on Issue No. 2, namely, Dearness allowance, but urged its appeal in Issue No. 1 (Pay and scales of pay) in a restricted form. It did not contend that the starting pay of the watchmen, sweepers, clerks, peons, drivers, coolies, as given in the award should be disturbed but only contended that incremental scales should not have been ordered by the Tribunal. The workmen abandoned their appeal as directed against the award in respect of gratuity and Provident Fund. Thus at the time of the hearing, they urged their appeal against the decision on Issues Nos. 1 and 2, Pay and scales of pay and Dearness allowance, respectively, and Issue No. 5 (Annual bonus).

3. We will deal with the appeal of the Company in the first instance and at this stage will dispose of the question as to whether the salesmen in this Company are to be regarded as workmen before entering into the question as to whether incremental scales as given by the Tribunal should be maintained or not.

4. For the purposes of deciding whether the salesmen are to be regarded as workmen or not, the only evidence on the point is what has been given by Shri Sunil Bhusan Bose, examined on behalf of the workmen and Mr. Edwards, the Company's Manager, in Calcutta who has been examined on behalf of the Company. Shri S. B. Bose's evidence is that there are 18 to 20 salesmen in the concern. They work on fixed pay and not on commission. They sell the goods, give cash memos., prepare accounts and write reports. Mr. Edward's evidence is as follows:—"There are 18 salesmen and 2 supervisors. It was the function of these salesmen to sell the products of our manufacturers in the wholesale and retail markets both in Calcutta and in the up-countries. The salesmen require personality and do not do only routine jobs. They have to prepare their daily sale reports and issue cash memos.". Such being the nature of the evidence, it is difficult to hold that salesmen in this concern are not workmen.

5. For the purposes of seeing whether incremental scales should be given or not the ability of the employer to pay is a relevant factor. As the burden on the employer would increase year after year, if incremental scales are awarded, it is also necessary to consider whether it would have the ability to pay in future years, that is to say, the financial stability of the concern is also a relevant factor. In this case, while dealing with the question of dearness allowance the Tribunal found from the balance-sheets, which are required to be kept confidential, that the Company had been suffering from losses for the last 4 or 5 years, and neither in the past nor in the immediate future it had or has any bright financial position or prospect.

6. Mr. Acharjee, who appears on behalf of the workmen, frankly conceded that if these findings be correct, incremental scales cannot be awarded in this case. As both sides had appealed on Issue No. 1 it is necessary in the first instance to see whether these findings are correct or not. If they are, the appeal of the Company against the award on this issue, as has been urged before us at the hearing, will have to be allowed and in that case, the appeal of the workmen would automatically fail.

7. The Company has a Central Office in Bombay. It has branches at Delhi, Calcutta and Madras. Its sister concerns, under similar name and style operates in London and in New York. The business of the Company as conducted in India is as follows:—The Company hold sole-agencies from the manufacturers abroad for selling their commodities in India. It receives at its Central Office at Bombay and its Branch Offices at Madras, Calcutta and Delhi, orders from customers to indent goods from those manufacturers of which it is the sole selling agents in India. On all the goods so indented, it charges commission, and that is the only source of its income in respect of those goods. It also indents goods from those manufacturers on its own behalf and sells those goods through its own agents, and for the purposes of costing, it includes a higher percentage of commission than what it charges on goods ordered through it by outside customers. There are another class of customers, who send their orders to those manufacturers direct and commission has also to be paid by those customers. It is admitted that these commissions are paid at the London or the New York offices, as the case may be, of the sister companies carrying on business under the name of Muller & Phipps Co., Ltd., or similar names, but there is a controversy whether the full or any part of the commission so paid in the London or New York offices is transmitted or entered into the books of the Company in India. The evidence, however, is that in respect of those indents which are directly ordered by the customers from India to those manufacturers, the Company's staff at Calcutta has to do some work in respect of the goods ordered by customers direct to the manufacturers when arriving at the Port of Calcutta. Mr. Acharya challenges the correctness of the audited balance-sheet and states that the income of the Company under the head of "Commission received" has been under-stated, and if all the amounts received on that account by the Company for its Indian operations are to be taken into account, the losses appearing in the balance-sheet would be wiped off and a comfortable balance would be left as net profits. As the balance-sheets of the Company have been produced under the seal of secrecy, we cannot discuss the arguments in detail; for, in that case detailed reference to the figures in the balance-sheet would be necessary. For, the purposes of substantiating his argument, Mr. Acharjee places reliance upon Ext. 3, a statement prepared by Shri Sunil Bhusan Bose in collaboration with another workman named Shri S. P. Rakshit, but in view of Mr. Edward's evidence on the relevant point, the absence of Shri S. P. Rakshit, from the box is not material. The first column of Ext. 3 give the figures of the total goods ordered on behalf of the customers in the years 1947 to 1951 through the Calcutta Office as well as by the Company for sale through its own agencies. The figures in the first column were supplied to the workmen by Mr. Edward at the time when the proceedings were pending before the Tribunal. There is evidence that all the goods so ordered may not have been shipped to the port of Calcutta by the manufacturers. That is the common evidence. But the Chart (Ext. 3) proceeds on the basis that all the goods order through the Calcutta Branch had been shipped to the Port of Calcutta by the manufacturers. The second and the following two columns are the important column. It shows separately the value of the goods under separate heads in rupees which had been ordered on behalf of the customers through the Calcutta Office and the value of the goods in rupees which had been ordered by the Company for sale by its own agencies. Those figures are not disputed by Mr. Kennedy and may be accepted as correct. But proceeding on the basis that 10 per cent. commission was charged by the Company for goods ordered by the customers and 15 per cent. commission for goods ordered for sale by the Company itself, the total commission thus earned have been calculated in that chart and are shown in the next two columns. Thus, for 1950, the total commission that according to the workmen ought to have been earned and so credited in the Profit and Loss Account for Calcutta Branch would be Rs. 4·41 lakhs. It is on the basis of this, that the credit side of the Profit and Loss Account shown under that heading of "Commission received" has been challenged. We cannot, as we have already said, disclose the amount actually shown in Profit and Loss Account of that year or any other years in the audited balance-sheet of the Company.

Shri Sunil Bose was cross-examined on this point and he admitted that if the assumption as made in Ext. 3, namely, that 10 per cent. or 15 per cent. commission, as the case may be, was wrong, then Ext. 3 would not represent the correct picture. There is, however, reliable documentary evidence consisting of particular goods arriving by particular shipments, that commission was not charged by the Company in all cases at the rate of 10 per cent. on goods which had been ordered by the customers, through the Calcutta Office, and that discounts were also allowed. There is also documentary evidence showing that in the costing of goods ordered by the Company with the manufacturers to be sold by its own agencies, sums of money under the item commissions were taken into account and accordingly the commissions so charged are reflected in the price of the goods sold through its own agencies and those prices are shown separately from the item of commissions on the credit side of the Profit and Loss Accounts. Thus, Ext. 3, loses all its value and on the basis thereof we cannot say that the audited balance-sheets do not represent the correct state of affairs in this respect. Shri Bose's evidence further was that commissions charged on direct orders of customers on the manufacturers, were paid in the London and New York offices and were wholly retained there. Such commissions were not transmitted to India to be entered into the accounts of the Company. Obviously, Shri Bose was not competent to speak on the subject. Mr. Edward's evidence on the other hand is that though the entire commissions on those direct orders received in London and American offices are not transmitted to India, a part thereof are transferred to India and are entered in the accounts of the Central Office at Bombay. The balance-sheets and the Profit and Loss Account which have been produced before us are on the basis of consolidated statements in respect of all the offices of the Company operating in India. The criticism on this ground is also not maintainable. The findings arrived at by the Tribunal on these audited balance-sheets, therefore, have not been displaced. At one time, a suggestion was made by Mr. Acharjee, that if we came to the conclusion that the materials on the record are not sufficient for displacing the effect of the audited balance-sheets, we should remand the case for further investigation. On giving our best thoughts to the matter, we do not think that such a course should be adopted. A remand would not further advance the case of the workmen any more than it is at present. It would only result in some mere fishing enquiries. We accordingly allow the appeal of the Company as urged before us, that is to say, that with regard to Issue No. 1 the starting pay of the different categories of the workmen as indicated in that part of the award of the Tribunal is maintained but the incremental scales are deleted. The rule of fitting in should be that if any of those categories are getting less than the basic pay thus fixed, then he is to be pulled up to the corresponding figure of his grade. We make it perfectly clear that this award of ours, however, would not act to the prejudice of the workmen who are being paid at higher rates.

As the Company has been running at a loss continuously the claim for bonus cannot be founded on the general formula, as laid down in the Bombay Mill Owners' case. There was no profit in the year 1950 or 1951 and a claim for annual bonus, that is to say, any claim for bonus for future years cannot in any event be acceded to on that basis. The workmen, however, placed their claim on the basis that the payment of annual bonus is a condition of service founded on implied agreement. The documentary evidence in regard to bonus which had been produced relates to the period beginning from 1945. Since then bonus had along been paid through the Company had incurred losses in all those years in which bonus was paid except in one year where the profits earned were almost negligible. This would, to a certain extent, exclude the element of bounty. Thus, although the evidence is not very strong an agreement to pay bonus irrespective of profits can be implied. It is not a case where bonus was paid only in years of profit or the rate of payment varied as the profits had varied. This is a feature which distinguishes this case from the facts of Mahalakshmi Cotton Mills' case (1952, L.A.C., p. 370). Taking all these circumstances into consideration, we award that the Company should pay bonus for the financial year 1951 at the rate of 1/12th of the basic salary earned by the workmen in that year, namely, 1951. This was the rate at which bonus was paid in the immediately preceding year 1950. It also appears that since 1945, bonus was never paid at lesser rates. In fact, in one year, namely, in the year 1948, it was more. The Company had voluntarily allowed for the year 1951 1/48th of the basic wages earned in the year (1/4th of a month's basic salary) as bonus. This amount, if actually paid, is to be adjusted towards their claim as awarded by us.

The result is that workmen's appeal is allowed only in regard to their claim for bonus, as indicated above. The appeal of the Company is also allowed in part to the extent indicated above. As the workmen have succeeded in part, we direct the Company to pay them costs which we assess at Rs. 100.

DECISION.

1. On the 22nd March 1952, the Shalimar Rope Works, Ltd. (hereafter called the Company), dismissed ten workmen on a charge framed against them on the 26th February 1952. The charge-sheets delivered to them were on the similar terms. One of them as framed against Kantha Prodhan runs as follows:—

> "It has been reported that on the night of Saturday, the 23rd February 1952, you had called our Jamadar from his quarters to inside the temple in the cooly lines and had instigated Sagan, etc.,.....and others to kill the said Jamadar Nanbahadur Roy to death. You with the abovementioned workers have beaten Nanbahadur Roy and the durwan Manbahadur with lathis and brickbats causing severe injuries and bleeding wounds necessitating his removal to hospital. You are charged with above offence which is to be treated as misconduct under rules (9)(b), (7) and (8) of the Standing Orders. You are hereby required to explain in writing, etc....."

2. At the instance of the workmen the West Bengal Government by its order No. 866Dis./D/11L-114/52, dated the 21st April 1952, referred the dispute relating to their dismissal for adjudication by Shri Santosh Kumar Neogy, a member of the West Bengal Industrial Tribunal (hereinafter called the Tribunal). The Tribunal found that there was an affray near the temple in the cooly lines at about 7 p.m. of the 23rd February between the durwans and some workmen after office hours in which both sides suffered injuries, that the workmen who were led by Kantha were the aggressors and that five out of the ten workmen, who had been dismissed, namely, Kantha Prodhan, Sagar Naik, Panu Prodhan, Chema Jana and Jagor Nath Jana had assaulted Nanbahadur Roy and Manabahadur but the evidence was not sufficient to connect the other five workmen with the assault. It held that the dismissal of the aforesaid five workmen was justified but not the dismissal of the other five. It directed the Company to reinstate those last mentioned five workmen and gave them compensation for the period of their non-employment. A point was raised before the Tribunal that the Company had not the right to dismiss them under the Standing Orders even if they had assaulted the said durwans, as the alleged assault was after office hours but this contention was over-ruled by the Tribunal holding that the case came within the last part of rule (8) of the Standing Orders, namely, their act was subversive of discipline. Against the award, the workmen have filed appeal No. 390 of 1952 and contend that the Tribunal should have held that the Company was not justified in dismissing the five workmen Kantha Prodhan and four others even if they had assaulted the two durwans. The Company has also preferred an appeal, Cal-1/1953, which is directed against the award made in favour of the other five workmen. The appeals would be competent only if substantial questions of law are involved. Mr. Banerjee appearing for the Company, concedes that there is no question of law involved in the Company's appeal and we are of the same opinion. That appeal is accordingly dismissed with costs which we assess at Rs. 85. He also concedes that there are substantial questions of law involved in the other appeal and that is also our opinion. We will thereafter indicate what those questions of law are.

3. The common case of the parties is that Kantha Prodhan, who is the Assistant Secretary of the Union, complained to the Works Manager in the morning of the 23rd February that as a result of gambling by durwan Narahabahadur in the cooly lines, one workman, Radhu, had stolen the monies of his room-mates, lost the same in gambling and had run away being helped by Narahabahadur in his escape by the latter opening the main gate. That was a Saturday when the factory closed about noon. The Works Manager promised an enquiry but he did not hold the enquiry then and there. He had to go to Calcutta after office hours and returned at about 7 p.m. but after the incident had happened. It is also the common case of the parties that the incident which forms the foundation of the charges happened outside office hours and long after work had ceased in the factory and at the place alleged in the charge-sheet. The versions of the parties, however, differ as to the cause and circumstances leading to the assault. The finding of the Tribunal is that the workers led by Kantha were in the aggressive and responsible for originating the trouble. We have considered the evidence and are of the same opinion. Moreover, this finding has not been challenged before us by Mr. Acharya, appearing for the workmen. We shall accordingly proceed on that footing in considering the questions that arise in this appeal.

4. The charges on which these workmen were dismissed were that they were guilty of misconduct, as defined in rules (9)(b), (7) and (8) of the Standing Orders. They respectively run thus:—

(7) Breach of law applicable to the establishment.

(8) Riotous or disorderly behaviour during working hours of the establishment or any act subversive of discipline.

Before the Tribunal as also before us the dismissals have been sought to be justified not on the basis of rule (7) or the first part of rule (8), but on the 2nd part of that rule, viz., that the act of the workmen was subversive of discipline. We may at once say that as a matter of construction of that rule any act which is alleged to be subversive of discipline need not be committed during the "working hours of the establishment". The two parts of that rule are quite independent of each other and the phrase "during working hours of the establishment", occurring in the 1st part of the rule does not qualify or govern the second part. But this construction of the rule does not dispose of the case. We will, therefore, proceed to consider the other contentions raised before us by the workmen and the Company.

5. Mr. Acharya contends that a workman guilty of a wrongful act cannot be dismissed on the ground that his act is subversive of discipline even though his act or conduct amounts to a crime unless it is (a) committed within the factory while the factory is working, that is to say, when other workmen are engaged in work, though he himself may be off duty and (b) the act complained of is connected with the affairs of the factory. Thus, he urges that if a workman assaults another workman following an altercation relating to their private affairs, it could not, as a matter of law, be regarded as an act subversive of discipline, even if the assault is within the factory premises and during working hours. He accordingly contends that applying the above principles the Tribunal should have held that the dismissal was not justified. We are not prepared to accept Mr. Acharya's contention that in order that an act may be subversive of discipline both the elements mentioned above must necessarily have to be present in every case. It is not possible to set out an exhaustive list of such acts nor is it necessary for us to do so as we are only required to decide whether the act complained of as found by the Tribunal was one which is subversive of discipline within the meaning of the 2nd part of rules (9)(b), (8) of the Standing Orders. An employer is certainly concerned with the peace and good order in the factory and any act on the part of the workmen having the tendency or effect to disturb the peace and good order should be regarded as subversive of discipline. Thus a fight in the factory between two workmen during the working hours over their private affairs will be an act subversive of discipline even if the Standing Orders did not specifically mention such an act as misconduct as has been done in the first part of rule (8) of the present Standing Orders. Equally it would be regarded as an act of misconduct for which an employer may punish him by dismissal or otherwise, even if it occurs outside the working hours and outside the factory or place of business of the employer, if the act (1) is inconsistent with the fulfilment of the express or implied conditions of service or (2) is directly linked with the general relationship of employer and employee or (3) has a direct connection with the contentment or comfort of the men at work or (4) has a material bearing on the smooth and efficient working of the concern. These are the principles which are deducible from the decisions of the Privy Council in the case of Clouston & Co., Ltd., versus Corry (1906, A.C. 122 at p. 129), of the Court of Appeal in Tomlinson versus The London, Midland & Scottish Railway Co. (1944, I All England Report 537), from a decision of the Calcutta Bench of this Tribunal in the Serampore Mills case (unreported) and one of the Bombay Bench of this Tribunal in Air India, Ltd. versus Lobo (1952, L.A.C. 337). The first proposition was laid down as a general principle regulating the relationship of Master and Servant by Lord James of Hereford in the first mentioned case where an employee who was in charge of an outstation agency of the Company had been dismissed for drunkenness and disorderly behaviour in a public place for which he had been convicted and fined by a Magistrate, and the second and third propositions were laid down by Greene, M.R. in Tomlinson's case where the dismissal of a workman for committing an assault on another workman at a meeting of a canteen committee held outside office hours and for defiant and disrespectful behaviour towards an officer who was attending that meeting on duty. The fourth proposition which we have laid down above is the underlying principle of the decisions of the Calcutta and Bombay Benches of this Tribunal referred to above. In the Calcutta case, a workman who while on duty had been taken to task by his Foreman which he took to heart. After his duty and the duty of the Foreman had ended, he came out of the factory and waited for the foreman to come out. As soon as Foreman came out of the factory on the public street, he pounced upon the Foreman and assaulted him severely. This Tribunal held that his dismissal for that act was justified. It was intimately connected with the affairs of the factory and the work of supervision over workmen in the factory would have been seriously prejudiced if an assault on a supervisor for the performance of his duty remained unpunished on the simple ground that the assault was committed outside office hours and outside the factory on another worker who was also then not on duty. The Air India's case which was a case for permission to dismiss a workman for assaulting his superior officer outside the office and after the office hours was a case of the same type.

6. Mr. Banerjee concedes that an employer may not be entitled to dismiss or otherwise punish a workman for a wrongful act committed by him outside the factory or place of business and outside office hours if the act is a personal act and has no connection with the affairs of the concern. But it is contended that he has the right to dismiss or otherwise punish a workman if the wrongful act is of sufficient gravity, though that act is not mentioned as misconduct in the standing orders meriting punishment; that is to say, standing orders are not to be considered to be exhaustive on the subject, when the act is connected with the affairs of the factory. In this case he further urges that the act of beating a durwan on duty is an act subversive of discipline, even if the workman concerned was off duty, and even if the assault was committed beyond the specified working hours of the durwan, as a durwan must be deemed to be on duty all the time and that in any event, the act of the workmen concerned was subversive of discipline as they took the law into their own hands after a complaint had been made to the Works Manager and after he had promised an enquiry; for it had the effect of undermining the authority of the Works Manager and affected the maintenance of peace and good order in the factory.

7. In this case the facts as we have already noticed are as follows:—

The complaint made by Kantha Prodhan in the morning of the 23rd February to the Works Manager was that gambling was being carried in the factory by the durwans and that a workman of the name of Radhu who was one of the gamblers had broken the boxes of his room-mates and had stolen their money and with the connivance of the durwan Nanbahadur, had escaped. The Works Manager promised an enquiry but before he could do so, Kantha Prodhan called the durwan Narabahadur in the evening near the temple and the latter was attacked by the workmen concerned according to a pre-arranged plan. Considering the sequence of events it appears to be quite clear that Kantha Prodhan and his four associates took the law into their own hands to avenge the supposed misdeeds of the durwan, although the Works Manager had promised an enquiry. That act, in our opinion, amounted to an affront to the authority of the Works Manager, and had the effect of undermining the smooth and efficient working of the factory. This aspect of the case was dealt with by Cassel J. who tried the original suit in Tomlinson's case. One of the facts there was, as we have already stated, that the workman Tomlinson who was dismissed had grossly insulted an Officer who on duty was attending the meeting of the Canteen Committee. He said that that act of Tomlinson belittled the authority of that Superior Officer and so it would have been difficult for him to maintain supervision over his large staff, if such conduct on the part of Tomlinson had not been noticed and severely dealt with by the employer. On appeal Greene, M.R. and the other Law Lords affirmed that judgement. We are of opinion that the act of those five workmen in this case was subversive of discipline on the same grounds set out by Cassel J. In the view taken by us; it is not necessary to express any opinion on the other contentions of Mr. Banerjee. Accordingly, we hold that the dismissal of these five workmen was justified and so this part of the award is maintained.

8. A point was raised by Mr. Acharya relating to the relief which the Tribunal gave to the remaining five workmen whose dismissal was held to be unjustified. The Tribunal ordered their reinstatement and gave them compensation for the period of their non-employment but only at the rate of their basic wages. No specific reasons have been given by the Tribunal as to why they were deprived of their dearness allowance for the period of their non-employment. We accordingly allow this part of the appeal and direct the Company to pay those five workmen whose dismissal was held to be unjustified compensation at the rate of their basic wages plus dearness allowance which they were entitled to draw immediately before their dismissal. Subject to this modification, the award of the Tribunal is affirmed. As the appeal has succeeded only to a small extent, we direct the Company to pay Rs. 100 as costs to the appellants.

Copy of the Order No. 2, dated 29th October 1953.

During the pendency of adjudication proceedings in State Tribunal, the Company, who is the appellant before us, terminated the services of one of its workmen of the name of Mahendra Das, Ticket No. 541, who is the respondent in this appeal, on the ground that he had absented himself for more than seven days without the prior permission of the Company. He was discharged from the 22nd November 1952. He made a complaint under section 33A challenging the validity of his discharge.

There are two rules in the Standing Orders pertinent to the question of which rule No. 27 of the Standing Orders runs as follows:—

> "Any worker who is absent from work for seven days continuously or more, without prior permission, will be automatically discharged from the Company's service."

The other rule in the Standing Orders is rule 16(n) which deals with "Misdemeanours". That rule defines that for certain misdemeanours, the workmen could be fined, or warned but for other misdemeanours which are called "Major Misdemeanours" a workman could be dismissed. Sub-rule (n) of that part deals with:—

> "Wilful, recurring or prolonged absence without leave."

Before the Tribunal, a contention was raised on behalf of the workman, that rules 27 and 16(n) are inconsistent and the case came within the rule 16(n). That contention was accepted by the Tribunal which held that previous permission under section 33 was necessary and if no such permission was obtained, the complaint under section 33A was maintainable. The Company's contention was that no permission under section 33 was necessary inasmuch as it proceeded on rule 27 but this contention overruled.

The Tribunal by its order, dated the 13th March 1953, held that the discharged of the workman was not justified and it ordered the reinstatement of the workman with compensation in certain dates from the 24th November 1952, the date on which he was discharged, till he was reinstated in accordance with the order. The Company has preferred this appeal and it attacks three conclusions of the Tribunal which we have noticed above; in particular it contests the finding of the Tribunal that rules 27 and 16(n) of the Standing Orders are in conflict with each other and that the case with rule 16(n) would have required serious consideration, but we are relieved from considering that question inasmuch as the parties have arrived at a settlement before us, the terms of which are as follows:—

(1) That the workman concerned, namely, Mahendra Das, would be taken back in service from the 1st November following;

(2) That his services would be treated as continuous and that the period from the 22nd November 1952 till the 31st October 1953 be taken as leave without pay;

(3) That the Company would pay the workman in lump a sum of Rs. 150 as compensation to be payable within a week of his joining the Company; and

(4) That for the purposes of greater caution, both the parties agree that the terms of compromise as set forth above, will not affect either the benefits under the Provident Fund Scheme or his gratuity as under rules of the Company.

Both parties to bear their respective costs.

DECISION.

The two workmen who are respondents to this appeal, Lal Mohan Paul and Bimala Kanta Guha, were discharged from service by notices with effect from the 1st July 1951. On a dispute being raised by the workmen the West Bengal Government referred the following issue for adjudication by its Order No. 589/Dis./D/131-14/52, dated the 13th March, 1952, namely:—

Whether the retrenchment of Lal Mohan Paul and Bimala Kanta Guha, two of the workers, is justified. What compensation the said two workers are entitled to?

By its award, dated the 23rd October 1952, which was published in the local gazette on the 20th November following, the Tribunal held that the Company had established a case for retrenchment, that it had acted bona fide and that in selecting them for discharge, it had followed the standing orders. The Tribunal then considered the question of retrenchment relief. It directed the Company to pay four months' and three months' basic wages to them, respectively, as compensation. In addition, it directed the Company to add to their provident fund account "provident fund bonus" at the rate of one month's basic wages per year up to the year 1947. The Company has appealed. In dealing with the question as to whether the retrenchment of two workers was justified the Tribunal found that both of them had reached 55 years of age at the time of their discharge, that that was the age of retirement in the Company and, moreover, that by reason of physical disabilities they were then incapable of discharging their duties efficiently. Relying on these findings relating to their age and efficiency, the Company contends that no compensation ought to have been awarded as the case is to be treated as of superannuation and discharge for inefficiency. It further attacks that part of the award which has directed addition of "provident fund bonus" to their provident fund account. The first question is, therefore, whether the cases are of retrenchment or of superannuation or of discharge for inefficiency.

2. The notices of discharge simply stated that their services were being terminated with effect from the 1st July 1951, and that they would be paid 15 days' salary in lieu of notice. The reasons for their discharge are not mentioned. On their discharge, conciliation proceedings were held at the Labour Commissioner's Office. Those having failed this reference was made for adjudication on the issue as stated above, which issue was framed by the Government. It speaks of retrenchment.

3. On receipt of the reference, the Tribunal asked the parties to file their written statements which they did. Paragraph 7 of the Company's written statement is important. Therein, the Company rested its defence on retrenchment and sought to justify it. It stated that retrenchment of the staff was necessary "in view of its financial deterioration and dwindling business" and that the selection of these two employees for retrenchment in preference to others was justified because (a) both of them had passed the retiring age, and (b) they had become inefficient. It is for considering the question as to whether those two workers had been rightly selected for retrenchment, that the Tribunal recorded its finding that both of them had passed the age of 55, the superannuation age, and had besides became inefficient by reason of their ill-health. One had developed cataract in one eye and the other had frequent fits of asthma attended with fever. We, therefore, hold that the Company's case was that of retrenchment and overrule its first contention. Retrenchment relief must have to be given, though the retrenchment was justified. In awarding compensation at four months' basic salary to Lal Mohan Paul and three months' to Bimala Kanta Guha, the Tribunal has applied its mind to those factors which are relevant and which have been indicated by this Tribunal in the Presidency Jute Mills' case (1952 L.A.C. 62 at 69-70). Both of them had put in 30 years' service and according to the ordinary rule they would have been entitled to 15 days' wages for each year of service. But the Tribunal took into consideration, and rightly, the cause of retrenchment and the limited ability of the Company to pay. This part of the award is, therefore, confirmed.

4. The Tribunal had further directed the addition to their provident fund account what it calls "Provident Fund Bonus" at the rate of one month's basic wages for each year of service up to 1947. The question of what their dues would be in the provident fund was not referred for adjudication. The Tribunal has not and could not direct payment of the moneys due to them from the provident fund. Whatever may be due to them has to be paid on their discharge under the Provident Fund Rules. The Tribunal could enter into the question relating to "Provident Fund Bonus" —whether the claim was legally maintainable and if so, at what rate, only if the question was "Incidental" to the points referred to for adjudication. That is the provision in sub-section 4 of section 10, which was introduced into the parent Act by the Amending Act XVIII of 1952. A point is incidental to another point when the former necessarily depends upon the other (see Wharton's Law Dictionary). The points referred to here for adjudication are:—

(1) Validity of retrenchment; and

(2) Relief to workmen on the basis of the case of retrenchment.

This means such compensation as are ordinarily given in cases of retrenchment. If the first question was answered in favour of the Company, the question of compensation would still arise, and in that case, the measure of compensation would depend upon the length of service, causes of retrenchment and ability of the employer to pay. The question as to whether any amount should be added to provident fund account of the workmen, would not necessarily depend upon the question of compensation—the liability to pay it or its amount. If the first point be answered against the Company, the relief would be either reinstatement with compensation for the period of non-employment to be measured at the rate of the emoluments last drawn or payable just before discharge or only compensation which would be really the damages for wrongful discharge. In this case also the question of "Provident Fund Bonus" would not necessarily depend on the form of relief which the workmen would be entitled to. We accordingly set aside this part of the award.

The result is that the appeal is allowed in part with costs to the appellant which we assess at Rs. 50.

Lalji Raja & Sons, Bankura, hereinafter referred to as Company, and their workmen represented by Babu Basanta Kumar Chakraborty, Secretary, Bankura District Oil Mills Workers' Union, Bankura, held at the residence of Shri Mohanlal Kumarji on 20th May 1953:—

Regarding the case of Aditya Shit and 17 others, now pending before the Fourth Industrial Tribunal, West Bengal (Shri S. C. Mukherjee).

That in defiance of the agreement as laid down in paragraphs (2) and (9) of the petition of compromise filed before the Fourth Industrial Tribunal at Bankura on 13th February 1953, the question of laid off by rotation cannot withstand as the workers experience much difficulties in the said agreement and they are not at all agreeable to the same. So also the Company experience much difficulties in writing out notices very frequently in that respect. It is, therefore, settled that the Company will allocate all the workers in their respective duties. The Company will have the liberty to retrench the surplus hands, but the Company must pay one month's pay to the said retrenched hands. The workers who were found laid off at the time of submission of compromise petition on 13th February 1953, and those who were being laid off subsequently are not entitled to any pay for the idle days as per provision laid down in the Company's Standing Order.

That as regards pay of other workers mentioned in the compromise petition, dated 13th February 1953, for the idle days, the provisions laid down in the Company's Standing Order will be binding, and as such no one will be entitled to any pay.

That the Company will reconsider the cases of the 12 workers, who have been discharged on the ground of so called illegal strike as per notice, dated 29th April 1953, of the Company. In case they found actually guilty, the Notice, dated 29th April 1953, of the Company will stand, but the Company must pay one month's pay to each of them.

That Quirm will approach the Company with a petition for service stating the reasons of his remaining absent from duty and the Company will take him in work immediately on receipt of the said petition.

That out of 12 workmen mentioned in paragraph 8 of the compromise petition, Shyamal and Kashi Uria were actually employed in the Company's Mills. The Company has agreed to consider their cases favourably on receipt of their application for service in the Company's Mill. Other persons are not employees of the Company as their names do not find place in the muster Roll of the Company which has been thoroughly verified. Accordingly question of their reinstatement in the Mill does not arise.

The Company had good dealing with their workers all along. Yet both parties have been urged and agreed to maintain peace in the interest of the Industry.

That both parties have agreed to settle matters of dispute between the workers and the employers if any in future by forming a Committee with the equal number of representatives of both parties.

DECISION.

By Government order No. 4598Lab., dated 23rd July 1951, the West Bengal Government referred five issues for adjudication by the Fifth Industrial Tribunal, West Bengal. The said Tribunal made its award on the 4th January 1952 which was published in the local Gazette on the 7th February, following. The workmen has filed this appeal and at the time of the hearing, they confined their appeal in regard to the award on Issue No. 1 only. That issue runs as follows:—

"Was the dismissal of the following employees justified:—

(1) Narayan Chandra Das,
(2) Kedar Singh,
(3) Shamapada Mondal,
(4) Bhola Nath Das,
(5) Lakshman Dey,
(6) Bijoy Chandra Singh,
(7) Ajit Chandra Das,
(8) Nil Kanta Nandi,
(9) Surya Kanta Nandi,
(10) Mohanlal Das,
(11) Manik Lal Samanto and
(12) Kedar Nath Sen."

Of these workmen, Manik Lal Samanto, was dismissed on the 18th May 1951 and the services of the remaining 11 workmen were terminated on the next day. The appeal would be competent only if a substantial question of law arises.

2. The following facts appear on the record. Manik Lal Samanto had damaged a machine. He was fined for his alleged negligence. Thereafter the Company introduced a register for showing what particular workman was engaged to work on a particular machine on a particular day. That register had to be signed by them. This practice was introduced from the 16th May 1951. Manik Lal Samanto signed the register on the 16th and 17th but after he had been fined for the alleged negligence, he refused to sign the register. He flouted the orders of the Management in this respect and on the 18th May, left the factory in open defiance of the Management rules. He was dismissed and the remaining 11 workmen also left the factory in sympathy with Manik Lal Samanto. The Tribunal found that the conduct of Manik Lal amounted to misconduct for it amounted to indiscipline. That being a finding on fact, no question of law arises in his case. We accordingly dismiss this appeal so far as he is concerned.

At the time when Manik Lal Samanto was dismissed, the remaining 11 workmen were also dismissed on the ground that they in sympathy with Manik Lal had acted in open defiance of the Management rules. The Assistant Labour Commissioner, however, came to the factory and requested the Management to take back the said 11 workmen The Management agreed to her request and issued a notice that these workmen would be taken back if they turned up at 9 a.m. on the 19th May 1951. Their past conduct for which they had been dismissed on the previous day was accordingly condoned by the Management; but in spite of that, the Tribunal proceeded to consider their conduct on the 18th May and has largely based its award in respect of these 11 workmen on its finding on the alleged incident of that date. This, in our opinion, is wrong. The Tribunal has thus erred in law in considering the case of these 11 workmen on the basis of the alleged open defiance of the Management rules on the 18th May.

3. On the question as to whether those eleven workmen had presented themselves at the factory gate at 9 a.m on the 19th May 1951, the version of the Company and of the workmen differ. The Company's case is that they did not come there at all on that date but first presented themselves at the factory gate on the 21st of May 1951, whereas the version of the workmen is that they did present themselves in terms of the notice but were refused admittance. In a short sentence the Tribunal has accepted the Management's version on the point. The reasons given by the Tribunal in arriving at the said finding do not appear to be convincing. It is established in the evidence that at about 10-15 a.m. on the 19th May 1951, the Manager saw the Assistant Labour Commissioner and informed her that those 11 workmen had not turned up in terms of the notice. Shortly after that, a notice was issued on these 11 workmen, the material part of which is that as they had not turned up at 9 a.m., the management took their default to amount to voluntary resignation on their part. Their services were thus terminated from the 19th. On the evidence we are not satisfied that they had failed to turn up on the 19th May in pursuance of the notice. Be that as it may, we do not think that their failure to attend on the 19th May, can be taken to be "Voluntary resignation" on their part. The notice terminating their services proceeds on a fiction which we cannot countenance. We accordingly hold that the termination of their services to be unjustified.

4. This leaves us to the question of relief. Shri S. K. Dhar, appearing for the appellants, does not press for their reinstatement, but states that the workmen would be satisfied if adequate compensation is given for their wrongful discharge. The concern is a very small one and its annual income does not exceed Rs. 5,000. Taking into consideration the financial condition of the Company and other circumstances appearing in this case, we assess the compensation at three months emoluments to each one of those 11 workmen which they were getting immediately before their discharge. The Company undertakes to pay the said compensation due to each of the said eleven workmen in two equal instalments, one on the 6th October 1953 and the other on the 15th November 1953 on the said workmen calling at the office of the Company on those dates, and we direct accordingly.

5. The result is that the appeal is allowed. The Management must pay Rs. 50 to the appellants as costs of this appeal.

DECISION.

1. By order No. 172Dis./10L-21/51, dated the 19th October 1951, as amended by order No. 218Dis./10L-21/51, dated the 5th February 1952, the Government of West Bengal referred six issues for adjudication by Shri A. Das Gupta (hereafter called the Tribunal).

They were as follows:—

(1) Allowances for involuntary unemployment on account of the stoppage of supply of gas;

(2) Method of communicating the rates of wages to the piece raters;

(3) Working hours of drivers;

(4) Uniform for workers engaged in dirty work;

(5) Loan from Provident Fund Account; and

(6) Leave and holidays.

Shri A. Das Gupta made his award on the 26th of July 1952, which was published in the Calcutta Gazette on the 21st August following. Both the Company and the workmen have preferred appeals. The Company's appeal is directed against the award on issue No. 1 and the workmen against issues Nos. 1, 3, 5 and 6. We will deal with both those appeals together.

2. The Company had to partially close the various departments of the Factory from the 14th June to 20th July 1951, due to stoppage of gas supply owing to a strike in the Oriental Gas Company. The first issue relates to a claim for allowances for involuntary unemployment on account of this stoppage of work during the period from the 14th June to 20th July 1951. This claim, in substance, is for a part of the wages and, therefore, comes under section 7, sub-section (1)(b)(i) of the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950. The Company resisted the claim on the basis of its Standing Orders which ran as follows:—

> "The Company may at any time or times, in the event of fire, catastrophe, breakdown of machinery or stoppage of the power supply, shortage of essential raw materials, epidemic, civil commotion, or other cause whatsoever beyond the control of the Company, stop any machine or machines, or department or departments, fully or partially for any period or periods, without notice or compensation in lieu of notice the workers involved being treated as suspended during such period or periods".

The Tribunal, however, held that there was no evidence, that those Standing Orders were certified after the award of the First Major Engineering Tribunal, which was made on the 4th of June 1948 and published shortly thereafter, and which was binding on this Company and its workmen as they were parties thereto. It held that in this state of the evidence, the Company could not take its stand on the said Standing Orders which must be taken to have been superseded by that award and so the question had to be considered in the light of the said award. Before that Major Tribunal, the question of compensation for involuntary unemployment was mooted, the employers contending that no such compensation was admissible. That Major Tribunal overruled that contention and held that social justice required that some compensation should be given during the period of involuntary unemployment. It referred to a circular issued by the Government of India on the subject and took it as the guide, modified it slightly as to the rate of compensation and held that the measure of compensation should be at the uniform rate of half of the total emoluments. Proceeding on that basis the award was on the following terms:—

> "We direct that compensation for a period of involuntary unemployment should be payable at the rate of half the basic pay and half the dearness allowance for 30 days in each half year from January to June and July to December".

The Tribunal apparently held that this award was still binding and so proceeded to consider what should be considered as the "basic pay" in this concern. For that purpose he referred to Ext. P, which is a verbatim translation of a booklet in English issued by the Company to all its workmen. One item dealt with in that booklet relates to "wage policy". The substance is that all unskilled labour (those only are concerned in this appeal) are paid wages at a certain rate which is called the "Hiring rate". This rate increases according to the length of service. The increments are described as "pay for service". These two items the Company terms as "basic wages". Then there is a clause to the following effect:—

> "In addition to the basic wages, for daily rated workers, N.C.C. [National Carbon Co. (India), Ltd.,] pays job premiums which vary from as. 6 to Re. 1 per day according to the type of work that is being done. As this "job premium" is extra money for the specific job which you are doing, please remember that you are only entitled to it, if you do your work earnestly and well".

The Company contended that according to its wage structure what is termed as the "job premium" is not a part of the basic wages but the contention of the workmen was otherwise. The Tribunal held that what was called the "job premium" was to be considered as part of the basic wages within the meaning of the award of the First Major Engineering Tribunal. This question would have been material if the operative portion of the award of the First Engineering Tribunal which we have quoted above was still binding on the parties. The force of that award, however, terminated on the expiry of one year from its publication by reason of the provisions of section 19(3) of the Industrial Disputes Act, as it stood then, that is to say, by the middle of 1949. It can, therefore, be used as a guide for determining the amount of compensation and for that purpose the ratio dicidendi of that award is of greater importance than its direction which is that the rate of compensation, for the period of unvoluntary unemployment, should be half of the total emoluments. It is conceded before us by the Company that the "job permium" is a part of the total emoluments. Accordingly, it is not necessary to decide the question as to whether the "job premium" is to be regarded as a part of the basic wages, according to the wage structure as prevalent in this Company. We, therefore, hold that the rate of compensation should be half of the "total emoluments" that is to say, half of the total sum made up of the "hiring rate", "pay for service" and "job premium" plus half of the dearness allowance payable to the workmen who had been laid off for the aforesaid period that is to say, from the 14th June to 20th July 1951, as the period falls within the two different half years, as provided from in the First Major Engineering Tribunal and the total period does not exceed 60 days. The appeal of the Company on this issue is dismissed, only the finding of the Tribunal that "job premium" is a part of "basic wages" being set aside.

3. The appeal of the workmen is that compensation at the full rate of their emoluments, should have been given by the Tribunal to the workmen who were (i) given work for some time in the day and then laid off and (ii) to those who were not given work at all on the day but were kept waiting for a long time and then were told that there was no work for them for the day and sent off. With regard to the first class of workmen, the Management accepted the contention of the workmen and stated before the Tribunal that if they had in fact been paid full wages and full dearness allowance for the hours they worked and also full wages and full dearness allowance for the hours they could not be provided with work on a particular day. This statement was not controverted by the workmen before the Tribunal and there is nothing on the record to show that this was not the fact. With regard to the 2nd class of workmen who answered the muster rolls, but were not given any work, the Company resists the claim of the workmen. There is no evidence on the record to show what particular workmen, were asked to wait and for what length of time before they were told that there was no work for them for the day. In this state of the record, the claim for the 2nd class of workmen cannot be acceded to. We cannot award compensation on a hypothetical basis.

4. The appeal of the workmen on issue No. 3—working hours of drivers—is not competent, for there is no question of law involved and the matter does not come within any of the items specified under Section 7, sub-section (1)(b) of the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act. Apart from this, there are no merits in the claim. The Tribunal, has pointed out that the drivers are paid dearness allowance at a rate not less than Rs. 64 per month while the maximum dearness allowance for workmen in the Company is only Rs. 45. Moreover, having regard to the nature of the duties of the drivers in this concern it is neither possible nor desirable to fix their hours.

5. Regarding loan from the Provident Fund, the position is this. There are at present no rules, allowing loan from the Provident Fund and the workmen want such a rule to be introduced. It is difficult to accede to their demand seeing that the Trustees of the Provident Fund are not before us. On the merits also, the workmen should not succeed. There is a Co-operative Credit Society in this concern and loan can be obtained by a workman by his becoming a member of that Society. Besides, there is a saving scheme. The workmen contribute as. 2-3 per rupee of their wages to the Savings Fund and the Company makes an equal contribution. In October of every year, the amounts standing to the credit of a workman in this Fund are paid to him. To a certain extent, therefore, the unexpected and extraordinary expenditure, as for instance, of marriages, etc., can be met by workmen from those sources. We accordingly dismiss the workmen's appeal on this point.

6. Issue No. 6.—By the First Major Engineering Tribunal's award the workmen were given 8 festival holidays, and 10 days' statutory leave under the Factories Act of 1934 as amended in 1945 which was in force at the time when that award was made. But as under section 49(b) of that Factories Act, a workman could take his leave due under that Act for a continuous period, there was the likelihood of either one or two Sundays falling within the period of his leave.

That Tribunal, therefore, directed an additional leave called casual leave for 5 or 6 days on full pay accordingly as one or two Sundays fell within the leave taken under the Factories Act. In substance, the casual leave on full pay, was, therefore, 4 days in the year. Thus, under that award 22 days was allowed for leave and holidays and that award mentions that number. Then came the second Major Engineering Tribunal's award which was published on the 21st September 1950. To that award, this Company and its workmen were not parties. It provided 10 days for festival holidays, leave as due under the Factories Act of 1948, which may come up to 14 or 15 days, if the workmen worked for 280 or 300 days in the year, 5 or 6 days as Casual Leave as provided for in the First Major Engineering Award. The total would come up to 29 or 30 days in the year. Besides, 15 days' sick leave on half pay was provided for. The workmen claimed leave and holidays as provided for in the 2nd Major Engineering Tribunal's award. That award is, as we have already said, not binding on this Company; but still we feel that as the Company is an Engineering concern, the award of the 2nd Engineering Tribunal should not be totally ignored. A perusal of that award however shows that that Tribunal proceeded on the footing that leave due under the Factories Act, 1948, could only be taken for a continuous period as under Factories Act of 1934 but that is a mistake for under Factories Act of 1948, leave taken need not be continuous but can be taken in instalments not exceeding three in number, and moreover, the first proviso to sub-section (1) of section 79 of the Factories Act, 1948, allowed a workman to include within the period of his leave Sundays falling within the leave period. That is to say, the period of his leave with pay, as provided for, in sub-section (1) of section 79, even if taken in one instalment may be more by 1, 2 or 3 days, according as one, two or three Sundays fall within that period. The Tribunal has increased the festival holidays from 8 to 10, has given sick leave for 15 days with half pay as provided for in the award of the Second Major Engineering Tribunal and by removing the condition attached to the taking of leave for the 4 days out of the leave due under section 79 of the Factories Act have, in effect, given all the leave due under the Factories Act in accordance with its provisions and ten festival holidays besides sick leave. Thus, a workman may earn 24 or 25 days as leave and holidays in a year besides the Sundays and sick leave. This we consider to be adequate. We have considered the merits though we doubt if the appeal is competent on this point there being no substantial question of law involved. We accordingly dismiss the workmen's appeal on this point also.

The result is that both these appeals are dismissed. The parties to bear their respective costs.

DECISION.

1. By order No. 2048/Dis./D/11-L-105/52, dated the 31st July 1952, the West Bengal Government referred the following issue for adjudication by the Fifth Industrial Tribunal, West Bengal, namely:—

> "Discharge of (a) Rahat Hossain, (b) Noor Mahammad, (c) Golam Mohiuddin, (d) Wali Mahammad, (e) Gour Chandra Das and (f) Mahammad Shahansah, and the relief they are entitled to".

The Tribunal made its award on the 4th August 1953 which was published in the local Gazette on the 27th August following. The Tribunal held that the dismissal of Rahat Hossain, Golam Mohiuddin and Wali Mahammad was justified but the dismissal of Noor Mahammad, Gour Chandra Das was not. It, however, did not order their reinstatement but gave them compensation equivalent to 15 days' present basic wages for each year of service they had given to the Company. The Company has not preferred any appeal against that part of the award, but the workmen have and their claim is for their reinstatement. Shahansah was discharged previously for absenting himself without leave. The Company, however, at a later date took him back in service. His claim is for compensation during the period of his non-employment during the intervening period. The Tribunal refused to give him any relief on the finding that his discharge was justified and so he must be taken to be re-employed afresh when he was taken back again. The workmen's appeal is also directed against this part of the award as also against the other part where the Tribunal held the dismissal of Rahat Hossain, Golam Mohiuddin and Wali Mahammad was justified. We will first take up the cases of these three persons.

2. On the 21st August 1951 the Company charged in writing Rahat Hossain, Golam Mohiuddin, Noor Mohammad and Gour Chandra Das for breach of Standing Orders 16(h) and 16(j). 16(b) in the charge-sheet is an obvious slip for 16(h)—inciting other workmen to strike work in contravention of Labour Laws in force in Bengal and for committing acts subversive of discipline. Wali Mohammad was not given a written charge-sheet but according to the Company he was later on charged orally under Standing Orders 16(b) and 16(j). The Tribunal found that in dismissing them the Company had not followed rules of natural justice and on the evidence led before it held that the Company had failed to substantiate the charges. The Company does not challenge before us those findings realising that it could not do so, as it has not filed an appeal. Janab Shafatulla Khan who appeared in support of the workmen's appeal, however, urges that the Tribunal should have gone further and given more reasons in support of its said finding, and he attempted to elaborate his point. We do not see any substance in this line of his argument. The finding of the Tribunal being in favour of the workmen, so the matter ends there.

3. On the 23rd August 1951 Rahat Hossain and Golam Mohiuddin were also charged under Standing Order No. 16(j)—committing acts subversive of discipline and under 16(o)—distributing or exhibiting inside the factory premises hand bills, pamphlets or posters without the previous sanction of the Factory Manager. Wali Muhammad was not given a written charge-sheet, but was charged orally for the same acts of misconduct. The Tribunal held these charges to be made out. The fact on which the said workmen were charged under Standing Order No. 16 (o) was that about 8 p.m., on the night of the 21st August 1951 about three hours after the factory had been closed these workmen affixed some posters which are exhibits in the case on the outside face of the wall of the Company's ration shop. The evidence of the Company is that, that wall was a continuation of the boundary wall. It was stated to us by the Company's representative and that statement was accepted by Mr. Khan that the ration shop abuts on a public street, namely, the Grant Lane, that there is no doorway from the public street leading to the ration shop but there is a window on the wall abutting on the public street. There was divergence between them as to size of the window, and the purpose for which it was used but that difference is not material. Just by the side of the ration shop there is a gate leading to the factory. The Company's evidence which has been believed by the Tribunal, and which we also believe, is that an un-uniformed durwan was kept posted just inside that gate to keep watch on the outside. He saw those workmen and another who could not be identified affixing the posters at the outer face of the wall of the ration shop abutting on the public street. He went out of the gate to catch them but they ran away. He then took down the posters and handed them over to the head durwan. The evidence is also that the place where the posters were affixed was ill-lighted. On these facts the Tribunal held their dismissal to be justified. We are to see if on these facts the case comes within rule 16 (o) of the Standing Order. A serious question of interpretation of that rule of the Standing Order arises and so a substantial question of law is involved. The appeal of the workmen directed against this part of the award is, therefore, competent.

4. Rule 16(o) deals with among others exhibition of posters inside the factory premises. The word inside ordinarily means "within the sides of—in the interior" (Webster's Dictionary). It signifies in reference to the factory premises the space within, and enclosed by, the boundary walls of those premises. In this case neither the context nor other provisions of the Standing Orders have the effect of enlarging its ordinary meaning. On the contrary there are some provisions in the Standing Orders which indicate that word "inside" has been used in rule 16(o) in its ordinary sense. Thus, 16(h) defines as misconduct "collection of any money within the factory premises". Collection of money just outside the factory gate or on the public street just out of, and adjacent to, the boundary wall would clearly fall outside that provision. Similarly, with regard to drunkenness or riotous behaviour on the factory premises. Moreover, where a place outside the factory premises and within its immediate precincts was contemplated the phrase used is in and around the factory premises. Thus "spitting in and around the factory premises" is made misconduct under 16(r). This is our opinion on the construction of 16(o). So the Tribunal has misconstrued that rule in the Standing Order. The posters having been admittedly fixed on the outside face of the boundary wall, the face abutting on the public street, the workmen charged under that rule of the Standing Order could not be guilty of misconduct as defined in that rule and the dismissal on the force of the said rule was illegal. We are not, however, impressed by Mr. Khan's argument that there was no "exhibition" on the ground that the posters were taken down immediately or soon after they had been pasted on the outer wall or that the place where they were affixed was at the time ill-lighted. In our opinion the act of exhibition was complete as soon as they were affixed on the wall, for opportunity was given to a person to see and read them, if he was so minded, the moment they were so affixed. At the same time we cannot agree with the Tribunal that the workmen affixing these posters were guilty of acts "subversive of discipline" within the meaning of rule 16(j) of the Standing Orders. We have read the posters and cannot say that they were as objectionable as the Tribunal comes to think they were. The workmen were exhorted to lend this help in the formation of another Union for the protection of their rights and for that purpose they were asked to attend a meeting at a place far off from the Company's premises.

5. The next question is what relief should be given to Rahat Hossain, Wali Muhammad and to the heirs of Golam Mohiuddin who died during the pendency of the adjudication proceedings in the Tribunal.

6. We will first take up the question relating to Golam Mohiuddin. We have already said he died during the pendency of the proceedings before the Tribunal. As his dismissal was upheld by the Tribunal, it had not to consider the question whether by his death the industrial dispute raised by the workmen of which he was the centre had come to an end. This question was considered by a Bench of this Tribunal in the case of Mazdoor Union Sugar Factory, Biswan vs. Sakaria Biswan Sugar Factory (1952 L.A.C. 294). We agree with that decision. The cause of a workman can be taken by other workmen but the latter can continue to represent the former only as long as he is alive. The dispute centering round him ceases to be an industrial dispute after his death. So the heirs of Golam Mohiuddin drop out of the picture.

7. Wali Mohammad had one and half years' service to his credit when he was dismissed. There was no adverse remarks against him in his service card. Other workmen also had no complaint to make against him. There is thus no evidence that his presence in the factory would cause unrest amongst the majority of other workmen. There is, therefore, no reason why the normal relief of reinstatement should be refused to him. We accordingly order the Company to reinstate him the continuity of service as soon as our decision becomes enforceable. We award him compensation for the period of his non-employment, at six months' emoluments at the rate he was entitled to draw immediately before his dismissal.

8. Regarding the nature of the relief of Rahat Hossain the position is, however, different. He took an active part in the formation of the new unit. That by itself would not be wrong. We may go further and say that would be a legitimate activity on his part. But we have further to see that the nature of his activities was and its reaction on the majority of other workmen. There was already a registered Trade Union called the Lipton Company Sharamik Union and the majority of the workmen were satisfied with that Union and had faith in its office bearers. When an agitation was started by some workmen with a view to start a rival Union, a large body of workmen more than 300 in number including some workmen who were the workmen's nominees in the Works Committee submitted a signed petition, dated the 21st August 1951, to the Management, which has been marked as Exhibits A and A-1. The material portion of that petition runs as follows: "That Rahat Hossain, Abdul Gaffer, Enayutulla, Noor Mohammad, Golam Mohiuddin, Gour Chandra Das and Sailendra Nath Adak are asking us to join their Union and pay subscription and causing disturbance in our daily work. They are also threatening us with assault if we do not join them and strike work whenever they order." On the first page of the petition which has been marked as exhibit A where the said passage occurs, there are twelve signatories. The remaining signatures which are about 300 in number appear in separate sheets of papers which are attached to the first sheet. These sheets have been marked as that the signatories knew to what matter the petition related. Mr. Khan contends that persons who had signed on the first sheet may be taken to have known the contents of the petition but those whose signatures appear in the attached sheets (Exhibit A-1) had no such knowledge, that their signatures had been obtained on separate sheets of papers for other purpose and were dishonestly attached by the Management to the first sheet (Exhibit A) where the body of the petition had been typed. We will, therefore, first deal with those contentions of his.

9. The oral evidence of O.P.W. 1, Panchugopal Dass, examined on behalf on the Company is that the petition was typed outside and was handed over to the Manager at about 8 a.m., on the 21st August 1951, just after the work of the day had started. Another witness of the Company Hanif Khan said that he had signed the petition at 10 a.m., but he does not mention the date on which he had signed. His signature appears in Exhibit A-1. There is no force in the argument of Mr. Khan that his evidence contradicts Panchugopal's for the latters evidence is that the signature had been obtained from the workmen of different departments during working hours. Reading the evidence of the two witnesses together the reasonable inference is that signatures from the workmen of different departments had been obtained on the different dates and on different sheets of paper and on dates previous to the 21st August 1951 and these papers were attached to the typed page, Exhibit A, as soon as it was typed.

10. The Union wanted to make out the case that the signature on the attached sheet, Exhibit A-1, had been obtained on another occasion and for a different purpose, namely, in connection with a complaint of the workmen against the conduct of the durwans. In this respect, they have miserably failed. They examined as their witness Sheik Amjad Ali, Vice-President of the Lipton Sramik Union. In his examination in chief the witness tried to make out 300 workmen had signed a petition in the beginning of 1951 in connection with a complaint made against the durwans. In cross-examination he said that he could not be sure as to whether the signatures of those 300 workmen had been taken in August 1951 or not. He admitted his signature on Exhibit A and said that at the time of signing it he knew its contents. The workmen brought out in their cross-examination of the Company's witness Panchugopal Dass, that the incident with the durwans, complained against by the workmen, happened a year or so after August 1951 and so the signature in sheets attached to the petition (Exhibit A) could not have been obtained in connection with the complaint against the durwans.

The petition, Exhibit A, mentions "Ryasat Hussain" as one of the workmen who had threatened the signatories. By consent of parties, the pay sheet for August 1951 was produced before us and we inspected them in the presence of Mr. Khan and Mr. Angel. There we found the names of Rahat Hussain and of one Shiek Reasat. There is none having the name of Ryasat Hussain. The oral evidence of the Company expressly mentions Rahat Hussain as one of the persons who held out threats to the other workmen if they did not join the new Union. In these circumstances, the name Reyasat Hossain occuring in Exhibit A A seems to us to be a slip for Rahat Hossain. The effect of the evidence furnished by Exhibit A and of the oral evidence is that the presence of Rahat Hussain in the factory would cause unrest among the majority of workmen and so would cause the disturbance of industrial peace in the factory. We, therefore, do not think it proper to order his reinstatement. We consider his case to be a fit case in which the ordinary rule relating to relief to be given to a workman whose service had been wrongfully terminated, should be departed from. We, therefore, give him only monetary compensation which we assess at the figure which would represent full one year's emoluments which he received or was entitled to in the last year of his service and immediately before his dismissal.

11. The Tribunal found that the charges under rules 16(h) and 16(j) of the Standing Orders against Noor Mohammed and Gour Chandra Das had been established. It refused them reinstatement and gave them monetary compensation only. The appellants contend before us for their reinstatement. The Tribunal in support of its view mentioned the following reasons:—

(1) That they had been suspended of having some hand in the 1949 strike;

(2) that the petition (Exhibit A) signed by more than 300 workmen cannot be brushed aside;

(3) that they were unpopular with the majority of workmen;

(4) that they had incurred the displeasure of the Company; and

(5) their reinstatement would cause unrest among the workmen.

We do not think grounds (1) and (4) are cogent ones. The Tribunal has not expressly found that strike to be either illegal or unjustified. A strike if not illegal is a legitimate weapon in the hands of the workmen to secure what they consider to be justly due to them and to make the relief of reinstatement dependent upon the pleasure or displeasure of the Company, would be to introduce a dangerous rule cutting at the very root of the fundamental doctrine followed by Industrial Tribunal that security of service of industrial workers must zealously be guarded. The last ground if established would, however, be a valid ground for refusing the normal relief of reinstatement and Exhibits A and A-1 establishes that ground as we have said when considering the relief to be given to Rahat Hossain. The award made by the Tribunal in respect of Noor Mohammed and Gour Chandra Das is accordingly affirmed.

12. The last point urged by the appellants relates to Sahanshah. He was discharged on the 4th September 1951, for being absent without leave for more than 10 consecutive days. Rule 16(c) of the Standing Orders allows the Company to act as it did. The Company, however, voluntarily re-employed him from a later date. The workmen claim compensation for him for the period of his non-employment from the 4th September 1951 to the date when he was taken back in service. The Tribunal has refused that claim. As no question of law is involved, the appeal in this respect is not competent. But apart from that we see no merits in the appeal. His discharge on the 4th September 1951 was perfectly justified and it was only an act of grace on the part of the Company when it re-employed him. The award in regard to him is accordingly confirmed.

The result is that the appeal is allowed in part as indicated above. The Company must pay costs to the appellants which we assess at Rs. 50.

DECISION.

On the 31st January 1951, a report was made to the Manager of this Company, that the workman concerned in this appeal namely, Somraj Thanthi, was an aggressor in a disturbance that took place near the living quarters provided for the workmen and after the working hours and in the course of that disturbance, he had thrown red pepper powder into the eyes of two other workmen, Trinath Kurmi and Thakur Prosad. A preliminary enquiry was made and as a result thereof, the Management charged him with misconduct under rule 14(c), clause (VIII) of the Standing Orders. A written charge-sheet was drawn up. The Management's case is that the charges were explained to him but when the charge-sheet was tendered to him, he refused to accept it, and did not offer any explanation as he was required to do. An enquiry was later on held and the Management was satisfied that this workman was guilty of the charge levelled against him. As adjudication proceedings before the Major Jute Tribunal were then pending between the Jute Mills of West Bengal and their workmen, in which this workman was also concerned, the Management did not dismiss him straightaway, but, by an order dated the 8th February 1951, suspended him, pending permission from that Major Jute Tribunal to dismiss him. It made an application under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, before that Major Jute Tribunal for such permission. The adjudication proceedings before that Tribunal, however, ended before the said application could be taken up. The award given by that Tribunal was published in the Calcutta Gazette Extraordinary, dated the 12th November 1951. Thereafter, that application under section 33 was struck off by that Tribunal apparently on the ground that it had become functus officio after a month of the publication of the said award. Thereafter by an order, dated the 22nd February 1952, the workman concerned was dismissed on the charge which the Management had previously enquired into, as aforesaid. This dismissal was after the termination of the proceedings before that Tribunal, namely, the Major Jute Tribunal. On these facts, no permission was necessary at the time when the workman concerned was actually dismissed. On the 31st October 1952, however, the West Bengal Government made a reference to the Fourth Industrial Tribunal, West Bengal, by Government Order No. 2813Dis./D/7L/57/52, dated the 21st October 1952. That Tribunal was presided over by Shri Subodh Chandra Mukherjee. The dispute referred to that Tribunal was—

"Whether the dismissal of Somaj Tanti is justified; to what relief, is he entitled?"

Shri Mukherjee made his award on the 21st February 1953, which was published in the Calcutta Gazette on the 12th March following. He held (1) that a charge sheet was drawn up against the workman on the 1st February 1951 and it was tendered to him on the following day but he refused to accept it; (2) that he did not submit his explanation as was required under the charge sheet; (3) that thereafter an enquiry was held by the Management which came to the conclusion that the charge against him had been established.

Both sides led evidence, oral and documentary, before Shri Mukherjee in support of their respective cases. Shri Mukherjee reviewed the evidence and gave preference to the evidence led on behalf of the Company. He found that, in fact, the workman concerned was the aggressor in the incident of the 31st January 1951, and that he had assaulted other workmen and had thrown red pepper powder in the eyes of Trinath Kurmi and Thakur Prosad. The Tribunal further recorded the finding that there was no ulterior motive behind the charge and the case of victimisation which was attempted to be made could not stand. It accordingly held that the Management was justified in dismissing him. On those findings no relief was given to the said workman.

Against this award the workman has preferred this appeal. It would only be competent if a substantial question of law is involved therein. Mrs. Krishna, who appeared before us on behalf of the workman, formulated the proposition of law as follows:—

(1) that the finding of the Tribunal which we have noted above are bad in law inasmuch as there is no evidence in support thereof.

With a view to establish the proposition she took us through the evidence in detail and made her comments. In support of each of the findings, there is, however, oral evidence, which consist of the evidence of Jamadar Chandrika Singh, a member of the Works Committee and a representative of the workmen in that Committee, of P.W. 2 Nag Narayan Pandey, and of P.W. 5, Mr. Tindell, the Manager of the Jute Mills. They speak to the part which the workman concerned took in the incident of the 31st January 1951, as also on the point as to whether the charge-sheet was explained to him and tendered to him. They also speak about the enquiry that was conducted by the Management after the charge-sheet had been drawn up and the same had been tendered to the workman and his explanation called for. The comments made by Mrs. Krishna really touch the question of credibility of the witnesses which we have noticed above but appreciation of evidence and the weight to be given to it, are questions of fact. We accordingly hold that there is no question of law involved in this appeal, much less a substantial one. The result is that the appeal is dismissed but without costs.

ORDER.

1. The Company owns a large number of sea-going vessels. It also charters others belonging to other owners and its main business is shipping.

It has a Cargo Department which is divided into two sections. One of those sections is engaged in what has been called as "Stevedoring work", which is the work of loading and unloading its own ships and ships chartered by it and berthed in the port of Calcutta. The 46 permanent workmen, in respect of whom this application has been made—41 gunners-in-charge and 35 gunners—directly supervise and direct the actual work of loading and unloading of ships by porters who are not employees of the Company but who are supplied by the Dock Labour Board, Kidderpore. These 46 workmen are all the employees of the Company who have to do the work in the stevedoring section. The workmen in the other section of the cargo department are employed in the work of documentation of manifests, etc. They consist of manifest clerks, tally clerks, shed clerks and other outdoor clerks. This application made by the Company is under section 22 of the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act for permission to terminate the services of those 46 workmen—that is to say, to terminate the services of all the gunners and all the gunners-in-charge. It has been made because an appeal in which those 46 workmen are concerned is pending in this Tribunal.

2. The grounds in support of this application, as stated therein, are as follows: The Company has been suffering heavy losses for some time past in the stevedoring section and so it was no longer remunerative to keep up that section, as fewer vessels of the Company are calling at the port of Calcutta due mainly to the reservation of coastal trade to Indian shipping concerns and the passenger and mail services to Burma and Malaya which the Company operated under a contract with Government has ceased. It is stated that for those trade reasons the Company had decided to close the stevedoring section, and to give the work of stevedoring of their vessels arriving at the Calcutta port to reputable Indian Firms of stevedors. As the permission asked for, namely, termination of the services of the gunners and gunners-in-charge, is based on the proposed "closure" of the stevedoring section of the Cargo Department of the Company the first question that arises is whether permission from this Tribunal is at all necessary. If that question is answered in the negative, the matter would end there, for in that case the Company can discharge those workmen taking the risk of facing an Industrial Dispute if referred to for adjudication under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, by the appropriate Government. If, however, this question is answered in the affirmative the further question to consider would be (a) whether a prima facie case for the discharge of those workmen have been made out, and (b) whether in seeking the permission the Company is actuated by ulterior motives.

3. A Bench of this Tribunal has held, following the decisions of the Madras High Court in Indian Metal & Metallurgical Corporation versus Industrial Tribunal, Madras (1952, L.L.J., 364) and Jaya Bharat Tile Works versus the State of Madras (1952, 2 L.L.J., 587) that it is the absolute right of the owner of a business or undertaking to close it, provided the act of the owner in closing his business or winding up his undertaking is bona fide (The Employees of Messrs. India Reconstruction Corporation versus Messrs. India Reconstruction Corporation, Ltd., 1953, L.A.C., 563 at page 571).

Both before and after those Madras decisions the question was considered as to whether permission to close a business or undertaking was necessary under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act in cases where proceedings for adjudication were pending in which the workmen to be affected by the closure were concerned. One State Tribunal has held that section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act is attracted in such a case (Fine Hosiery Mills Ltd. versus their workmen, 1952, 2 L.L.J., at 115). Another State Tribunal, however, has held, that no permission is necessary on the ground that a closure is to be regarded as permanent lock-out (Lakshmi Match, Ltd. versus Their workmen, 1952, 1 L.L.J., at 252). This matter came up before this Tribunal on two occasions. In Sudham Silk Mill versus Their employees (1952, 2 L.L.J., at 603) the Bombay Bench of this Tribunal held that the permission was necessary but the Calcutta Bench of this Tribunal reserved its opinion on the point (Misc. Case No. C-175 of 1951, Vijaya Kumar Oil Mills and Iron Foundry, Benaras versus Its workmen, decided on the 17th October 1951). If permission was required under section 33 in such a case the scope of the enquiry when an application is made by the employer is indicated in the abovementioned decision of the Bombay Bench of this Tribunal and by the State Tribunal in the Fine Hosiery Mills' case (supra). If it had been necessary to decide those questions in the case before us, namely, whether the permission is necessary in the case of closure of a business or undertaking and, if so, what would be the scope of enquiry, it would have been desirable to constitute a large Bench to examine the matter more carefully. In our opinion closure of a business or undertaking means the winding up of the entire business or undertaking at a particular local area at least. It does not mean abolition of a department or section, where his business or undertaking in that local area is to continue even after the abolition of that particular department or section. The termination of services of workmen employed in the department or section in such a case would in substance be a case of retrenchment, the ground being that they had become surplus by reason of the abolition of that department or section.

4. We have already stated that the Company does not propose to close its business or to wind up its undertaking here. It does not propose to close down even an independent unit—not even a department. It proposes only to wind up a section of its Cargo Department. The necessity of loading and unloading its ships arriving in the port of Calcutta is still to remain but it proposes to have work done through contractors, namely, reputable Indian Firms of Stevedors. This case is, therefore, not of the type dealt with in the two judgments of the Madras High Court (supra) and by the State Tribunals and the Bombay Bench of this Tribunal (supra) when considering the question as to whether permission under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act was necessary. The case before us as we have already said, in substance, is a case of retrenchment of workmen for trade reasons. It, therefore, comes within section 22(b) of the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950, which corresponds to section 33(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act, being a case of proposed discharge. We must, therefore, go into the merits of the case and see whether the Company has made out a prima facie case and whether in seeking permission it is acting bona fide and not with any ulterior motive. The further question which has to be considered where permission to retrench is sought for, namely, whether in selecting the personnel proposed to be retrenched the Company is following the normal rule of "last come first go" (as decided in Calcutta-99/53 Sudarson Banerjee versus McLeod & Co., Ltd., decided on the 25th September 1953) need not be considered in this case, as all the gunners-in-charge and all the gunners in the employ of the Company are proposed to be discharged.

5. For considering whether a prima facie case has been made out by the Company, the materials placed before us are contained in the application which is supported by the affidavit of Captain Cecil Ian Victor Maskell, affirmed on the 24th October 1953, the affidavit in opposition affirmed by Joytish Chandra Dhar on the 9th November following and the affidavit in reply thereto affirmed by Captain Cecil Ian Victor Maskell on the 11th November following. From those materials the following facts are fairly deducible:—.

(1) That the Company are ship-owners and they also charter sea-going vessels belonging to others;

(2) that the Cargo Department consists of two distinct sections. The workmen engaged in one section does what is called stevedoring work—the work of loading and unloading ships calling at the Calcutta Port. The workmen employed in the other section do the work of documentation of manifests, tallying, etc. The two sections are entirely separate in the sense that workmen of one section does not do the work of the other sections of the Cargo Department;

(3) that the duties of gunners and gunners-in-charge are to supervise directly and to direct the work of loading and unloading vessels, keep record of the labour force employed in loading and unloading and of the daily progress of work;

(4) that the stevedoring work carried on by the Company are in furtherance of its shipping business, which is its main business;

(5) that the Company's own stevedoring is confined at a time to 5 ships in port. If more ships are in port at the same time, which belong to or which are chartered by it, the stevedoring work for the additional vessel is given to contractor stevedors;

(6) that there is still the necessity of loading and unloading its ships, for which the Company intends to engage contractor stevedors and even now the Company has to engage contractor stevedors for loading and unloading its ships when their number at the port at a time exceeds five;

(7) that even in the year 1953, it engaged two new gunners (See Annexure A to its application).

The following further facts were admitted before us by the Company in answer to our querry, namely, that in the past, the Company had in its service porters who did the loading and unloading of its ships but recently after the establishment of the Dock Labour Board at Kidderpore, the porters are supplied by that Board and the Company as also any other firm or person who is engaged in stevedoring work is under a legal obligation to take the porters from that Board. No other porter is allowed inside the dock area, but the Dock Labour Board has no arrangement up to now for the supply of gunners or gunners-in-charge and every one, even a contractor stevedor who undertakes the work of loading and unloading ships in the port of Calcutta has to make his own arrangements for them. These being the facts, the only ground that remains on which permission to discharge the gunners and gunners-in-charge, can be asked for or given, would be the financial loss to the Company in running the stevedoring section of its Cargo Department to such an extent as would not make it worthwhile to maintain that section, it not being the case of the Company that the number of gunners and gunners-in-charge are in excess of its requirements. In fact such a case could not have been made out as it took in service two new gunners, R. Thomas and T. Collins in 1953, though on temporary basis and one of them (T. Collins) was taken in the service as late as the 6th August 1953, that is only two months and 18 days before this application was filed before us.

In paragraph 5 of its application the Company states its loss as follows:—

	Rs. a. p.
Half year ending—30th September 1949 ...	1,74,950-13-0
Half year ending—31st March 1950 ...	2,07,928-10-6
Half year ending—30th September 1950 ...	2,27,240- 9-9
Half year ending—31st March 1951 ...	1,78,299-13-5
Half year ending—30th September 1951 ...	1,02,572-14-7
Half year ending—31st March 1952 ...	1,55,703- 9-6
Half year ending—30th September 1952 ...	2,43,994-15-1
Half year ending—31st March 1953 ...	3,92,611- 5-6

The impression conveyed by its application is that those losses were of the stevedoring section of the Company only. After the opposite parties had in their affidavit in opposition challenged its case of loss the Company admitted in its affidavit in reply that those figures represented the total loss of its Cargo Department, that is to say, of both the sections of that department but remained silent in its affidavit in reply as to what were the losses in its stevedoring section only. In its said affidavit the only statement that was made was that the Company recovered from the vessels loading and unloading in the port, stevedoring charges according to the rates charged by members of the Master Stevedors Association and the suggestion is that after debiting the same its stevedoring section fall short of the expenses of maintaining it. On this state of the evidence we cannot hold that the Company has made out a prima facie case for the discharge of all its gunners and gunners-in-charge.

6. The workmen concerned also made an attempt to make out a case of want of bona fides on the part of the Company by saying in its affidavit in opposition that the Company selected the stevedoring section to lay its axe upon as the gunners-in-charge and gunners are members of the B.I.S.N. Cargo Employees' Union and preferred to keep the other section of the Cargo Department in-tact as the workmen employed there were not members of that Union. There is no tangible evidence to show that the Company disfavoured the activities of that Union, and if it did some thing could be said if these 46 workmen were the only members of that Union or represented the majority of its members. The materials placed before us are not such as would lead us to hold even tentatively that the Company is being actuated by improper motives in seeking the permission.

On our finding that the Company has failed to make out a prima facie, case, we dismiss this application with costs which we assess at Rs. 300.

The Company applied before us for permission to dismiss Sk. Saimuddin, T. No. 1185. The charge against him is that he attempted to take out of the factory an empty Duroglase Paint Enamel tin without the necessary gate pass and also concealed in his person 54′ 2″ cotton string. He was cought by the watchman on duty. On the 25th February 1953, a written charge-sheet was delivered to him. He accepted the charge-sheet and submitted his explanation. Thereupon, an enquiry was held and that the Company came to the conclusion that the misconduct charged against him had been proved. We have gone through his explanation and the evidence held before the enquiry and are of opinion that a prima facie case has been made out by the Company, and in seeking permission to dismiss him the Company is not actuated by any ulterior motive. As the dismissal would have prejudiced his claim to the Company's contribution in the provident fund money the Company has offered to pay him on the termination of his service his own provident fund contribution as well as a sum equivalent to Company's contribution to the provident fund and also other benefits which he would have been entitled if he would have retired from service voluntarily. We record this offer in our order.

True Copy of the Order No. 5, dated 4th December 1953.

This is another application by the Company for permission to dismiss a workman of the name of Ram Kissen, T. No. 1268. The charge against him is that on the 19th of February 1953, he attempted to pass out of the gate with a piece of new coir rope 81′ in length without any gate pass. He was at that time carrying 20 seers of salvage wood. The Company's case is that the coir rope was concealed in the bundle of salvage wood. Later on, the Company found that he had used the gate pass of another workman whose T. No. was 1329 for the purposes of taking the bundle of salvage wood. On the 25th of February 1953, a written charge-sheet was delivered to him calling for his explanation on both those matters. He received the charge-sheet and thereupon an enquiry was held. He admitted that the gate pass under which he attempted to remove the bundle of salvage wood from the factory belonged to another workman, T. No. 1329, but the latter had given that gate pass to him. That other workman was also examined and he denied that he had given the gate pass to him. With regard to the rope, his explanation was that it was used for tying the bundle of salvage wood. His explanations were not accepted and the Company proposed to dismiss him. On the evidence which was before the enquiring officer the view that the Management has taken was a possible view. We accordingly hold that a prima facie case has been made out and that the Company is not actuated by any ulterior motive. We accordingly grant the permission asked for. But in this case also the Company has made an offer that on the termination of his service, it will pay him his own provident fund contribution as also a sum equivalent to the Company's contribution therein and also give him such benefits to which he would have been entiled if he would have voluntarily retired from service. We record this offer. No costs.

DECISION.

An industrial dispute relating to the propriety of the dismissal of three persons, Shri Biren Bose, Nakuleswar Ganguly and Nalini Kumar Biswas were referred by the West Bengal Government by order No. 210Dis/111-241/51, dated the 3rd November 1951, for adjudication by the 5th Industrial Tribunal, West Bengal. Two of these workmen, namely, Biren Bose and Nakuleswar Ganguly were dismissed on charges of misconduct and the other workman was simply discharged although the Company charged him with misconduct. The Tribunal has found that charges were duly framed against these workmen; those charges were delivered to them, their explanations called for and after they were submitted and a proper enquiry was held as a result of which Management came to the conclusion that the charges levelled against them had been made out. The Tribunal also found that the Company was not actuated by motives of victimisation. It went further and examined the evidence on the record to find out whether those charges had in fact been established. In two cases, the findings of the Tribunal are positive. In the other case, namely, of Nalini Kumar Biswas, the Tribunal proceeded on the lines indicated by this Tribunal in the case of Buckingham & Carnatic Mills versus their workmen. It adverted to the charge, the explanation submitted to the Management by the employee concerned, the evidence led at the enquiry and came to the conclusion that the view that the Management had taken could be a possible view of the evidence it had before it at the time of the enquiry. Here also the Tribunal recorded a finding to the effect that there was no victimisation on account of his alleged trade union activities. These being the findings of fact, we are to see whether taking the findings as they are, any substantial question of law arises. Mr. Choudhury referred to certain evidence relating to Biren Bose. His arguments only lead to this that there could be the possibility of taking a view on that evidence different from the view taken by the Tribunal but appreciation of evidence raises a question of fact only. We hold that as no question of law, much less a substantial one, is involved, the appeal is incompetent. It is, therefore, dismissed but without costs.

He was appointed in November 1950, on a salary of Rs. 100 per month inclusive of dearness allowance. His salary was later on increased to Rs. 115 per month. (4) Damage for wrongful discharge without notice or reason ...	230

On the West Bengal Government being moved by him it referred the following two issues for adjudication by the Third Industrial Tribunal, West Bengal:—

"(1) Whether the dismissal of Shri Jyotirmoy Ghosh is justified?

(2) To what relief he is entitled?"

The Tribunal accepted the Company's case with regard to his discharge, which was that owing to the difference between the partners of the said partnership business, the firm was dissolved in November 1952 and as a result of this, out of the five employees, two, namely, Shri Jyotirmoy Ghosh and another, were verbally informed on 1st November 1952, that their services would be terminated soon and Shri Ghosh's services were actually terminated within 7 days as stated above. The remaining three were subsequently discharged in December 1952. Then the Tribunal took up Issue No. 2 for consideration. It held that he was entitled to his salary up to the 7th November 1952 and not for the whole month as demanded by him, and that there was an expressed condition of service that he was to be paid a fixed bonus every year at the rate of three months. It accordingly allowed him on that head what he had claimed before the Tribunal, namely, Rs. 345. In addition it gave him one month's salary by way of compensation over and above one month's salary in lieu of notice. The Company has preferred this appeal which is directed against the award on Issue No. 2. We were doubtful whether the appeal is competent. We, however, asked appellant's advocate to deal with the merits of the award on Issue No. 2, as they lay within a narrow compass.

Shri Jyotirmoy Ghosh, as we have said above, was appointed on the 16th November 1950. At that time, an appointment letter was given to him signed by the Manager of that concern which had been produced by him in the Tribunal. It states in unambiguous terms that he was to get "the fixed three months" bonus, as per the rules of the Company after the expiry of his probationary period and that in case his services were terminated, he will be entitled to one calendar month's notice. Thus, the Tribunal was right in awarding him Rs. 345 towards his claim for bonus for the year 1952 and one month's salary in lieu of notice. He was also clearly entitled to arrears of his pay up to the 7th November 1952, when he was actually dismissed. The only point that could reasonably be raised is whether the compensation as awarded by the Tribunal which is equivalent to one month's salary, could be given. The case is a case of termination of service on account of the closure of the business. Even in such cases, this Tribunal has held that compensation should be awarded on the same basis on which compensation is given to workmen in cases of retrenchment. The respondent was in the service of the Company for over two years. In these circumstances, the award of compensation amounting to one month's salary does not seem to be unreasonable. The result is that the appeal is dismissed with costs which we assess at Rs. 50. This cost is to be paid within one month from this date, by Shri Guljarilall Modi, 132/1, Harrison Road (2nd floor), Calcutta, the ex-partner who has filed this appeal and appeared to support it.

DECISION.

1. The Company has its Head Office at Kanpur where it also has a factory for the manufacture of plastic goods. At the end of the year 1946 or at the beginning of 1947, it started a factory at Calcutta for the manufacture of electric fans and allied products. We are concerned in this appeal with its Calcutta factory. From the 5th October 1950, it was closed in pursuance of a notice marked as Ext. "D" in the case. The said notice runs thus—

> "In view of huge accumulated stocks, lack of sale and ensuing slack season we are reluctantly obliged to close the factory on and from the 5th instant for indefinite period. There would be no work on the 5th, but the workers would be paid their wages for that day along with 13 days' wages in lieu of notice and for leave earned proportionately. All payment as aforesaid will be made on the 5th instant."
> "As we are not likely to reopen the factory in the near future workmen in their own interest are advised to seek jobs elsewhere for which we shall extend all reasonable co-operation, viz., service certificates, etc., to them."

It rece[illegible] the 5th January 1952 with the strength of 37 workmen. [illegible] were on the rolls at the time when the factory [illegible] workmen with the result that by order No. 579Lab., dated 27th January 1951, the West Bengal Government referred the following issues for adjudication by Shri G. Palit, the Chairman of the State Tribunal (hereafter called the Tribunal), namely,—

"(1) Whether the discharge of workers as specified in the list attached was justified? To what compensation or other relief they are entitled?

(2) Whether the discharged workers have any arrear dues as per the award, dated the 3rd August 1950, and if so, what are the amounts that the Company should pay to them?"

Later on by another order the second issue was amended and after its amendment it ran thus—

"(2) Whether the discharged workers have any arrear dues as per Agreement, dated 4th July 1949, and the award, dated 3rd August 1950, and if so, what are the amounts that the Company should pay to them?"

N.B.—We have indicated the amendment by italicising it.

The list attached to the reference contained the names of 72 workmen. At the hearing the Company urged that out of those 72 workmen mentioned in the list, the services of 20 had been terminated before the 5th August 1950. The names of those 20 persons were given in a list which has been marked as Ext. "L". The Tribunal accepted the said contention of the Company and held that the case of the remaining 52 workmen only would have to be considered and who could be given relief either under issue No. 1 or under issue No. 2 of the reference. Accordingly if those issues, or either of them be answered in favour of the workmen, the conclusion of the Tribunal that the 20 persons whose names had been given by the Company in Ext. "L" would not be entitled to any relief has not been challenged before us by the workmen.

2. Before the Tribunal, the case of the workmen was a case of lock-out from the 5th October 1950. The Tribunal also held that the case was one of lock-out and the said lock-out was not justified, on the ground that the action of the Company in shutting down the factory from the 5th October 1950 was not bona fide. It, however, did not order reinstatement of any one of the said 52 workmen, who had not been taken in when the factory reopened on 5th January 1951 or subsequently. With regard to those who were taken in, it came to the conclusion that although the total emoluments which they were getting before the said closure was the same, it was split up into basic wages and dearness allowance in a different manner and the conditions of their services had been changed, inasmuch as they were permanent workmen before the said closure but they were taken in on the reopening of the factory on a casual basis. In spite of this finding no other relief was given to them except the common relief which was given to the remaining 52 workmen who were not taken in, namely, 7 days' emoluments in addition to the 14 days' emoluments which they were offered by the notice, Ext. "D". With regard to issue No. 2, the Tribunal said that the reference was in a narrow form and on the reference as it was it could not give any relief because of the fact that it could not hold that any arrears were due either on the basis of the said agreement or the said award on account of the defect in the reference. The workmen have filed the appeal against this award.

3. Before us, they have accepted the position that the notice, Ext. "D", had the effect of terminating the services of the said 52 workmen (72 less 20 mentioned in the Ext. "L") that is to say, they abandoned the case of lock-out on which they had proceeded before the Tribunal. This they had to do because of the terms of the reference which mentioned discharge and not lock-out in the first issue referred for adjudication. Apart from that concession we hold that on a proper construction of Ext. "D" it was a notice of terminating the services of the workmen concerned from the 5th October 1950 for it specifically states that in lieu of notice they would be given 14 days' wages (emoluments) which is in accordance with the Standing Orders of the Company, namely, that the services of a workman can be terminated on 14 days' notice or payment of 14 days' wages in lieu of notice.

The workmen contend that (1) on the findings arrived at by the Tribunal, reinstatement of the workmen who had not been taken in on the reopening of the factory in January 1951, or thereafter should have been given, (2) that in respect of the workmen who had been taken in on the reopening of the factory and later on appropriate reliefs should have been given by directing the Company to treat them as permanent workmen, on the same terms and conditions of service they had enjoyed immediately before their discharge from the 5th October 1950 and (3) that, in any case, the compensation of 7 days' additional emoluments is inadequate.

4. The Company has not preferred an appeal and so it cannot question the substantive relief that has been given, namely, that it cannot say, that the Tribunal should not have awarded any compensation. It, however, attacks the finding of the Tribunal on issue No. 1 that there was lock-out from the 5th October 1950 and that lock-out was unjustified. It contends that the basis of which the Tribunal proceeded to determine that issue is wrong for the Tribunal could not travel beyond the reference and proceeded on the basis of lock-out and that even if the case be considered to be a case of termination of services by notice, its findings that the action of the Company was not bona fide, is wrong. We think that it is open to the Company to make those contentions for the purposes of avoiding the imposition of further obligations in excess of what has been awarded by the Tribunal which the workmen in this appeal claim to impose on the Company. We will have to proceed on the basis that the workmen were discharged as and from the 5th October 1950 and find out whether the discharge was bona fide or not. In short, we must take it to be a case of closure and to see whether the closure was bona fide.

The award on issue No. 2 has also been challenged by the appellants in appeal. We will notice the arguments advanced by the appellants on that issue hereafter. We will first consider the question as to whether the closure of the factory as from the 5th October 1950 was justified or not.

5. When the factory was started in 1947 or so the workmen were engaged on consolidated salary or pay, that is to say, their emoluments were not divided separately into basic wages and dearness allowance, although the cost of living index was then much higher than the cost of living index in the base year, which in West Bengal is taken to be the year 1939. In 1948 a demand was made by the workmen for additional emoluments. The Company acceded to that demand and agreed to pay under the denomination of dearness allowance all its workers at the flat rate of 8 annas a day that is at the rate of Rs. 13 per month, the total working days being 26 in a month. This satisfied the workmen for a time. On the 18th April 1949, however, the Union on behalf of the workmen submitted a charter of demands to the Management. One of the demands related to their emoluments. A conciliation proceeding was started. It terminated successfully in an agreement arrived at on the 4th July 1949. The Manager of the factory signed on behalf of the Company and Shri J. N. Pandey, who is the Secretary of the Union and who represented the workmen in the conciliation proceedings, also signed, as also the Conciliation Officer, Shri B. K. Roy. The material terms of that agreement are as follows:—

> "2. As regards other points of the general character on demands concerning minimum basic wage, dearness allowance, leave rules, etc., it is agreed that the Award of the Engineering Tribunal in West Bengal No. 2161Lab., dated the 30th June 1948, should be followed by both parties in the dispute in toto.
> 4. The parties will follow the award mentioned above for a period of one year from 1st July 1949, unless there is material change in circumstances."

We will hereafter call the award referred to in this agreement as the Engineering Award. This agreement has been marked Ext. 5.

6. Shortly after this agreement the question of implemention of this agreement arose. The Management supplied to the Union the names of all the workmen who were on the muster rolls in July 1949, gave their designations and the emoluments that they were being paid. This list contained the names and the other particulars of the 79 workmen. On the basis of this information a list was prepared and submitted to the Management. It has been marked as Ext. A-2. The first column contained the names of the workmen, the second column their designations and the third column the salary they were getting. These columns were filled up in accordance with the information supplied to the Union by the Management and it is admitted before us that the list contains the names of all the workmen who were on the muster rolls in July 1949, and the contents of the second and the third column (relating to designations and salary) are correct. In the fourth column the Union stated against the name of each individual workman, the additional allowances which they, according to the Union, would be entitled to in accordance with the agreement arrived at at the conciliation proceedings (Ext. 5), and the fifth column contained the figures which according to the Union should be their total emoluments as per that agreement. Thereafter Shri Pandey acting on behalf of the workmen and Shri S. N. Chatterjee, the then Engineer of the Company, sat together and their purpose was to classify the workmen according to their jobs into three classes, namely, unskilled, semi-skilled and skilled. In the list Ext. A-2, some letters appear in pencil mark against the name of each individual workman. They are either US, SS or S and against the names marked with S cross marks in red pencil have been put in. Mr. S. N. Chatterjee, who is no longer in the service of the Company, has been examined on behalf of the workmen. He states that the letters US, SS and S are in his handwriting and the red cross marks were also put by him in the presence of Shri Pandey and those markings had been accepted by Shri Pandey, that the letters US are the abbreviation for unskilled workmen, SS and S for semi-skilled and skilled workmen, respectively. His evidence, therefore, is conclusive on the point that there was agreement on the question of classification of workmen. A copy of this list was handed over to Shri Pandey. The names with the red cross marks were taken out and put on a separate piece of paper. Whether that was handed over to Shri Pandey or not, is not material for in the list of Ext. A-2 itself, they are marked with the letter S which represents skilled workmen, and that marking was accepted by Shri Pandey. The skilled workmen whose names appear in both the aforesaid lists are 14 in number. The further evidence is that the Company did not accede to increase the emoluments as shown in the 4th column of the said list Ext. A-2, that is to say, the Management took up the position that the additional amounts claimed by the Union as shown in the 4th column as against each individual workman was much in excess of what the Company could be required to pay in implementation of the Conciliation Agreement, Ext. 5. It is admitted and that is also shown in the list, Ext. A-2, that many of the unskilled workmen were then getting less than Rs. 55 which was the minimum total emoluments of unskilled workmen given by the Engineering Award and that most of the semi-skilled workmen were getting Rs. 60 or more, as their total emoluments and only some were getting less than Rs. 60 which was the minimum total emoluments of semi-skilled workmen fixed by the Engineering Award. The Company raised the emoluments of the unskilled workmen who were getting less up to Rs. 55. Similarly the emoluments of those semi-skilled workmen who were getting less than Rs. 60 were increased to Rs. 60 and that those increments were with retrospective effect from the 1st July 1949. This was accepted by the Union as the correct implementation of the agreement, Ext. 5, in respect of the unskilled and semi-skilled workmen.

7. The Engineering Award first of all fixed the total minimum emoluments of these two categories of workmen and taking that as a basis divided the total emoluments into basic wages and dearness allowances. For the unskilled workmen it fixed basic wages at Rs. 30 and for semi-skilled at Rs. 35. It also fixed the dearness allowance according to pay ranges as follows:—

Up to Rs. 50	... Rs. 25 per month.
Rs. 51—100	.. Rs. 35 per month.
Rs. 101—150	.. Rs. 40 per month.
Rs. 151—200	... Rs. 45 per month.
Rs. 201 and above	.. Rs. 50 per month.

Thus according to the said award the total minimum emoluments of unskilled and semi-skilled workmen would be Rs. 55 and Rs. 60, respectively. The Engineering Award did not fix either the minimum total emoluments or the minimum basic wages of skilled workmen but left them to be fixed by the Engineering concerns which were the parties to the award. As the dearness allowance was fixed according to pay ranges and as those pay ranges were also from Rs. 51 and upwards it may be taken that the direction in the said award as to dearness allowance was applicable to skilled workmen also. These are the provisions of the Engineering Award which the Management agreed to follow by the terms of paragraph 2 of the said agreement (Ext. 5). We have already stated that the Tribunal fixed the total minimum emoluments of the unskilled and semi-skilled to Rs. 55 and Rs. 60 respectively. The Company implemented the said agreement in regard to unskilled and semi-skilled workmen and that position was accepted at the time of the hearing by the workmen. There was no agreement, however, with regard to the total emoluments of the skilled workmen who were, as we have already said 14 in number. An examination of the list (Ext. A-2) disclosed that 2 skilled workmen, namely, Tinkari Das and and Priya Nath Chakravarty, were being paid the total emoluments of Rs. 60 but that would be the total minimum emoluments of semi-skilled workmen according to the Engineering Award. As the Company refused to accede to the demands of the workmen as shown in column 4 of the said list even in part, so far as the skilled workmen were concerned, the Union complained to the Labour Directorate and pressed for prosecution of the Company for non-implementation of the agreement, Ext. 5. The Labour Directorate, however, did not accede to that request but made a reference to the Industrial Tribunal presided over by Mr. G. Palit by its order No. Lab.1750, dated 11th April 1950. Two issues were the subject matter of the said reference. Issue No. 2 is not material, for it related to the dismissal of three workmen. Issue No. 1 is the material issue and it ran thus—

"(1) What should be the total remuneration of the two following skilled employees who were getting Rs. 60—

(a) Shri Tinkowri Das

(b) Shri Priya Nath Chakravarty."

Thus the subject matter was the case of these two workmen only and not of the remaining 12 skilled workmen of the Company. An award was given by Mr. Palit which was published in the Calcutta Gazette on 3rd August 1950. This is the award which is mentioned in issue No. 2 of the reference, which we were considering in Appeal. Mr. Palit held that each of those two workmen was entitled to a further sum of Rs. 12 per month by way of dearness allowance, in accordance with the obligations taken by the Management by the agreement (Ext. 2) of the 4th July 1949. He made an award in their favour that is to say the award directed the Company to pay them an additional sum of Rs. 12 per month by way of dearness allowance from the 1st July 1949. In arriving at this conclusion, he held that only Rs. 13 out of the total emoluments could be allocated towards the dearness allowance, for that was the sum which was given expressly as dearness allowance in 1948. So he held that in fixing up the basic wages that sum only is to be deducted from the total emoluments. His decision amounts to this: that out of the total emoluments of Rs. 60 their basic wages, must be taken to be Rs. 47 and so according to the terms of the Engineering Award, which the Company undertake to follow by the said agreement, the dearness allowance which they were entitled to get was Rs. 25 per month, that being the dearness allowance payable in the pay ranges up to Rs. 50 and Rs. 13 was being paid towards dearness allowance, the balance of Rs. 12 was payable under the agreement. Shortly after the publication of this award a claim was preferred by the Union to the effect that dearness allowance should be calculated on the basis of the rule laid down by Mr. G. Palit in the said award in separating the basic wages from the total emoluments which the workmen were being paid then. The rule thus laid down by Mr. G. Palit may be right or wrong. But in respect of the said two workmen, Tincowri Das and Priya Nath Chakravarty, it is conclusive. If, however, the Management has not paid the said two workmen their dues in accordance with that award, that is a matter of implementation of the said award. The correctness of the rule in which Mr. Palit proceeded to allocate the portion of the total emoluments towards the basic pay, however, would incidentally arise in this case, for it has a bearing on the question of bona fide of the Management, in the matter of the closure of the factory from the 5th October 1950. It also commented on the fact that there was no resolution of the Directors forthcoming by which the closure was authorised. In support of its main reasons it held that the said agreement continued to be binding at the time of the closure, for it had not been terminated by notice. We do not think that in coming to that conclusion, the Tribunal has correctly interpreted the law on the subject.

9. Section 19, sub-sections (1) and (2) of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, defined the life of an agreement arrived at in the course of conciliation proceedings. Sub-section (1) defines the commencement of the operation of such an agreement. Sub-section (2) defines the period during which such an agreement shall be in force. The relevant portion of the said sub-section is as under—

> "Such settlement shall be binding for such period as is agreed upon by the parties, and if no such period is agreed upon, for a period of six months, and shall continue to be binding on the parties after the expiry of the period aforesaid, until the expiry of two months from the date on which a notice in writing of an intention to terminate the settlement is given by one of the parties to the other party or parties to the settlement."

The Tribunal seems to be of opinion that that continuity of the binding effect of such settlement depends upon the service of notice by one party on the other, the provisions about notices applies to both cases where the period is fixed by agreement of the parties, as well as where the period of six months is statutorily fixed in case where there is no such agreement fixing the the period. In our opinion, this construction is wrong. The said sub-section divides the cases under two broad heads, namely, (1) where the period of operation of such a settlement is agreed upon by the parties and (2) when such period is not agreed upon by the parties. In the latter case the Legislature says that the period of operation would be six months (and not less) and that the operation of agreement would continue still in spite of the expiry of the said period of six months statutorily fixed until the expiry of two months from the date of the notice, that is to say, the words "after the expiry of the period aforesaid" qualifies the second period of six months mentioned therein and not the first period which is agreed to by the parties. It is significant to note that the word "period" is used in the singular number and the word "aforesaid" according to grammatical construction must refer to the period immediately proceeding mentioned in the sub-section, namely, the period of six months. We, therefore, hold that the binding effect of the said agreement (Ext. 5) came to an end on and from the 1st July 1950, in accordance with the terms of clause 4 of the said agreement. But this view of our does not dispose of the matter entirely. It may be that although the legal effect of the said agreement is what we have expressed above, the Company may have been under the impression that it had the liability under Ext. 5 still to perform.

10. We have already noticed the fact that as a result of the conference which was held between Shri S. N. Chatterjee, the then Engineer of the Company, and Shri Pandey, shortly after the conclusion of the agreement, the claims of semi-skilled and un-skilled workmen under the agreement were settled as the levelling up the total emoluments of the unskilled and semi-skilled workmen to Rs. 55 and Rs. 60, respectively, was accepted by the Union to be the correct implementation of the said agreement. We also hold that having regard to the manner in which the award of the Engineering Tribunal proceeded, which we have already noticed above, the action of the Company in raising the total emoluments of the unskilled and semi-skilled workmen to Rs. 55 and Rs. 60, respectively, was the correct implementation of the agreement in respect of all the unskilled and semi-skilled workmen who were on the rolls then, that is to say of 65 out of the 79 workmen who were then on the muster rolls. With regard to two out of the remaining 14 skilled workmen the liability of the Company was determined by the award of Mr. G. Palit which was published on 3rd August 1950. There thus remains only 12 skilled workmen whose liability under the said agreement had not been settled. Of the said 12, Shri Tarak Nath Das and Shri Chittaranjan Paul, had been discharged in November and December 1949, respectively, before the closure. There thus remains those 10 out of the 52 who are interested in this reference and on whose behalf the demands could have been raised, on the basis of the agreement, if in force. Their wages had been fixed at a consolidated figure in 1947 when the factory was started and in the case of some it may be later. At that time, the cost of living index was much higher than the cost of living index of the base year which is usually taken in West Bengal as 1939. In 1948 there was an ad hoc grant of Rs. 13 more as the cost of living index was high. In these circumstances, our opinion is that a rule of the thumb could not be adopted by saying that only Rs. 13 which was given to each of the workmen at a flat rate in the year 1948 expressly as dearness allowance could only be allocated towards dearness allowance in the break-up of the total emoluments. In fixing the emoluments in the year 1947, both the workmen and the Company had certainly in view the cost of living index at that time and a substantial portion of the emoluments in the break-up, into the basic wages and dearness allowance should be attributed towards dearness allowance. This could be done satisfactorily by evaluating the jobs of the skilled workmen. In any event, even if the rule followed by Shri G. Palit in the award which was published on the 3rd August 1950 be taken to be the correct basis and that the Company was under the impression that the agreement of the 4th July 1949 (Ext. 5) was still binding the amount of additional burden per month in respect of the 10 skilled workmen whose claims had not been settled, could not have been very much. According to the figures of the Company, it would amount to Rs. 249 a month. This amount is not so heavy, having regard to the amount of the then existing wage bill which was in the neighbourhood of Rs. 6,000 a month, as to supply the ruling motives for closing the factory. The intention with which the factory was closed, has, in our opinion, to be inferred from facts and the inference must be reasonable. It is not a matter of speculation. We hold that on the facts which we have discussed above, that it would be unreasonable to impute mala fide intention to the Company, namely, that the Company adopted a device for getting rid of the liability undertaken by Ext. 5, assuming that there was still a liability under that agreement and that that liability had to be fixed according to the formula laid own by Mr. G. Palit in the said award of 1950. It is pertinent also to notice the attitude of the Company. On the 26th August 1950, the Management addressed a letter to the Labour Commissioner, Government of West Bengal (Ext. C), and in that letter they say that, "Contrary to our expectation the peak season for selling fans has not been favourable to us. The result is that on date we hold nearly 1,400 fans in stock which is approximately five months' production. Under existing stringent financial conditions, it is neither economical nor possible for us to continue production which is possible only by maintaining a regular inflow of raw materials. Our cost of production is already sufficiently higher than others in the trade. The season is nearly over and we do not expect any bulk order from our selling agents Messrs. Balmer Lawrie & Co., Ltd., in the near future. Prospects of sale in the ensuing winter can automatically be ruled out. We, therefore, are reluctantly obliged to close the factory. Will you kindly accord your sanction to the same?" The letter ended by saying that the Company was prepared to pay reasonable and legal compensation to their employees and will try to re-engage them as far as possible when they start work again in future. The terms of the Notice (Ext. D) is also material. It held out the hope of reopening of the factory and promised to extend all reasonable co-operation, viz., service certificates, etc., to the employees seeking employment elsewhere.

11. The line of business up to the date of the closure was the manufacturing of ceiling fans. The evidence is not contradicted, and it is also the finding of the Tribunal, that there was then a stock of 1,400 ceiling fans. The evidence is also to the effect that there was no good market for ceiling fans manufactured by this concern. After the closure, the Company thought that by producing table fans for which there was a good demand, it would be able to get the stock of ceiling fans reduced and that change in the line of production, namely, switching to the production of table fans would enable the factory to run on. The Company had examined witnesses to prove these facts who also stated that when the factory restarted, from the beginning of January 1951, table fans only were produced. These facts, in our opinion, have a material bearing on the question of bona fides.

12. The reasons in Ext. D, for closing the factory are two, namely, (1) the accumulation of huge stocks and (2) lack of sales. The Tribunal found that the accumulated stock at the end of the season was 1,400 fans; but it remarked that the accumulation in the previous year was nearly the same. It observed that if it was not actuated by ulterior motives it ought to have closed the factory earlier as the accumulation of stock was nearly the same in the previous year. We do not feel very much impressed by this argument. The factory was started in 1947 and certainly the Company would in normal circumstances be justified to continue its working for a time to see if the production of this infant concern would acquire a good market. Lack of sales is proved by the continued accumulation and that fact was also mentioned in the communication Ext. C. to the Labour Commissioner. A good explanation has been given as to why the factory was reopened and it was reopened on an experimental basis to see if the Company could be put on a sound footing by switching on to the production of table fans. A third reason was given by the Company for the closure, namely, paucity of finance. That is not stated in the notice Ext. D but there is very good reason for non-mentioning it there. The financial position of an undertaking, if it is shaky, would only be communicated in confidential communications. In this case, it was so done, in the letter addressed to the Labour Commissioner Ext. C, 2 months before the factory was closed. Before the Tribunal the Company showed from its books, the amount of overdraft. These books show that in the preceding year, 1949, the overdraft with its Bank amounted to Rs. 1,96,000 which mounted up to Rs. 2,79,000 in September 1950. The Tribunal seems to have not relied upon the books produced on the mere ground that the overdraft account kept in the Bank had not been produced to corroborate the entries in the account books of the Company. We do not think that this is a sufficient reason for casting any doubt upon the entries in the Company's account books which are regularly audited. It was open to the workmen to ask the Tribunal to call upon the Bank to produce its overdraft account of the Company. The Company also attempted to prove that this factory had incurred a loss of Rs. 18,000 in the year; but we do not attach importance to that fact. After taking into consideration all the relevant facts, most of which we have noticed in our judgment, we are of opinion that in closing the factory from the 5th October, the Company was not actuated by any ulterior motive and its action was perfectly bona fide. The relief as on retrenchment accordingly would be the appropriate relief to give.

13. The factory restarted with a lesser number of workmen which it considered to be adequate. Prima facie the Management is the best judge for determining the strength of its labour force. A reinstatement order in respect of those who have not been taken back on the reopening would amount to force the Company to have surplus labour. The Tribunal refused the prayer on the ground that the terms of reference did not authorise it to grant that relief. We do not agree with that view for the last part of issue No. 1, as referred to by the West Bengal Government, for adjudication runs thus—

"To what compensation or other relief they are entitled."

For the reasons given above, we do not think that the order for reinstatement would be proper. The question, therefore, is one of compensation. Ordinarily retrenchment means discharge from service of only the surplus part of the labour force but in the case of closure the whole labour force is dispensed with. In substance the difference between closure and normal retrenchment is one of degree only. As in the case of retrenchment so in the case of closure the workmen are not responsible for losing their jobs. In both the cases, what is called compensation by way of retrenchment relief should be admissible.

14. The factors which must be kept in view in determining the measure of compensation when retrenchment is effected are indicated in the judgment of this Tribunal in the case of Presidency Jute Mills versus Its Workmen (1952 Labour Appeal Cases p. 62 at 69-70) where the following observations were made, namely, that "in assessing the amount various factors have to be taken into consideration, namely, length of service, causes for retrenchment and the ability of the employer to pay". In many cases this Tribunal has said that the normal measure of compensation, where there is no question of ability to pay, should be 15 days' emoluments for each completed year of service. Judged by that standard and leaving aside the consideration of the other two factors mentioned in that passage, namely, (1) causes for retrenchment and (2) ability of the employer to pay, none of these workers would have been entitled to more than one and half months' emoluments, for none could possibly have put in more than three completed years of service, as the factory was started in the beginning of 1947 or so and closed in October 1950. The causes for closure in this case were serious and the finances of the Company are not very bright. The factory was continuously running at a loss since its start. In 1950 the loss amounted to Rs. 18,000 and in the next year it went up very much higher. Taking the Company as a whole that is to say, the whole sphere of its activity, namely, the production of plastic goods at Kanpur and production of fans and other allied products at its Calcutta factory the condition is not also very bright. There is a total net loss every year. In these circumstances, we do not think that we should grant compensation at the rate of 15 days' wages for each completed year of service. But at the same time we consider that the compensation of 7 days' emoluments as awarded by the Tribunal to be somewhat inadequate. We think that the end of justice would be met if a total of one month's emoluments be given to the workmen including what would be due to them in lieu of notice. The balance that would be payable under our award should be paid to all the 52 workmen including those who were re-employed when the factory started in 1951 and later on as soon as our award becomes enforceable by law.

15. We have already stated that some of the old employees were re-employed. Their total emoluments were not reduced. As their employment was a new one, the Company was entitled to split their total emoluments into basic wages and dearness allowance as it thought fit. The finding of the Tribunal that they were re-employed on a casual basis is wrong. It has proceeded upon a misreading of the Attendance Registers, after the closure on the 5th October 1950, some workmen were retained for the purposes of completing the parts of incomplete fans. Their names are entered in an Attendance Register and they are marked as "casual workmen". When the factory restarted in January 1951, another Attendance Register was opened. The names of the workmen were entered and the word "casual" was dropped. Apparently the Tribunal overlooked this distinctions and based its findings that the old hands had been re-employed on a casual basis. We make these observations for the purposes of avoiding future disputes in the matter.

16. With regard to issue No. 2, the Tribunal observed that no relief could be given because the words "arrear dues" were mentioned therein; for according to it, if wages and dearness allowances still remained to be fixed, there would be no question of arrears till that was done. This, in our opinion, is a narrow reading of the issue. If the obligation to pay higher wages than what was being paid, had been pre-existing, the arrears could be determined by working out the obligation. Here in this case, the obligation had been created by the agreement, namely, Ext. 5. According to our view, the life of that agreement extended up to June 1950. Thereafter the obligation ended. On the basis of the obligation so undertaken, there could be a claim to additional remuneration for the period from July 1949 to June 1950.

17. We have already pointed out that the claims of the unskilled and semi-skilled workmen for that period had been settled and payments had already been made to them accordingly. In their case, therefore, no question of arrears arises. With regard to the two skilled workmen, namely, Tincowri Das and Priyanath Chakraborty, the award of Shri G. Palit, published on the 3rd August 1950, governs. If payment in accordance with that award has not been made to them, it is a question of implementation of that award. There remains, therefore, the remaining 12 skilled workmen. Two of them, namely, Shri Taraknath Das and Shri Chittaranjan Paul, were discharged in November and December 1949, respectively. In respect of them there could be a question of arrear dues only from July 1949 to the date of the termination of their services. There remains the remaining 10 and they would be entitled to claim arrear dues, if the amount that would be legally payable to them for the said period from July 1949 to 1950 could be determined on the materials on the record.

18. The said workmen including Taraknath Das and Chittaranjan Paul, were admittedly skilled workmen. We have already said that their basic wages cannot be fixed on the simple formula by attributing only Rs. 13 of their total emoluments towards dearness allowance and the rest to be taken as their basic wages and their total emoluments calculated by giving them the difference between Rs. 13 and the amounts fixed as dearness allowance by the Engineering Award according to their pay ranges. We think for the purposes of allocating a part of their total emoluments towards basic wages it would be necessary to evaluate their jobs. No evidence was led on this point and so the materials are not sufficient to separate their basic wages even in a rough manner from their total emoluments. If that could have been done and the total emoluments fixed, the arrears could have been determind by subtracting their total emoluments which they were being paid for the relevant period and the amount so determined. For this reason we hold that an award on issue No. 2 cannot be made in regard to these 12 workmen.

19. The result is that the award of the Tribunal is confirmed subject to the modifications as indicated above. As the appeal has succeeded, though to a very limited extent, the respondent must pay cost to the appellant which we assess at Rs. 100.

DECISION.

By order No. 115Dis./10L-8/51, dated the 24th September 1951, the West Bengal Government referred the following matters for adjudication by the Third Industrial Tribunal, West Bengal, namely, (1) revision of grade system and (2) if workers are entitled remuneration due to the recent increase in the working hours a week. The parties settled their differences on the second matter. A petition of compromise was filed before the Tribunal and this has been embodied in the award. That matter is thus finally settled. The award was accordingly made on contest on the first matter only.

2. By an award of a Tribunal made on the 4th June 1948 and published shortly thereafter (hereafter called the award of the Engineering Tribunal) before which this Company along with 118 other engineering concerns of West Bengal were parties, the minimum wages of unskilled workmen of all these concerns were fixed at Rs. 1-2-6, 1-3-6, 1-4-6, and of the semi-skilled workmen at Rs.1-5-6 per day, but that Tribunal left the fixation of wages of skilled workmen with the management of these concerns. Shortly thereafter the management and representatives of the workmen of this concern met and entered into an agreement on the 2nd September 1948. The memorandum of agreement is an annexure to the Company's written statement and has been marked as Exhibit I. It contains the names of all the workmen then in employment and their designations and among others the basic wages of unskilled and semi-skilled workmen as pulled up in accordance with the Engineering Tribunal's award. Thus, by agreement the workmen named therein with their designations were placed in the different categories of unskilled, semi-skilled and skilled workmen. This agreement has an important bearing upon the case of the workmen as put forward before the Tribunal and before us.

3. The Company had in existence an incremental scale for all the categories of workmen except the unskilled ones. In its wage structure were shown the minimum and maximum of wages of all these categories who were to be allowed increments but the scale in that it did not provide for regular increments either at stated periods of time or at definite rates. The wage structure was as follows:—

For unskilled workmen according to their duties at Rs. 1-2-6, 1-3-6 and 1-4-6 per day—No maximum.

For the semi-skilled workmen—Minimum Rs.1-5-6 and maximum Rs. 1-14-9.

For the skilled workmen:—

(a) Minimum Rs. 1-15-3 and maximum Rs. 2-15 per day.

(b) Minimum Rs. 3 and maximum Rs. 3-13-6 per day.

The Union's demands as pressed before the Tribunal were:—

(i) that the maximum of each category should be increased;

(ii) that a time-scale should be ordered, that is to say, that there should be annual increments or increments at other fixed intervals of time in the same grade, the rate of increment being also fixed; and

(iii) that allocation of the workmen to the categories of unskilled, semi-skillled and skilled workmen as made by the Company, should be revised; according to the Union, some who were being treated as unskilled should be classed as semi-skilled and some who were being treated as semi-skilled should be classed as skilled.

We will take up the third point first.

4. Although in the written statement the workmen state that the said classification of workmen into unskilled, semi-skilled and skilled can only be solved satisfactorily by scientific analysis of the type of work done by them with the assistance of expert opinion, at the time of the trial, they gave a go-bye to that position and urged that the designations were very material and that an examination of the classifications would show on the face of it, the arbitrary way in which the Company had proceeded. Thus, for instance, workmen described as fitter have been placed some in the semi-skilled class and others in the skilled class, and painters have been placed some in the unskilled class and others in the semi-skilled and skilled classes. It also asked the Tribunal to inspect the factory and watch the work of seven specified workmen whom they claimed should have been classed as skilled and not as semi-skilled. The Tribunal noticed their work. The result of the inspection has been embodied at the top of 1233 of the Gazette copy. There cannot be any doubt that the claim to have them classed as skilled can have no basis.

5. It has been rightly pointed out that designations cannot determine the class in which the particular workman is to be placed. A workman designated as painter but who applies paint coating on a steel structure in the factory of the Company with a piece of cloth does no more than what an unskilled workman does who cleans the floor with a swab, while a workman designated in the same manner, may be entrusted with the job of finished painting work, in which case he would have to be classed at least as a semi-skilled, if not a skilled workman. It is the nature of the job that matters most and this question can only be satisfactorily solved with the aid of experts but no attempt was made by the workmen to have any expert examined. Over and above there is the fact, the importance of which cannot be overlooked, namely, that the representatives of the workmen agreed in Exhibit I to the classification of particular categories of workmen into unskilled, semi-skilled and skilled. We, therefore, hold that the award of the Tribunal on the third point is sound.

6. The award of the Engineering Tribunal governed practically the whole of the Engineering industry of West Bengal. It fixed the minimum wages of unskilled and semi-skilled workmen. In our opinion, it would not be right to disturb the wages so fixed only in respect of this Company. That would disturb the equilibrium and this fact has been realised by the representatives of the workmen who argued the case before us. Further we are of opinion that the maximum wages of a particular class of workmen say of unskilled workmen should not ordinarily exceed by an appreciable extent the minimum of the next higher class, the semi-skilled ones, and we do not find any materials in this case to depart from that broad rule. Thus, as the minimum wages of the semi-skilled workmen has been fixed by the said award of the Engineering Tribunal at Rs. 1-5-6 per day the maximum of the unskilled grades should not exceed Rs. 1-5-6, if time-scales are at all to be introduced in their case. The Company has fixed the maximum of that class, though not grades, at Rs. 1-4-6 but according to the nature of their jobs, we think it would not be unreasonable if we fix the highest pay of some categories of unskilled workmen, at Rs. 1-5-6 per day.

7. As no materials have been placed before us, or before the Tribunal either, to show that the minimum wage of class (a) of skilled workmen as fixed by the Company is low or inadequate we are unable to increase the maximum wages of the semi-skilled class to an amount which would be higher than the minimum wages of a skilled workman. The maximum in the grade of semi-skilled workmen as now prevalent, is, therefore, maintained.

A skilled workman can go up to Rs. 3-13-6 from Rs. 1-15-6 a day, and no materials have been placed either before us or before the Tribunal that the maximum of that class is inadequate. Subject to the modification in respect of some categories of unskilled workmen with which we will deal hereafter, the contention of the workmen on the first point cannot be accepted.

8. The second contention of the workmen was mainly urged on the basis that there is already a time-scale in this concern and what is required is to revise the scale of increments. This contention of their proceeds on a misconception. No doubt the Company has fixed the minimum and maximum wages of each of the grades of semi-skilled and skilled workmen but there is no time-scale. These classes of workmen do not get automatic periodic increments according to the length of their service. But this does not dispose of the point. The question has to be considered from a broader aspect.

9. The question of time-scales of the class of workmen engaged in doing manual work, that is to say, the labour class, as it is conveniently called, has engaged attention of Tribunals in the past. As far as the basic principles are concerned there cannot be any controversy. The needs and responsibilities of this class of workmen like all other classes of workmen, namely, the clerical staff, increase with the age of the workmen belonging to middle-class families. To take instances, in their case, the item of expenditure on education or for the fulfilment of social needs, such as on marriages, etc., is not so heavy, nor do the expenses on some of those heads grow in the same proportion with advancing years as in the case of workmen belonging to the middle-class. The prospect of having supplementary income through the earning of their dependant members are also greater and are likely to be fulfilled comparatively earlier in point of time. These are some of the factors which distinguish their cases from those of workmen belonging to the middle-class families. Thus, this theory in support of time-scales cannot be considered to be the most potent factor in the case of workmen of the labour class. Other factors must also be taken into consideration and an adjustment of conflicting view points of the employers and of the workmen must be made on sound lines.

10. As time-scales increase the wage bill year after year which is reflected in the cost of production, such scales should not, in our opinion, be forced upon an employer of industrial labour unless it is established that the employer has the present capacity to pay and its financial capacity can be counted upon in future. Thus, both financial ability and stability are requisite conditions. But this aspect need not be considered in this case for there is no such plea by the Company. Other considerations, however, must be taken into account.

11. The welfare of the workmen, the labour class as well as of others—must no doubt be kept in view. Their standard of living must progressively be raised and living wage standard is the goal. Short-term expedients, such as the award of bonus on there being surplus after meeting prior charges, are not entirely satisfactory. Firstly, the element of certainty year after year is wanting. Secondly, even if bonus is given the rate would vary from year to year according to the variable prosperity of the concern, and lastly, an unhealthy atmosphere is generally created leading to perennial disputes over the question of bonus and consequent disturbances of industrial peace and harmony which is so much desirable. Increase in wages and/or granting of incremental time-scales both for time rated and piece rated workmen is, therefore, desirable. But at the same time, other weighty considerations must not be lost sight of. Time-scales throw an increasing burden year after year and reflects upon the cost of production which in its turn has its repercussion in a competitive market. The industry must, therefore, have some corresponding advantage from the existence of time-scales. On this consideration a broad line of demarcation between skilled and semi-skilled labour on the one side and unskilled labour on the other and among unskilled labour itself should, in our opinion, be made. With the length of service a skilled workman improves. He is likely to become more skilful and so more efficient with the passage of time whereby the quality and quantity of his production improves. So is the case of a semi-skilled workman, who from a raw semi-skilled workman, if we may use a forsenic expression, may reach by the passage of time the highest degree of proficiency which may be expected of a semi-skilled workman and may even cross the line of division between a semi-skilled and skilled workman. Thus, in the case of these two classes of workmen of the labouring class larger degree of efficiency is gathered from experience as time passes on. It has its effect on productivity of labour and so benefits the industry and to some extent, acts a counter-balancing factor on the increase of cost of production which would rise by reason of time-scales. So time-scale in the case of semi-skilled and skilled workmen has some sound foundation to stand upon.

12. Unskilled labour in a factory and more so, in an engineering workshop, again fall into two broad categories: (i) those whose duties bring them into frequent and close contact with skilled or semi-skilled labour and (ii) those whose duties do not. The first category have the reasonable prospect of mounting up in course of time to the semi-skilled workmen. This promotion, in our opinion, would not be a good reason for not allowing time-scales to that category when in the unskilled cadre. They do not, all of a sudden, reach to the standard of semi-skilled workmen but during the period of their unskilled term improve gradually, acquire more efficiency and proficiency as time rolls on which has its effect on productivity. This class of unskilled labour must, therefore, have time-scales on the same consideration on which time-scales are given to semi-skilled and skilled workmen. In the case of the second category of unskilled labour, this opportunity of bettering their prospects is wanting. It may be urged that this class of unskilled labour should not stagnate; their needs also increase with age and in their case also the gap between existing wage standard and living wage standard should be bridged even to the small extent that time-scales afford. These, no doubt, are some considerations in their favour but the interest of the industry and other interests should not at the same time be ignored. One thing is clear that no apprecialbe benefit is likely to result to the industry from the length of their service. We do not, therefore, think that it would be right at the present state of industrial development to introduce time-scales in their case. We have not overlooked the relevant portions of the Central Pay Commission's Report from pages 37 onwards. We are not also unmindful of the fact that time-scales have been given to unskilled crude and attendance labour but it appears that in those awards neither their cases were separately contested, nor are reasons given by the Tribunals for allowing them time-scales. Accordingly, we do not award time-scales for this class of unskilled workmen. Without such a scale being fixed there would be no meaning in fixing the maximum wages in their grade. For the first mentioned categories of unskilled workmen, we fix the maximum at Rs. 1-5-6 per day with annual increments at the rate of annas one. We leave it to the management to determine the persons as to who are to be placed in this category of unskilled workmen. We will now take up the question of time-scales of semi-skilled and skilled workmen.

13. The Company's wage structure, as already noticed by us, is as follows:—

	Minimum per day.	Maximum per day.
	Rs. as. p.	Rs. as. p.
Basic wages of semi-skilled workmen ..	.. 1 5 6	1 14 9
Basic wages of skilled workmen—
Group A	.. 1 15 3	2 15 0
Group B	.. 3 0 0	3 13 6

But there is no system of granting regular periodic increments. We think that in their cases, the gap between the minimum and maximum should be filled up by regular periodic increments. We have already said that on the materials available in this case, the maximum wages of each of these two classes, as fixed by the Company, cannot be revised. A slight modification is, however, necessary for the purpose of evenly distributing the periodic increments which we propose to award between the minimum and maximum. As the gap is a narrow one, we think that annual increments should be provided for and that at the following rates, namely:—

Semi-skilled—Rs. 1-5-6—As. 1-6 pies—Rs. 1-14-6 per day.

Skilled—

Group A—Rs. 1-15-3—As. 3—Rs. 2-14-3 per day.

Group B—Rs. 3-0-0—As. 4—Rs. 4-0-0 per day.

and we award accordingly. This should not affect the workmen adversely if they are drawing more wages now.

14. As we have introduced time-scales for these two classes and also with regard to some unskilled labour, some rule for fitting in is necessary. This can be done as being a matter incidental to the question referred to by the West Bengal Government for adjudication. The only rule that is necessary in this case is the rule of special increment by reason of length of service of the workmen concerned. In this respect, we think it would be fair to give in the case of semi-skilled and skilled workmen one special increment at the respective rates fixed by us for each period of five years of completed service, subject to a maximum of three such special increments and subject to the proviso that the maximum of the grade is not overstepped. As the maximum would be reached by those unskilled workmen to whom we have awarded time-scales in three years' time or less, as the case may be, we do not extend to them the privilege of having any special increment by reason of length of service. The appeal thus succeeds in part. The Company must pay Rs. 100 as costs to the appellants.

Decision.

By order No. 324Dis./D/13L-7/51, dated 3rd December 1951, the Government of West Bengal referred five issues for adjudication by Shri G. Palit (hereafter called the Tribunal). The award was made on the 25th August 1952 and was published in the local gazette on the 15th September following. Three of these issues are the subject-matter of this appeal. These issues are as follows:—

(1) Scales of pay,

(2) Bonus for 1950 and

(3) Dearness allowance.

2. In the first issue, the award under appeal was that the employer should adopt the scales of pay as fixed by the award of what is called the Major Press Tribunal. That was the award made on the 11th of May 1951 in a dispute between 169 printing establishments of Calcutta and Howrah and their workmen. The present printing establishment, namely, the Popular Press and its workmen were not parties thereto. In the concluding part of the award on this issue, however, the Tribunal considered the case of apprentices and directed that the period of apprenticeship should be for three years and during that period, the apprentice should be paid 2/3rds of the minimum wages of the scales prescribed for the post to which they were engaged as apprentices. It is this part of the award only which the appellant challenges.

3. The financial year of the establishment is according to the Bengali calendar. The claim for bonus, related to the financial year 1356 B.S., that is to say, the year 1949-50. The workmen claimed one month's wages as bonus for that year. The Tribunal, however, awarded, at the rate of 15 days' wages.

4. The system prevailing in this concern was to pay consolidated wages, that is to say, the wages paid were not split up into basic wages and dearness allowance. The claim of the workmen was that they should be paid Rs. 40 per month as dearness allowance to fully compensate the actual cost of living. The Tribunal, however, fixed the dearness allowance at the rate of Rs. 28 per month but the observations made by the Tribunal then dealing with the issue may imply that they were to get this sum in addition to the consolidated wages they were getting.

5. For the purpose of determining the controversies between the parties on the Issues Nos. 1 and 3 scales of pay, etc., and dearness allowance, the following facts are material.

By reference No. 427Lab., dated 9th of September 1947, a number of disputes between 169 printing establishments of Calcutta and Howrah and their workmen were referred for adjudication to a Tribunal. Two issues, namely, Issue No. 4 related to minimum wages, grades and scales of pay and Issue No. 4A to dearness allowance. The award was given on the 11th of May 1948. This award has been and will hereafter be called the award of the Major Press Tribunal or the Omnibus Award. The Popular Press, the appellant before us, and its workmen were not parties thereto. That award fixed basic wages, the grades and the scales of pay (basic wages) and gave dearness allowance at the flat rate of Rs. 22 per month. The rules of fitting in the revised grades were, however, not laid down. After the expiry of the period of operation of that award, the workmen of 79 out of these 169 printing establishments, made demands which amongst others related to wages and dearness allowance. Those disputes between those 79 presses and their workmen were referred to for adjudication by the West Bengal Government by an order No. 2200Lab., dated 3rd May 1950, under circumstances which has been set out in a decision by a Bench of this Tribunal pronounced on the 23rd August 1951 in Appeals Nos. Cal.-77, Cal.-78, Cal.-84 and Cal.-65/51. The workmen of 11 other printing establishments which were not parties to the Omnibus Award also related disputes relating to their wages, scales of pay, etc., and dearness allowance and the dispute of those 11 establishments and their workmen was referred to for adjudication by Government order No. 4065Lab., dated 26th September 1950. Those 11 printing establishments did not also include the Popular Press. Both these references which were to the same Tribunal were heard together, and the award was made on the 1st of February 1951 and was published in the local gazette on the 1st of March following. The grades and scales of pay as laid down in the Omnibus Award were maintained and made applicable to those 11 printing establishments also. Certain rules of fitting in were laid down and those were made equally applicable to both the sets of printing establishments. A further rule was laid down for splitting up the consolidated wages whenever prevalent into basic wages and dearness allowance. Against that award, the abovementioned four appeals (Nos. Cal.-77, 78, 84 and 85 of 1951) were preferred to this Tribunal on the 3rd May 1951. Two days before that appeal was filed there was an agreement between the Popular Press and its workmen arrived at a conciliation proceedings to the effect that printing establishments would adopt in respect of its workmen, the terms of the award made in respect of those 11 printing establishments and their workmen who were parties to the said reference No. 4065Lab., dated 26th September 1950. Those appeals were heard by this Tribunal and judgment was pronounced on the 23rd August 1951. Against the judgment of this Tribunal, appeals have been filed in the Supreme Court and are still pending there. It was on the complaint of the workmen of the Popular Press that under the pretext that an appeal was pending before the Supreme Court that the concern did not implement the aforesaid agreement of the 1st May 1951. That this reference, namely, No 324Dis./D/13L-51, was made in respect of Issues Nos. (1), namely, scales of pay and (3) dearness allowance. The decision on those issues, in our opinion, depend upon the question as to whether the said agreement arrived at the conciliation proceedings is still binding on the parties in spite of the appeal to the Supreme Court. The Tribunal held and we think rightly that it was.

6. We have already stated that the agreement at the conciliation proceeding was arrived at before appeals were preferred to this Tribunal and it was that the Popular Press would abide by the terms of the award as made by the State Tribunal. The Popular Press and its workmen were not parties to that reference and to the said appeals. They voluntarily and definitely adopted the terms of the award as made by the State Tribunal. A decision made in the appeal against that award to this Tribunal and on the appeals preferred to the Supreme Court would govern only the printing presses who were parties to reference No. 4065Lab., and would have no effect on the said agreement which in effect have incorporated the terms of the original award, that is to say, that made by the State Tribunal. As admittedly the agreement was arrived at a conciliation proceedings after the amendment of section 19 of the Industrial Disputes Act in 1950 and no notice for its termination as contemplated in sub-section (2) of that section has been given the agreement is still binding on the parties. This being the position, the appeal as directed against the part of the award of Issue No. 1 as already indicated and on Issue No. 3 is simplified. In that award of the State Tribunal made in reference No. 4065 Lab., there is no provision for apprentices. The Omnibus Award which was, in fact, followed by the State Tribunal in respect of those 11 printing establishments also to maintain uniformity left the question of allowances of apprentices by negotiations by the parties. In the written statement which is filed on behalf of the workmen before the Tribunal in the reference which we are considering in appeal, there was no claim made in respect of the apprentices and there are no materials which would support the award of the Tribunal in this respect. That being the position, Mr. Chowdhury, appearing for the workmen, agreed that the rate of allowance payable to the apprentices should be left to the employees. He suggested, however, that the period of apprenticeship should be for a lesser period, namely, one year. Mr. B. Banerjee who appeared in support of the appeal accepted Mr. Chowdhury's proposal to be reasonable and stated that it must be made clear that after the expiry of the period of apprenticeship, an apprentice would not automatically become a workman. We consider this to be reasonable. We, therefore, set aside this part of the award and in substitution direct that the period of apprenticeship should be limited to one year and that at the end of the period, the employer would be at liberty to test him and would also have the option to make him or not as a workman. An apprentice, however, should get some allowance but the amount thereof is to be fixed by negotiation between the employer and the apprentice concerned.

7. Dealing with the question of dearness allowance the Tribunal observed that in this establishment consolidated wages were being paid. It noticed the contention of the employer that a portion of the consolidated wages which were fixed when the cost of living index was high and much above that of the base year (1939) should be treated as dearness allowance and that must be separated to find out the basic wages. The observations of the Tribunal would, however, imply that what was being paid must be treated as basic wages and the reason given is that that must be so, even at the hearing the employer could not split up the consolidated wages into basic and dearness allowance. The award as made, therefore, can be construed to mean that over and above that what the workmen were getting, they were to get Rs. 28 per month as dearness allowance. We think that this is wrong as the Tribunal has failed to give effect to the terms of the said agreement arrived at at the conciliation proceedings. That award made in Reference No. 4065Lab., stated that where consolidated wages were being paid, the whole of it is not to be treated as basic wages. It laid down a definite rule of splitting up which was that that amount would be treated as basic wages which would be left after deducting Rs. 22 from the consolidated wages and the basic wages so fixed was to be adjusted according to the rules of fitting in laid down in that award. We, therefore, direct that the consolidated wages which the workmen were getting at the terms of said agreement must be first split up into basic wages and dearness allowance in accordance with that rule. The basic wages so determined shall then be adjusted according to the rules of fitting in as laid down in that award and the total emoluments would be the basic wages thus adjusted plus Rs. 28 as dearness allowance, because the Company has agreed before us to that amount instead of Rs. 22 which had been awarded as dearness allowance by the award made in Reference No. 4065. The payments in accordance with our decision would have to be made respectively from the 18th October 1952, when the award of the Tribunal became enforceable.

8. The agreement at the conciliation proceedings has no bearing on the claim for bonus. The statement of claim in respect thereto as made by the workmen is contained in paragraph 4 of their written statement. In that paragraph, it is said that the Management were paying bonus of 15 days' wages from the year 1948 in consideration that the wages were low irrespective of loss and profit though the Management, in fat, made substantial profits in those years but for the year under claim, the Management did not pay bonus although substantial profits were earned and the only reason for non-payment of bonus for that year by the Management was an answer to the workmen's agitation. The precise ground on which the claim for bonus was rested does not, therefore, clearly appear from the written statement of the workmen. Those statements would seem to suggest that payment of bonus was a condition of service. The Tribunal, however, did not examine the question from that light. It thought that the claim was rested on there being surplus in that financial year after meeting from the gross income prior charges and reasonable return to capital It seems that the Management also resisted the claim for bonus on the ground that there was no surplus. It produced its accounts books and balance-sheet said to have been prepared by its accountant. The Tribunal, however, did not think it safe to rely upon the correctness of that balance-sheet which showed loss of three thousand rupees odd in that year. After rejecting the balance-sheet and without making any attempt to find out whether there was in fact, a surplus or not, it said that as bonus for 15 days had been paid in the year immediately preceding that should be the amount to be awarded. We do not consider the judgment in this respect to be satisfactory and during the course of the argument suggested a remand so that the claim for bonus may be dealt with satisfactorily.

The parties, however, did not like the remand and ultimately agreed to the payment of seven days' wages as bonus for that year, the rate per day to be determined on average consolidated wages paid during that year. The result is that the appeal succeeds to the extent indicated above. Parties to bear their respective costs.

DECISION.

The subject-matter of this appeal which is by the Company relates to the award on a part of issue No. 3 only, which is as follows :—

"Whether the services of nine women workers as per attached list should be maintained and whether any compensation should be granted ?"

At the time of the hearing it was pointed out that one of the woman workers mentioned in the list, namely, Sm. Basana, had not been retrenched at all and that two others, namely, Sm. Tulsi and Sm. Aloka, were at no time employed by the concern. The Tribunal, therefore, proceeded to consider the case of the remaining six women workers.

2. The Tribunal came to the conclusion that the Company had made out a case of retrenchment, that is to say, that six women workers who were employed in the Packing Department had become surplus on account of the closure of one shift of the Production Department. It also found that they had been retrenched not in March as was the workmen's case but from the 19th May 1952 as was the case of the Company. But the Tribunal observed that the Company did not adduce any evidence that in the matter of retrenchment it followed the normal rule of "last come, first go". It also made a remark that "the decline in production was only a temporary phase and it would have been better for the Company to lay off the said six women workers instead of discharging them. It granted to each of them as compensation three months' full wages including dearness allowance on the scale last drawn as compensation. It realised that the amount of compensation was rather heavy but thought that the circumstances of the case needed a heavy compensation specially because in its view the Company should not have followed the drastic step of terminating the services of the said women workers when it could as well as place them on [illegible]. The Company has appealed on the question of

3. The Company filed before the Tribunal a list showing the length of service of all those eight women workers. That was marked as Ext. M. It shows that Sm. Probhasini had put in only one day's service. There cannot be any doubt that she was the juniormost. Lalita had put in one month and 29 days' service. Sm. Kissori had put in three months and twenty-five days' service. Sm. Profulla had put in four months and twenty-one days' service. Sm. Manoda had put in five months and twenty-three days' service and Sm. Rama had put in nine months and three days' service. Apparently, those workers were the juniormost; for the workmen did not plead that they were not the juniormost and only after the hearing had actually commenced they urged that they were not the juniormost in service. But we are relieved of further investigating the question because the Company has made a very generous offer which we consider to be adequate, namely, that they would pay to each one of the five women workers Rs. 30 except to Sm. Probhasini. We accordingly award Rs. 30 as compensation to each of the five workmen except to Sm. Probhasini who had put in only one day's service would not get anything by way of compensation. We award no costs.

DECISION.

1. By order No. 2574Dis./D/10L-80/52, dated the 16th September 1952, the West Bengal Government referred the following dispute between the Britannia Engineering Company, Limited, Titaghur, 24-Parganas, and their workmen for adjudication by the Fourth Industrial Tribunal, Calcutta, namely :—

> "Whether the increments of the clerks and the members of the supervisory staff as mentioned in the attached list, held up in the year/years detailed against the name of each employee in the said list should be granted restrospectively from the date on which such increments were stopped."

The list attached to the order of reference contained the names of the said 46 persons. That list can be sub-divided under two broad classes. Class (1) contains the names of 11 workmen whose increments were stopped within the grade mostly in the year 1952 except in the case of three persons whose increments had been stopped in earlier years. The remaining persons, 35 in number, are those whose promotions to the next higher grades were stopped. It is admitted that in respect of those 11 persons whose increments were stopped within the grade the heads of the respective departments have not recommended their cases for increments. The Company's answer to the claim is that under the conditions of service, increments within the grades were not automatic but could only be given when the Directors agree to give them on the recommendations of the heads of the departments concerned and that the workman who had reached the maximum of his grade was not entitled to be promoted automatically to the next higher grade. This contention of the Company appears upon the dated the 29th January 1946, which admittedly was circulated to all members of the Indian establishment staff. The document is divided into two parts: (a) what we may call to be the body, and (b) the annexures. The body contains rules, 13 in number, and the annexures are four in number and marked as Appendices A, B C and D. Those annexures mention seven grades A to G, and incremental scales of pay are shown against each of these seven grades. The body of the document runs as follows and we are quoting the relevant portions only :—

"The Directors have agreed to introduce a system of graded pay for all office and works supervisory staffs and the scale of grades given in the attached list are those on which the salaries of all graded staff will be based.

The rules governing this scheme are as follows :—

Graded Pay System for Indian Establishment Staff.

2.....

3. It is to be clearly understood that there is no precedent for assuming that increments in salary will be granted each year. Increments cannot be granted except with the sanction of the Directors. The Directors hope that it may be possible for them to continue the sanction of annual increments, but can only do so should business and other circumstances permit.

* * * * * *

7. In the event of a vacancy in a higher grade, consideration will first be given to existing staff, wherever possible, with a view to promotion from a lower grade; and all appointments to a higher grade will carry the minimum starting salary for that grade, except where allowed for in rule 10.

8. Promotion to a vacancy in any department need not be confined to that particular department. All employees, including daily rated employees, will be considered eligible.

9. When the maximum salary for any grade is reached no further increments can be given for that post; to gain any further increase in salary the employee must qualify for advancement to a post carrying a higher grade."

To this office order when it was issued in January 1946, was attached to Appendix A only which we have already said, contained seven grades A to G and showed the incremental scales of salary against each of those grades. On the 7th September 1946 another appendix marked as Appendix B was attached to the original office order which showed new incremental scales against those seven grades. It expressly stated that what was mentioned therein was by way of revision of the scales of pay of those grades as mentioned in Appendix A. Thus, though the incremental scales given in Annexure B were in supersession of those mentioned in Appendix A attached to the office order the last-mentioned appendix was not removed. This was the position up to June 1949. In 1948, the Major Engineering Tribunal made its award. It divided the clerical staff into three grades, namely, non-matriculates, matriculates and graduates and provided for incremental scales of pay in their respective grades. This concern was a party to that reference and was accordingly bound by the award so made. The award was published on the 12th June 1948, and was to take effect from the 1st April 1948; and so it continued to be in force till the 31st March 1948 in accordance with the provisions of section 19 of the Parent Act XIV of 1947. The amendment by which sub-section 6 thereof was introduced came into force only in May 1950. The effect of that award was that the whole of the said office order, the body as well as Appendix B stood superseded. After that award had spent its force the Company re-introduced seven grades as they were, before, but at the same time revised the pay scales of each of those grades. Those pay scales were set out in an appendix marked C to the original office order No. 70. Thus, the body of the office order No. 70 remained and three Appendices marked A, B and C remained annexed. Appendices A and B had been superseded, as we have already said, by the award. The effect of introducing the pay scales as appearing in Appendix C and attaching it to the body of the said office order is that new pay scales as appearing therein with the conditions as already mentioned in the body of the said office order was reintroduced and the evidence is that these were made known to the workmen by circulation. It would have been better if Appendices A and B had been bodily removed and a fresh office order containing the same terms and conditions have been mentioned as in body of the office order No. 70 with the pay scales as mentioned in Appendix C, had been drawn up and circulated among the staff, but this omission in not issuing a fresh order does not affect the substance. Thereafter, on the 14th January 1952, the pay scales as given in Appendix C were revised by the pay scales mentioned in Appendix D which was similarly attached to the office order No. 70. The net effect is that [illegible] the new incremental pay scales as given in Appendix D came into [illegible] to the conditions prescribed in the original office order No. 70.

as has been held by the Tribunal but the terms and conditions of that office order were reintroduced after the expiry of that award with the pay scales revised from time to time by reason of the provisions made in Appendices C and D. That being the position, paragraphs 3, 7, 8 and 9 of the office order No. 70, dated the 29th January 1946, which we have quoted above, still govern the rules of service. In accordance with that, the workmen could neither claim automatic increments within the grades nor claim the right of promotion from one grade to the higher one after the maximum of the former grade had been reached. In this view of the matter, we need not consider the other point raised before us, namely, whether some of the persons in the list attached to the reference are to be regarded as workmen or not.

The result is that the appeal dismissed but without costs.

True Copy of the Order No. 3, dated 27th November 1953.

This is an application by the Company to dismiss a workman of the name of Shri N. R. Bhowmick. The charge against him has been set out in Annexure "G" to the petition. Its substance is as follows:—

The he was working in the godown on the 13th August 1952. Just before the mid-day recess, he told the godown-keeper that he had to see a customer of the Company (Lipton's Ltd.), in connection with his duties. On that pretext he left and did not return after the mid-day recess to resume his duties. The godown-keeper was, however, suspicious. He received some information that his plea of going to the customer was false and that his real intention was to attend a matinee show of a cinema house. On the matter being reported to the Manager, the latter went with another assistant, to that particular cinema and found the workman coming out of the cinema house at the end of the show. It is on these facts, the workman has been charged with gross breach of disclipine and gross neglect of duty for which the Company seeks permission from us to dismiss him. There are no Standing Orders in the concern and the charge against him, in substance, is that he absented himself from work in the second half of the 13th August 1953, on a false pretext. We may assume that the workman left the office on a false pretext. There being no Standing Order in the Company, the question is whether under the general law a master has the right to dismiss a servant for his absence for a very short time not even for a day, as is the case before us, when there is no jurisdiction for such absence. We fail to see how the absence of the workman for a half day, without justification can be regarded either a gross breach of disclipine or gross neglect of duty. The Company could not have summarily dismissed him for such a cause if no appeal had been pending before us in which he was concerned. In these circumstances, it is unnecessary for us to consider whether the explanation submitted by the workman is a credible one or not, namely, that he was attacked with colic pain with vomitting tendency with the result after the mid-day recess he had to go home and take rest during the rest of the day. Such being the facts, we think it is not a fit case in which we should give permission to dismiss the workman. The result is that this application is dismissed with costs which we assess at Rs. 32.

True Copy of the Order No. 3, dated 27th November 1953.

This is an application by the Bharat Carbon & Ribbon Manufacturing Co., Ltd., Calcutta, under section 22 of the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950, for permission to dismiss eight workmen. Since the application was made four of them resigned, namely, (1) Mr. R. N. Biswas, (2) Mr. J. K. Ghosh, (3) Mr. R. K. Bhattacherjee and (4) Mr. Dudh Nath Singh. The application is, therefore, not pressed against these four workmen but is pressed against the other four workmen, namely, (1) Mr. K. D. Chakravarty, (2) Mr. R. D. Sharma, (3) Umed Singh and (4) Sk. Hirmat Ali. The case of the Company is that on the 4th of June, 1953, these workmen indulged in riotous conduct, during working hours in the factory and incited others to do so and shouted objectionable slogans against the Manager. Written charges were issued against these workmen on the 5th June and delivered to them. They were asked to submit their explanations by the 6th June following which they did. After the explanations had been received, the Management issued notices to each one of those workmen and intimated that an enquiry would be held on the 8th of June and they should be present if they so desired. An enquiry was held as fixed on the 8th June in which all these workmen participated. The Company examined certain witnesses who supported the Company's case. Some witnesses were examined on behalf of the workmen who denied the incident of the 4th June, 1953, alleged by the Company. Mr. J. K. Ghosh, who was examined on behalf of the workmen also admitted in the course of his cross-examination that there was general "golmal" in the factory. After this enquiry, the Management came to the conclusion that the charges levelled against these workmen had been proved. That is a possible view which the Management could take on the evidence as led at the enquiry. We accordingly held that a prima facie case has been made out by the Management and there is no evidence worth considering which would suggest that the Management in seeking permission is being actuated by motives of victimisation or any other ulterior motives. We accordingly grant permission to dismiss the four workmen mentioned above. No costs.

Copy of the order No. 3, dated 14th July 1953.

This appeal is on behalf of the 17 workmen of the Great Eastern Hotel and is directed against the order passed by the Tribunal on an application made before it under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, seeking permission to dismiss the said 17 workmen. These 17 workmen are the table boys employed in the Hotel. The case of the Company is that there were nine vacancies in the cadre of table boys. The head butler Nisar Ali was asked to recruit nine suitable persons for the post of table boys. In accordance with those instructions the head butler took nine persons as table boys. This led to the dissatisfaction among the other table boys and when these new hands were dressing up in the godown on the 9th January 1952 these 17 workmen were guilty of riotous conduct and they even went to the extent of assaulting the new entrants. On these facts the Company sought permission to dismiss them.

A written statement was filed on behalf of the said 17 workmen and they took part in the proceedings before the Tribunal. Both sides led evidence and on the evidence before it, the Tribunal came to the conclusion that the Management had established its case that the 17 workmen were guilty of riotous conduct within the Hotel premises, which is misconduct under the Standing Orders for which an employee is liable to be dismissed. In view of these findings of fact which are based on evidence, no substantial question of law arises in the appeal. The appeal is accordingly dismissed as being incompetent.

DECISION.

On the 27th August 1951, a dispute between the appellant (hereafter called the Company) and its workmen was referred by the West Bengal Government for adjudication by the Third Industrial Tribunal, West Bengal. During the pendency of that adjudication proceeding, Mrs. Gomes was discharged from the 1st September following by a notice, dated the 30th August 1951, without permission from that Tribunal. On the 16th November 1951, a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, was made by Shri Jiten Banerjee, Joint Secretary of the Association of Employees' Unions, challenging the propriety of her discharge. The Tribunal by its award, dated the 12th February 1952, upheld the complaint, ordered her reinstatement within one month of the award becoming enforceable with full back pay and allowances from 1st September 1951. In addition, the Company was directed to pay her two months' full wages as compensation in disapproval of the Company's action which the Tribunal considered to be arbitrary and high-handed. The Company had appealed against the award and the following points have been pressed in support of the appeal, namely:—

(1) that the complaint was not maintainable as it had not been made by the aggrieved workman, Mrs. Gomes, nor on her behalf by an agent duly authorised by her;

(2) that the finding that her services had been improperly terminated is wrong;

(3) that in any event, the Company should not have been directed to reinstate her; and

(4) that the compensation awarded is excessive; in any event, the additional compensation for two months' wages should not have been awarded.

2. The case of Mrs. Gomez was that she was appointed as a Typist in 1947 and continued to be in that capacity and was asked only in January 1951 to pick up shorthand. The Company's case on the other hand is that she was appointed as a Stenographer but as there was not sufficient work for a Stenographer in the Finance Section in which she was placed, she was given typing work only for three years, from 1947 to 1950. In January 1951, Mr. Nair who was in charge of the Finance Section asked her to take some notes in shorthand but she pleaded inability on the ground that by her non-practice she required some brushing up. She was thereupon given time to brush up. The Tribunal, however, found that she was appointed as a Steno-typist. We need not examine the evidence in detail on the point. Our finding is that she was appointed as a Stenographer but was actually employed in typing work only.

The notice of discharge, dated the 30th August 1951 (Ext. 1), simply stated that her services would not be required after the 31st August. She was offered the sum of money standing at her credit in the Provident Fund Account including the Company's contribution and a gratuity of Rs. 400 in addition. Assistance in securing employment elsewhere was given and a testimonial was enclosed. That testimonial stated that owing to reorganisation her services had been dispensed with. In the written statement before the Tribunal, it was stated that her services had been terminated for trade reasons; that she was appointed as a Stenographer but was soon found to be inefficient and was employed to do typing work but owing to loss of business and reorganisation, she was found surplus. There is also the charge of inefficiency. The evidence led by the Company was to the same effect. The main and substantial case of the Company is that she was retrenched as typing work had decreased. This case of retrenchment was also considered by the Tribunal which held that it could not be justified and the rule of last come first go had not been followed, It is for these reasons we hold that the appeal is competent as the case comes within section 7(1)(b)(vii) (retrenchment) of the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, and so it is not necessary for the appellant to show that a substantial question of law is involved.

We do not find any substance in the first ground urged before us. A labour union or an officer thereof has no independent right to make a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act. It is only the aggrieved workman who can. But that does not mean that he cannot authorise an agent to make the complaint on his behalf. In this case, Mrs. Gomez was a member of the I.B.P. Steel Employees' Union. She had authorised that Union to make a complaint on her behalf. That Union is affiliated to a Federation called the Association of Employees' Union. Under instructions from her Union, the Secretary of the Federation made the complaint. As soon as the objection as to the maintainability of the complaint was pressed at the hearing she herself signed and filed a verbatim copy of the complaint which had been filed by the Secretary of the Federation. The Tribunal proceeded with the hearing and the award was made about two months after the conclusion of the hearing.

We have already stated that the case of the Company was that her services were terminated as she was found to be surplus on account of loss of business and reorganisation. Save and except the bare oral testimony given by Mr. Nair, the only witness examined for the Company, there is no other evidence to show that there was loss of business or what was the nature of reorganisation. In these circumstances, we cannot hold that the retrenchment was justified. Besides, there is credible evidence to show that the termination of her services was not bona fide. After getting the notice of discharge and the enclosed certificate, she made a representation to the Manager, whose answer thereto is contained in Ext. 4. There for the first time the story is introduced that she was found inefficient as a Shorthand writer, that she was warned to improve and was given sufficient time to make up her deficiency but she failed and the suggestion is that inefficiency as a shorthand writer was one of the causes for her discharge. This case is inconsistent with the offer of ex gratia gratuity. There is also another important statement in that letter. It is that on the 29th August 1951, her behaviour at an interview she had with Mr. Nair was objectionable and that was also stated as one of the causes for terminating her services. It is significant to note that after January 1951, her deficiency in shorthand was lost sight of and the notice of termination of her services was given the very next day. There is nothing to show in what respect her conduct at the interview was objectionable and no charge was given to her before her discharge. We, therefore, hold in agreement with the Tribunal that the termination of her service was not bona fide and was unjustifiable. The normal relief in such cases is reinstatement and in this case there are no exceptional circumstances which would lead us to depart from that rule. There is nothing beyond a suggestion that if she is reinstated there would be no work for her in the establishment. We do not, however, see any grounds for upholding the order for additional compensation in the shape of two months' wages. The principle of compensation and not of penalty should be the sole criterion in the case of wrongful termination of services.' We, therefore, set aside this part of the award.

The Tribunal awarded her full back pay from the 1st September 1951, the date of her discharge, till her reinstatement to be made within a month from the award becoming enforceable. Her reinstatement was stayed by this Tribunal by consent. The appeal was ready for hearing for the 8th October 1952, It could not be heard on that day and on the next fixed for hearing. She cannot shirk her responsibility for the delay in the hearing of the appeal and put it entirely on the Company. In these and other circumstances, we think it would be proper to direct the company to pay her compensation at the rate directed by the Tribunal up to the 8th October 1952, only. Payments already made her in pursuance of the terms of our stay order are to be adjusted in calculating her dues.

The result is that subject to the modification indicated above the appeal is dismissed with costs which we assess at Rs. 50, payable to the Secretary of the Association of Employees' Union.

The dispute which was referred to by the West Bengal Government for adjudication by the First Industrial Tribunal, West Bengal, related to a claim for bonus for the year 1951-52. By its award, dated the 15th September 1953, which was published in the local gazette of the 8th October 1953, the Tribunal awarded bonus at the rate of five weeks basic salary earned by the workmen in that year. Against this award, three appeals have been preferred—two by the workmen represented by two separate Unions which have been numbered as Cal-159/53 and Cal-166/53 and the third appeal is by the Company which has been numbered as Cal-157/53. The hearing was almost concluded when the parties intimated to us that they do not wish to prosecute their respective appeals further. The result is that all the appeals, namely, Cal-157/53, Cal-166/53 and Cal-159-53 are dismissed but without costs. The net result is that the award of the Tribunal stands.

DECISION.

By Government order No. 781Dis./D/10L-15(A), dated the 8th April 1952, the Government of West Bengal referred the following matters for adjudication by the Third Industrial Tribunal, West Bengal:—

(1) Bonus for the year 1949-50;

(2) Production bonus for all workmen;

(3) Annual increment; and

(4) Cheap canteen.

The said Tribunal gave its award on the 20th of March 1952 which was published in the local gazette on the 24th April following. Before the Tribunal, workmen claimed two months' pay as bonus for that year. With regard to the production bonus, the Company had been paying it according to a scheme, but it limited to the workmen of certain departments who were directly concerned with production. The workmen claimed the scheme to be extended to all its departments.

2. The Company had divided the workmen into six grades, viz., (A) to (F) and were paying time scales to the workmen placed in Grades (A) to (E), but no time scales were being allowed to the workmen placed in Grade (F) who are coolies. The Union wanted the Tribunal to revise the existing grades and also alleged that the gradation as made by the Company was not correct. It held that it was not competent on the materials before it to revise the posting to different categories of workmen as placed by the Company in different grades nor it had the jurisdiction to do so on the terms of the reference. It also stated that it was not possible to revise the wage structure in this particular concern; for it would have a repercussion on the other engineering concerns which were parties to and were bound by the award of what has been called the First Major Engineering Tribunal and their number was 118. With regard to the canteen, the complaint of the Union was that while there was a cheap canteen for officers where hot meals were supplied at a very low cost, namely, 4 as 6 pies per meal; there was no provision for any canteen for the workmen at all. The Tribunal made its award on the issues as follows:—

3. It maintained bonus on the scales as given by it by its interim award, which was that the workers drawing up to 60 pies per hour as basic wages were to get at the flat rate of Rs. 35; workers drawing from 61 to 100 pies per hour as basic wages Rs. 40 and workers drawing from 100 pies or over per our as basic wages Rs. 50. Roughly speaking, this gave to the workmen at the rate of 15 days' basic wages as bonus. With regard to the second issue, it found that there were no materials on the basis of which it could consider the demands of the workmen. It also adopted the wage structure of the Company as existing and made it a part of the award by making it an annexure to the award. It held that the workmen had made out a good case for a cheap canteen but only recommended to the Management to open a cheap canteen within a year of its award. Against this award the workmen have preferred this appeal. We will first deal with the question of canteen, then of production bonus, then with wage structure and lastly with the question of bonus.

4. The Company pleaded that it was not able to construct a room for the canteen, as there was no space available but was prepared to arrange for the supply of tiffin only at their places of work through recognised contractors and hawkers. This offer of the Company was one which on the fact of it could not be acceptable to the Tribunal and it did not accept it, but only recommended to the Management to start a cheap canteen for the supply of hot meals also on terms as aforesaid. This we consider to be unsatisfactory. It should have made a direction. The workmen's representative appearing before us has said that since the award, the canteen room has been built but the Management proposes to supply meals on the basis of no profit—no loss. This, in our opinion, is not what generally goes by the name of cheap canteen. It is the obligation of the Management which has been directed to open a cheap canteen to bear a substantial part of the cost of running the canteen so that the workmen may have the benefit of having healthy food at a cost lower than that at which it can be obtained outside. The nature of the dishes to be supplied and how much concession the workmen should have is a matter of detail. We cannot go into these questions of detail specially because there are no materials before us except the general statement that the officers get their hot meals at 4 as. 6 pies a dish with fish, meat, etc., included in the menu. We therefore, give a general direction leaving the further matters as to menu and price to be settled either at the Works Committee or at a Canteen Committee consisting of employers and employees' representatives, which it is desirable to set up if it does not already exist. The general direction that we give is that the Company must incur the following expenditure which are not to be taken into account in fixing the cost of the hot meals to be charged to the workmen, namely, (a) the cost of utensils including cooking vessels, plates, glasses and other articles which would be necessary to serve the meals to the workmen, (b) the cost of furniture, (c) the cost of coal, fuel, electricity, (d) the salary of the cooks and of the canteen staff.

5. At the hearing when the question of production bonus was taken up, Shri Banerjee who appeared for the workmen said that since the award of the Tribunal there has been an improvement in the Company's scheme. He said, however, that certain observations of the Tribunal are not happy and that some anomalies in the Company's scheme should be removed. He referred to what he considered to be anomalies from a piece of paper which is not on the record. The Company, however, had not the opportunity to explain away the suggested anomalies. On the metarials on the record it is not possible to revise the award of the Tribunal on this point which we affirm but solely on the ground of want of materials.

6. The Tribunal held that it could not accede to the workmen's demand either for revision of the grades or consider the question as to whether a particular workman had been correctly placed by the Company in the particular grade for two reasons, namely, (1) that it goes beyond the scope of the reference and that the matter cannot be said to be a matter incidental to the question referred to for adjudication and (2) that without job valuation with the assistance of expert opinion, the question cannot be satisfactorily solved. We agree with the reasons given by the Tribunal in this respect. Item No. 3 of the terms of reference ("whether all workmen should get yearly increments"), however, in our opinion, give to the Tribunal authority to determine the following questions, namely, (1) whether the minimum and the maximum as fixed in Grades (A) to (E) of the Company were fair; (2) whether the rates of increment and the period during which increments were to be spread over were fair or not, and (3) whether the maximum of Grade (F) is to be fixed and whether the workmen falling within that grade, namely, coolies, would have time scales.

7. This Company as well as 118 other engineering concerns of this State were parties to the proceedings before the Major Engineering Tribunal and were bound by its award. On the merits of the question, the Tribunal said that it would be inequitable to revise the pay structure in this particular concern and that a revision of its pay structure would increase cost of production and will hamper the Management to compete with rival traders. In our openion, the Tribunal has misread and misapplied the award of the First Major Engineering Tribunal. The First Major Engineering Award fixed the minimum wages of unskilled and semi-skilled workmen and with regard to them it did not approve of the idea of fixing time scales apparently because it was not desirable in the case of all the engineering concerns, which were parties to those proceedings and which consisted of concerns which varied widely in the matter of the nature and extent of their operation, capacity to pay and the financial stability. It was, therefore, proper for that Tribunal not to lay down generally any time scales for the workmen of the labour class, but there is nothing in that award which prevents a particular concern from introducing time scales in respect of its workmen of the labour class or from being ordered to do so. In this concern, the Company has recognised the necessity of having time scales and have introduced time scales for its workers falling within Grades (A) to (E). It was, therefore, proper for the Tribunal to examine the wage structure of these grades and see whether the increments were fair or fairly distributed. Even a cursory examination of the time scales of the different grades as shown in Annexure A to the award would show that some are neither fair nor reasonable. Thus, the starting pay of the workmen in Grade (A) is 54 pies per hour and it is raised up to 154 pies per hour. The increment is on the basis of Re. 1 every two years (that is to say, at 1 pie per hour) plus merit at the discretion of the Management and at that rate of increment, a workman would require 200 years to reach the maximum in normal course. So far as Grade (B) is concerned, it would require a workman 60 years' service to reach the maximum of 79 pies per hour from the starting basic pay of 49 pies an hour. With regard to the workmen placed in grades (C), (D) and (E), the position is not so impossible and absurd as in the case of workmen in Grades (A) and (B), but still it requires an appreciable number of years for a workman placed in these grades to reach the maximum. It may no doubt be true that the Company promotes a workman from one grade to another according to his merit and efficiency but it could have also introduced test at periodical intervals to enable the workman to earn increments within his grade. But there are no tests in this concern. It would in these circumstances be meaningless when a scheme of time scales has been adopted to say that there should not be automatic increments in that particular grade in which the workman is placed for otherwise increments would depend upon the uncontrolled pleasure of the employer. The other reasons given by the Tribunal do not also appeal to us on the facts of this particular case. No doubt, the introduction of time scales would have a tendency to increase the cost of production gradually but there is no evidence on the record that the increase in the cost of production would hamper the Company to compete with the prices of its rival traders. It is quite apparent from the nature and extent of the articles produced in this workshop and the extent of its production that there are very few concerns in West Bengal (not more than two or three) at most which can be regarded to be its competitors and there is no evidence to show whether they have time scales or not, or whether the revision of the time scales already existing in this Company would raise its costs of production to such an extent as to make it suffer in competition with those two or three concerns which may be considered to be its trade rivals.

8. There are, however, no materials before us which would enable us to revise either the starting wages or the maximum wages of the workmen placed in Grades (A) to (E). The rate of increment as prevalent in the Company is Re. 1 for every two years which in terms of hourly rates is 1 pie per hour. At that rate, it would take 200 years for a workman placed in Grade (A) to reach the maximum by automatic increments and 60 years in the case of workmen placed in Grade (E) which on the face of it, is absurd. Workmen placed in Grades (C), (D) and (E) Group I would require 12 years, 14 years and 11 years respectively, and the workmen in Grade (E) Group II would take five years to reach the maximum.

9. The workmen contended before us that division of Grade (E) into two groups is artificial. According to the Company's wage structure, the basic pay of Group I of that grade is 32·5 (minimum) to 38 pies (maximum) per hour. Group II of that grade starts from 32·5 and rises up to 35 pies per hour. We need not go into that question because the Company has agreed that the two groups of Grade (E) should be merged into one and as there are no materials as we have already said to revise either the minimum or the maximum of any one of these grades, Grade (E) would consist of one group with the starting pay of 32·5 pies per hour rising to the maximum of 38 pies per hour. On that footing, the basis on which increment has been given by the Company would require 11 years for a workman to reach the maximum by automatic increments. After giving our anxious consideration to the matter, we maintain the starting and the maximum wages of grades (A) to (D) and of Grade (E) as merged by us as they exist. But the rate of increments must be revised to enable the workmen in these grades to reach the maximum within a reasonable period of time. We accordingly fix the following time scales, the increments being yearly ones:—

Grade A.

Basic pay—54 pies—12½ pies—154 pies per hour.

Grade B.

Basic pay—49 pies—5 pies—79 pies per hour.

Grade C.

Basic pay—49 pies—1 pie—49 pies per hour.

Grade D.

Basic pay—36 pies—1 pie—43 pies per hour.

Grade E.

Basic pay—32·5 pies—·5—1 pie—38 pies per hour.

In Grade E, the first year's increment would be ·5 pies. All these incremental scales would not affect the workmen adversely if they are now drawing more. As there is already in existence time scales and we have only accelerated the increments in respect of Grades (A), (B), (C), (D) and (E), it is not necessary to lay down any rule of fitting in. But we must make it clear that postings of the different categories of workmen in these respective grades as appears from Annexure A to the award are to remain intact. The only thing is, that in Grade (E) the two groups are to disappear, being merged into one.

We will now take up the question of the workmen is Grade (F). All the workmen placed in this grade are crude-labour (coolies), that is to say, who do not come in the course of their duty in contact with semi-skilled or skilled workmen. For the reasons we have given in Appeal No. Cal.-95/1952. (The workmen of Messrs. Britannia Building and Iron & Co., Ltd. vs. Britannia Building & Iron Co., Ltd.) which we need not repeat, we are not prepared to fix time scales for them in the present state of industrial development.

The claim for bonus is for the year 1949-50. The award given by the Tribunal in effect amounts to 15 days' basic wages. We have examined the balance sheet for the year. The profit and loss account does not disclose after making provisions for legitimate prior charges a sufficient surplus which would enable the Company to pay at a higher rate. The award of the Tribunal on this point is accordingly affirmed. As the appeal has succeeded substantially the Company must pay costs to the workmen which we assess at Rs. 250.

True copy of order No. 5, dated the 23rd September, 1953.

This is a complaint under section 23 of the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950, by one Munna Lal, who was a sweeper under the respondent Club for a number of years. It is alleged by him that he was suffering from gout and was granted leave from the 15th April to 14th May 1952 on full pay and it was extended thereafter from 15th May 1952 to 29th May 1952 on the complainant's asking for the same because his illness persisted. It appears from the correspondence passed between the parties that on the 20th of May, the complainant informed the Club that he was unable to resume his duties by the 15th May 1952, as he was required to do, and asked for his monies to be sent. On the 24th May, the Club sent a letter in reply granting him leave on half pay from the 15th May to 29th May 1952 and asked him to resume his duties on 30th May 1952 positively. On the 28th May 1952, the applicant sent a letter in which he stated that "In reply I beg to inform you that due to ill health, I am quite unable to come and resume my duties this time. Therefore, I beg to request you to appoint my son Maish Charan in my place; for this act of your kindness I shall be much thankful to you. Further, I beg to request you to send my dues by money order to the above address." This letter was considered by the Club to be a letter of resignation and it was accepted. Certain other correspondences passed on the subject and the complainant presented himself for duty by the end of July but the Club did not allow him to join his duties. It is contended on behalf of the complainant that his discharge was in contravention of section 22 of the Act inasmuch as the appeal in which the Club and its workmen were concerned, was pending before this Tribunal and that the Club was not justified in treating the letter of the 28th May as a letter of resignation and the discharge was illegal, mala fide and not based on natural justice. No particulars have been given about mala fides. It is clear from the facts disclosed that the Club showed all considerations in his favour by extending the leave up to 29th May 1953. In the letter of the 28th May, it is clearly stated that he was quite unable to join his duties on account of his ill-health. He requested his dues to be sent by money order and wanted his son to be appointed in his place. We are of opinion that in these circumstances the interpretation of the letter of the 28th May 1952 to be a letter of resignation was quite correct. There are no materials to prove that the discharge was in violation of the principles of natural justice. In the circumstances, we hold that there was no contravention of section 22 of the Act. We hold that the complaint is not maintainable. We are satisfied that on merits also the complainant has no case. The application is accordingly dismissed. No costs.

DECISION.

These two appeals, namely, No. Cal-79/53, and No. Cal-82/53, have been preferred by Messrs. Caltex (India), Ltd., Calcutta, and by the workmen of Messrs. Caltex (India), Ltd., respectively, against the award given by the First Industrial Tribunal, West Bengal (Shri M. C. Banerji), as published in the Calcutta Gazette, dated the 4th June 1953, in the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Caltex (India), Ltd., and their employees in connection with the cases of five workmen, namely, (1) Lachmi Narayan, (2) Md. Abbas, (3) Nabi Bux, (4) Md. Hossain and (5) Md. Habib. The issues framed by the Tribunal were as follows:—

(1) Is the Company entitled to dismiss the following workmen:—

(a) Lachmi Narayan,

(b) Md. Abbas,

(c) Nabi Bux,

(d) Md. Hossain, and

(e) Md. Habib.

(2) Was the order of suspension passed against them in August 1951 justified?

(3) Are the workmen entitled to any relief by way of compensation for suspension or dismissal?

There were four incidents on 30th August 1951 in connection with which charges under different clauses of the Standing Orders of the Company were laid against these five workmen, and it appears that the Terminal Superintendent conducted an elaborate enquiry on several days, giving full opportunities to the workmen concerned to give their explanations and adduce evidence for their defence, and came to the conclusion that all these five workmen should be dismissed. As certain adjudication proceedings were pending at that time before the Sixth Industrial Tribunal, West Bengal, an application under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, was made by the Company before that Tribunal, and it appears that the application was heard but no orders on the same were passed up to the time when the award in the adjudication proceedings was published and eventually the application was dropped as infructuous. Meanwhile the five workmen, who had been suspended, continued to be under suspension. It appears that later on certain conciliation proceedings were started without any result. The industrial dispute arising out of the order of supension and the connected events was eventually referred to by the Government of West Bengal to the First Industrial Tribunal for adjudication. These adjudication proceedings have resulted in the award which is the subject of the present appeals. It does not appear to us, that it will serve any useful purpose to enquire at the present stage, why the Company did not dismiss the five workmen concerned at points of time, when probably it got a chance to do so, or why the Company did not make an application, under section 22 of the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950, before this Tribunal.

2. It will be relevant at this stage to refer briefly to the background of the relevant incidents which took place on 30th August 1951. On 28th August 1951, Md. Abbas, Lachmi Narayan and Nabi Bux approached the Terminal Superintendent to place a demand of the workmen for the sale of milk at 10 annas per seer in the canteen and they were admitted before the senior executive of the Company, who were at that time, engaged in a conference with the Terminal Superintendent. The demand put forward by the workmen was not acceded to, and this failure on the part of the workmen created an atmosphere of indignation. Shortly afterwards, a large body of workmen collected outside the Terminal Superintendent's room instead of going back to their places of work, and the assembly became extremely rowdy and abusive and uncontrollable. Eventually the Police was called and the workmen were somehow persuaded to go back to their work. The Company wrote a letter to the Labour Commissioner, about what had happened and on the next day, 29th August 1951, the Company displayed a notice on the notice board, wherein a serious warning was administered to the workmen stating that a repetition of such indiscipline would be met with strong disciplinary action. The relevant incidents with which we are concerned in the present appeals, took place on 30th August 1951. The first incident took place at about 9-30 a.m. and in this Md. Habib and Md. Hossain were involved. The Company's case, in brief, is that Md. Habib approached the canteen Manager at the canteen and abusing him, demanded to know why he was selling tea for cash and Md. Hossain subsequently approached the canteen Manager and took a cup of tea against a free tea coupon and joined in the altercation in an excited manner and abused and threatened the canteen Manager, smashing the tea cup and saucer on the table. The second incident took place at the canteen at about 10-45 a.m. and in this the workman, Lachmi Narayan, was involved. The Company's case is that this workman threatened the canteen Manager, asking him to discontinue providing tea and food on the basis of cash or cash coupon, and thereby he attempted to prevent the canteen Manager from carrying out his legitimate duties. The third incident took place at the canteen at about 11-35 a.m. and in this the workman Nabi Bux was involved. The Company's case is that Nabi Bux used abusive and threatening language to the canteen Manager and also the canteen servant named Bhattacharjee and actively prevented the latter from carrying some food to another installation, and thus prevented the Manager and the servant from carrying out their legitimate duties. The fourth incident took place later in the day at about 5-10 p.m. in connection with a lorry. In this Md. Habib, Md. Abbas and Nabi Bux were involved. The Company's case is that they threatened and abused the lorry driver, Mahabir, and tried to prevent him from carrying out his normal duties of conveying certain members of the supervisory staff and wanted to force the lorry driver to convey themselves and certain other members of the labour staff.

3. As regards Lachmi Narayan a charge was framed against him with regard to the second incident, under Standing Order No. 20(r) which relates to "drunkenness or riotous or disorderly behaviour during working hours or any act subversive of discipline or efficiency". As regards Md. Abbas, a charge was framed against him with regard to the fourth incident under Standing Order No. 20(r). As regards Nabi Bux, charges were framed against him with regard to the third incident under Standing Order No. 20(r) in relation to the canteen Manager and the servant Bhattacharjee and charges were also framed against him with regard to the fourth incident under Standing Order No. 20(r) and also under Standing Order No. 20(e), the latter relating to "quarrelling with other workers and employees, including Contractors' Labour and railway staff". As regards Md. Hossain, charges were framed against him, with regard to the first incident under Standing Order No. 20(r) and also under Standing Order No. 21(b), the latter relating to an act of "causing damage to the Company's goods or property, either wilfully, through neglect or default". As regards Md. Habib charges were framed against him, with regard to the first incident under Standing Order No. 20(r) and with regard to the fourth incident under Standing Order No. 20(r) and Standing Order No. 20(e). As a result of the enquiry, the Company came to the conclusion that all these charges had been established on the evidence available, and all the five workmen should be dismissed, and all of them had already been placed under suspension. The Tribunal below has come to the following findings and has given the following directions in the award under consideration. The charges against Md. Hossain and Nabi Bux in respect of the first and third incidents, respectively, had been satisfactorily established and they should be dismissed. The charge against Lachmi Narayan in respect of the second incident had not been proved and he did not deserve any punishment, and he should be given compensation for the period of his forced non-employment to the extent of basic wages and dearness allowance for 10 months, the period of non-employment being considered to be leave. The charge against Md. Habib, with regard to the first incident, had not been proved; but only technical offences under the charges against him, with regard to the fourth incident, had been established, and he should be given a lighter punishment, namely, suspension for four days and he should also be given, compensation for the period of his forced non-employment to the extent of basic wages and dearness allowance for five months, the period of non-employment being considered to be leave. Only a technical offence under the charge against Md. Abbas with regard to the fourth incident had been established, and he should be given a lighter punishment, namely, suspension for four days, and he should also be given compensation for the period of his non-employment to the extent of basic wages and dearness allowance for five months, the period of non-employment being considered to be leave. An order of suspension in respect of Nabi Bux, with regard to the fourth incident has also been passed, although this was obviously redundant.

4. The workmen's appeal, Cal.-82/53, aims at getting the directions regarding the dismissals and suspension set aside, and the orders regarding compensation, further extended. The Company's appeal No. Cal.-79/53, has, of course, nothing to say about Md. Hussain and Nabi Bux, but it aims at getting the directions regarding Lachmi Narayan, Md. Habib and Md. Abbas, reversed on the footing that the Tribunal below was not entitled to come to the conclusion that the findings of the Company with regard to these workmen, were perverse and that they were all guilty of serious misconduct in pursuance of a planned programme of indiscipline and they should all be dismissed as proposed by the Company. As regards Md. Hussain and Nabi Bux, we find that there is no substance in the workmen's appeal and the part of the award relating to the dismissal of these two workmen must be maintained. The only question that arises for our consideration is what should be done in respect of the other three workmen, namely, Lachmi Narayan, Md. Habib and Md. Abbas. The Tribunal has very rightly proceeded on the footing that these cases must be governed by the principles laid down in the decision of this Tribunal in the case of the Buckingham & Carnatic Co., Ltd. (1952, L.A.C., page 490), or (1951, II, L.L.J., page 314). On a consideration of the evidence placed at its disposal, the Tribunal below has rightly held that the order of suspension was justified and in the present case, there is nothing to indicate that there was any want of bona fides on the part of the Company, or that it is a case of victimisation or unfair labour practice, or violation of the principles of natural justice or that there was any basic error on facts. We are, however, constrained to say that the Tribunal below has erred in law in coming to the conclusion that the findings of the Company in respect of Lachmi Narayan, Md. Habib and Md. Abbas were perverse on the materials, as there is no evidence in support of that conclusion. It has also failed to notice and appreciate the difference between a perverse finding and wrong finding, and what it has said is that the finding of the management was wrong as being what it considered to be against the weight of evidence. The expression "perverse" was indeed not defined in this Tribunal's decision in the case of Buckingham & Carnatic Co., Ltd. We must, however, proceed on the basis of a proper meaning of this expression and in this connection we think it will be reasonable to adopt the idea given in Stroud's Judicial Dictionary and we hold that a perverse finding is one that is not only against the weight of the evidence but is altogether against the evidence. It should be clearly understood that a wrong finding is not necessarily a perverse finding, and a finding cannot be held to be perverse, merely because it is possible for another authority on the materials to come to a different finding. The question in our present case is whether the Terminal Superintendent was entitled to place implicit reliance on the evidence of even one person in the light of the background and surrounding circumstances. If the Terminal Superintendent, who appears to have conducted an unusually elaborate enquiry, chose to rely on the evidence of the canteen Manager implicitly in the light of the background of a more or less planned programme of indiscipine, with regard to Lachmi Narayan, there was nothing to prevent him from doing so. The same observations apply to the case of Md. Habib in respect of the first incident. There was apparently some evidence, which the Terminal Superintendent who had the opportunity of seeing the witnesses and watching the demeanour and appreciating the significance of the prevailing atmosphere was entitled to rely upon, and if he chose to come to positive findings of 'guilty' in respect of Lachmi Narayan and Md. Habib with regard to the canteen incidents and also in respect of Md. Habib and Md. Abbas in relation to the lorry incident, there would be nothing to justify the conclusion that such findings were perverse. Further the expression "technical offence", as used by the learned Tribunal, does not seem to bear much meaning under the particular circumstances. It is indeed true that the offences committed by these three workmen were probably of a lighter nature than those committed by Md. Hossain and Nabi Bux; but there would be no justification for interfering with the findings of the Company in view of the principles laid down in the case of Buckingham & Carnatic Co., Ltd.

5. The only question that remains to be considered is whether there would be any justification for giving any lighter punishment, as directed by the Tribunal below, instead of an order of dismissal, in respect of the three workmen, namely, Lachmi Narayan, Md. Habib and Md. Abbas. With regard to this matter, the principles involved in this Tribunal's decision in paragraph 12, in the case of the Buckingham & Carnatic Co., Ltd., and in paragraph 22 in the case of the Madras Electric Tramways, Ltd., and their workers (1951, II, L.L.J., at page 204) and in the case of the J. K. Cotton Spinning and Weaving Mills, Co., Ltd. vs. Lalta Prasad (1953, 1, L.L.J., page 257), are to be seriously taken into consideration. It will be worthwhile to quote the following observations in paragraph 22 of the decision in the case of Madras Electric Tramways, Ltd., which run as follows:—

> "Ordinarily the management acting bona fide and with knowledge and experience of the problems which confront it in the daily work of the concern, ought to be considered to be well qualified to judge what the appropriate punishment should be. But the rule that the punishment given by the management shall stand, is subject to this qualification; that the punishment must not be unduly excessive for the particular offence and here again the Tribunal should not substitute its own judgment for the judgment of the management unless it is apparent that the requirements of discipline and good conduct would not be prejudiced if a lesser punishment were awarded".

Applying these principles, relating to punishment, to the facts and circumstances of our present case, in the light of the previous history and background involving an all-perversive spirit of indiscipline on the part of the workmen and a more or less planned programme of rowdyism, we are unable to say that there is much room for substituting a lighter punishment, in the place of the punishment of dismissal as proposed by the Company.

6. We, therefore, hold that the part of the award relating to the three workmen, Lachmi Narayan, Md. Habib and Md. Abbas cannot be supported. We come to the conclusion, in supersession of the relevant parts of the award, that the Company is entitled to dismiss Lachmi Narayan, Md. Habib and Md. Abbas as well as Md. Hossain, and Nabi Bux, that the order of suspension passed against them was justified and that none of them is entitled to any relief by way of reinstatement or compensation.

7. In the result, the workmen's appeal No. Cal.-82/53, is dismissed and the appeal No. Cal-79/53, preferred by the Caltex (India), Ltd., is allowed on the lines indicated above. The parties shall bear their own costs in these appeals.

8. In pursuance of our order, dated the 10th July 1953, passed on the application for stay, the Company paid Rs. 400 to Lachmi Narayan, Rs. 200 to Md. Habib and Rs. 200 to Md. Abbas, towards compensation, as was payable to them in accordance with the award of the Tribunal This order for payment was passed without any prejudice to the rights of the parties in the appeals. We have set aside the award of the Tribunal in respect of these three workmen and have held that the Company entitled to dismiss them. In view of our decision, these three persons would not be entitled to retain the money which was paid to them under our directions made in the said order. These monies so received by them have to be refunded.

These persons have accounts in the Provident Fund and according to the Provident Fund Rules, they would be entitled to their own contribution on their services being terminated by dismissal. We accordingly direct that the amounts so paid to them are to be adjusted towards their dues from the Provident Fund accounts. After adjustments if any money is left over, the same is to be paid over to them; if on the other hand, after adjustments, any money be due to the Company, the said balance is to be refunded by the person or persons concerned.

His leave thus expired on the 10th May 1953. On the expiry of his leave he was asked to return to his duty and take treatment from the hotel doctor. A medical certificate was attached to that application. The leave was not sanctioned. He appeared in the hotel premises on 30th May 1953. As the Company was very doubtful about the bona fides of his application, he was asked by a letter to present himself at an enquiry which was proposed to be held. True Copy of the Order No. 5, dated 17th November 1953.

The charge against the workman, Birendra Barua, a cook in the employ of the applicant Company, was that on the 12th June 1953, when he was leaving the Hotel, at about 10 o'clock in the night, Sur Bahadur, the Durwan on duty at the gate, searched and found that he had concealed five eggs in his pocket. He was, therefore, charged with theft of the Company's property. This charge amounts to a major misconduct under the Company's Standing Orders for which a workman is liable to be dismissed.

A charge-sheet was duly given to this workman the next day and he was asked to explain his conduct. An enquiry was held where he appeared and admitted his guilt.

This case was fixed for hearing for the 2nd November 1953, when Mr. Pandey, Secretary of the Great Hotel Worker's Panchayet, appearing on behalf of the workman applied for time in the presence of Mr. S. C. Sen, who appeared for the Company. Accordingly, today was fixed for hearing of this case in their presence but neither Mr. Pandey nor the workman has appeared nor any affidavit in opposition has been filed. We hold that a prima facie case has been made out by the Company against this workman and in seeking permission to dismiss him, the Company has not actuated by any ulterior motives of victimisation. We accordingly, grant the permission as asked for.

True Copy of the Order No. 2, dated 2nd November 1953.

In this case the workman concerned overstayed his leave by more than eight days. On the expiry of his leave and the said period, he was asked to rejoin but instead of that he did not present himself for duty. In these circumstances, the Company proposes to dismiss him on the strength of the proviso of the Standing Order which runs thus—

> "If the workman remains absent beyond the period of leave originally granted or subsequently extended he shall lose his lien on his appointment unless he (a) returns within 7 days of the expiry of the leave and (b) explains to the satisfaction of the Manager his inability to return before the expiry of his leave. In case the workman loses his lien on his appointment, he shall be entitled to be kept on the badli list".

There is no affidavit in answer explaining the circumstances under which he could not take up his duties after he had been asked to do so by the letter mentioned above. In these circumstances, we think that a prima facie case has been made out by the Company and there is no suggestion that the Company is acting mala fide. We accordingly grant the permission asked for.

Copy of the Order No. 3, dated 9th November 1953.

This is an application by the Company for permission to discharge a workman of the name of Nand Kumar Chokra on the ground that he had overstayed his leave without permission. The Standing Rules of the Company authorise the Company to discharge a workman on that ground. No affidavit in opposition has been filed and the workman has not appeared before us today, although served with notice. We hold that prima facie case has been made out by the Company and in seeking permission, it has not been actuated with ulterior motives. We accordingly grant the permission asked for.

In the matter of an appeal against the order of Shri S. K. Neogi, dated the 8th September 1952, on an application, under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947.

DECISION.

The Company applied for permission under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, before the State Tribunal to dismiss six workmen, Nepal Chandra Bhowmick, Kali Charan Dubey, Girija Singh, Bhowanipher Tewari, Ram Khelan Singh and Bramha Singh. The application was necessitated because an adjudication proceeding between the Company and their workmen was that on the 18th January 1952, these workmen were guilty of riotous and disorderly behaviour during working hours. They were suspended from the 27th January 1952 pending enquiry. This suspension was admittedly without the permission from the Tribunal. Later on statements of witnesses were taken and the management came to the conclusion that they were guilty of riotous and disorderly behaviour during working hours. After coming to that conclusion the application under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act was made by the Company before the State Tribunal. There is a discussion in the order under appeal as to the effect of the suspension from the 27th of January 1952, pending enquiry and the Tribunal discussed the question as to whether it was to be regarded as punishment or not. This discussion is irrelevant for the question would have been material only if a complaint under section 33A of the Act had been made by the workmen concerned against the said suspension. The Tribunal was only to consider the application made for permission under section 33. The scope of enquiry on such an application has been settled. It is that the Tribunal has to see whether the management has made put a prima facie case to sustain its charge and secondly whether in proposing to punish the workmen the management was being actuated by ulterior motives or motives of victimisation. In this case Tribunal considered the evidence in detail and found as a fact that the Management's case was established and that there was no evidence to prove victimisation, etc. On these findings of fact, no question of law, much less substantial one, arises in the appeal. The appeal is, therefore, not competent and it is dismissed. We award no costs.

In the matter of appeals against the award of Shri G. Palit, Judge, Industrial Tribunal, Calcutta, made on 6th February 1953 in respect of an industrial dispute between the above parties.

Dated the 7th December 1953.

PRESENT :

MR. R. C. MITTER, Chairman.

MR. K. S. CAMPBELL-PURI, Member.

Appearances :

For the Company: Mr. N. M. Das Gupta, Advocate.

For the Union : Mr. D. L. Sen Gupta, Advocate, with Mr. Satya Ranjan Sen, Secretary of the Union.

State : West Bengal.

Industry : .Chemical.

The subject matter of these two appeals—one by the Company and the other by its workmen—relates to a claim for bonus for the year 1357 B.S. The Company had paid voluntarily one month's basic wages, to be more accurate, one-twelfth of the basic wages earned by the workmen in the year, which amounted to Rs. 1,78,754. The workmen, however, claimed in addition two months' basic wages as bonus. The Tribunal by its award, dated the 6th February 1953, which has been published in the Calcutta Gazette in its issue, dated the 5th March following, has awarded an additional bonus of half month's wages thus making the total bonus for that year to be 1½ months' basic wages. In its appeal, the Company contends that no bonus beyond what it paid voluntarily is admissible. The workmen in their appeal on the other hand claim an additional bonus of two months' basic wages, that is to say, they claim the total bonus at the rate of three months' basic wages which would be 1½ months' basic wages more than what had been awarded by the Tribunal. Both before the Tribunal and before us their respective cases have been urged on the basis of the formula laid down by the Full Bench of this Tribunal in Mill Owners' Association, Bombay vs. Rashtriya Mill Mazdoor Sangh (1952 L.A.C. 13).

2. The Company filed its balance sheet for that year and analysed the figures in the light of that Full Bench decision in a document which has been marked as Exhibit "A". It shows a deficit of Rs. 29,724 after taking into account the voluntary payment of one month's basic wages amounting to Rs. 1,78,754 as bonus. We set out below the contents of that document taking the unit to be a lac of rupees and giving only two decimals leaving out the rest, i.e., leaving out hundreds:—

	Lacs.
Profit as per profit and loss Account	13·47
Add back depreciation	1·97
Bonus (1356)	2·30
Income-tax	0·96
Gross Profits	18·70
(a) Less statutory depreciation for the year 1357	3·18
	15·52
(b) Less Bonus for 1357 paid in 1358	1·78
	13·74
X(c) Less Income-tax at 6·95 annas per rupee	5·97
	7·77
(d) Less Debenture Redemption Fund	0·75
	7·02
(e) Less return on paid-up capital at 6 per cent.	3·96
	3 06
(f) Less return on liquid reserves employed as working capital at 2 per cent.	0·09
	2·97
X(g) Less replacement reserve for the year	3·27
Deficit	·30

Before us Shri Satya Ranjan Sen appearing for the workmen accepted the amount shown as gross profit in this statement (Rs. 18·70 lacs). He also accepted as correct the figures shown against (a), (b), (d), (e) and (f); but disputes the figures shown against (c) and (g) marked by us by crosses. The said items were also disputed by the workmen before the Tribunal. The Tribunal, however, accepted 3·27 lacs shown as replacement reserves (item g) but found that the income-tax payable on the earnings of the Company made in the year 1357 to be not Rs. 5·97 lacs as shown by the Company in the above statement but only Rs. 4·46. Thus according to the finding of the Tribunal there was a surplus of 1·21 lacs, which would be sufficient to bear the burden of a further bonus at the rate of half month's basic wages (Rs. 89,000 odd) still leaving a balance in hand amounting to about Rs. 30,000.

3. We will first take up the question relating to the amount of the replacement reserve. The Company filed a statement marked as Exhibit B to support that figure.

That statement is as follows :—

For buildings .. $\frac{\text{Rs. } 27,42,000 \times 2\cdot5 - 11,04,000 - 4\cdot35}{30} = 1\cdot54,000$
For machineries .. $\frac{(\text{Rs. } 18,98,000 + 12,29,000) \times 2\cdot7 - 22,49,000}{14} = 4\cdot91000$
Thus the total replacement reserve required every year and so far the year 1357 = 6,45,000	6,45,000
Less statutory depreciation for that year = 3,18,000	3,18,000
Balance ..	3,27,000

The denominators 30 and 14 mean that complete replacement of existing buildings and machineries erected up to now has to be spread over a period of 30 years and 14 years respectively beginning from 1357. The co-efficient 2·5 in the case of buildings and 2·7 in the case of machineries have been adopted by the Company on the basis that the present costs and the costs in the future years during which replacement is to be made is and would be higher than what was the cost when the buildings were erected or machineries installed. Thus, as Rs. 27,42,000 was the cost incurred in erecting the buildings when constructed and Rs. 18,98,000+Rs. 12,29,000 (total Rs. 31,27,000) the price of the machineries when installed the cost of replacement owing to rise in prices since the second world war would be 2·5 times in the former case and 2·7 times in the latter. From the sums so arrived at the amounts standing in the reserves on account of depreciation of the buildings and machineries up to 1356 have been deducted. We have checked the figures from the balance sheet and find the figures relating to the original cost of erecting the buildings and in installing the machineries as shown in the said formula to be correct as also the amounts which have been deducted on the ground that those sums are available from the reserves set apart up to 1356 for the depreciation of buildings and machineries. The statutory depreciation for the year 1357 shown as Rs. 3,18,000 in the final deduction is also correct. In fact, all those figures have not been challenged before us by the workmen.

4. Before the Tribunal the co-efficients, 2·5 and 2·7 and the period of spread-over were challenged. The Tribunal held that these figures had been taken by the Company on a hypothetical basis, which may not ultimately prove to be true, but still it accepted them as in an award between the Company and its workmen of the Bombay Bench, a State Tribunal (Shri Bhakale) had accepted those co-efficients and the periods of spread-over. An examination of that award which has been published in the Bombay Gazette at page 5244 in its issue of the 11th October 1952 would, however, show that the workmen there admitted those figures in that case. It would have been necessary to have evidence on those points in the case before us but that has been obviated by the Union accepting before us that it would be proper to take 30 years and 14 years as the spread-over periods for the replacement of buildings and machineries respectively. It also accepted before us that the co-efficient 2·5 and 2·7 would be proper multipliers in the case of buildings erected and machineries installed on or before 1939, but submitted that there should be no multipliers where the buildings were erected and machineries installed after that year at a time when the costs of erection of buildings and prices of machineries had risen considerably. We think that this contention of the workmen is sound, and in its light we proceed to examine the relevant balance-sheets.

5. The balance-sheets of the year 1348 (1941-42), 1350 (1943-44), 1357 (1950-51) and 1358 (1951-52) have been produced. For this purpose we need not refer to the balance sheet of 1348 (1941-42) for in that year the costs of erecting buildings and the price of machineries had not risen appreciably over the pre-war costs and prices. In fact, owing to the war, machineries were then available only in negligent quantities. The balance-sheet of 1358 also is not relevant for the purposes. A comparison of balance-sheet of 1350 (1943-44) with that of 1357 (1950-51) established the fact that new buildings at a cost of Rs. 11·75 lacs were erected between those years and the price of new machinery installed during that period was Rs. 9·15 lacs where the costs of building materials, etc., and prices of machineries had risen much above the pre-war costs and prices. Thus, the formula to adopt to calculate the yearly replacement reserves would be (leaving out hundreds)

$$\text{For buildings} \quad \frac{15\cdot67(=27\cdot42-11\cdot75)\times 2\cdot5+11\cdot75 \textit{ less } 15\cdot39\ (=1104+4\ 35)}{30} = \frac{34\ 54}{30} = 1\cdot6 \text{ lacs.}$$

$$\text{For machineries} \quad \frac{22\cdot15(=18\ 98+12\cdot29-9\cdot15)\times 2\cdot7+9\cdot15 \textit{ less } 22\ 49}{14} = \frac{46\cdot46}{14} = 3\cdot32 \text{ lacs.}$$

Total final replacement costs = 4·48 (1·6+3·32).

As the statutory depreciation allowed for the year 1357 is Rs. 3·18 lacs, the amount that has to be taken into account as replacement reserve for that year vis-a-vis the claim for bonus for that year would be 1·30 lacs (4·48 less 13·18 lacs). The difference between this figure and what is shown under that head in Exhibit A would, therefore, be 1·97 lacs. This by itself would convert the deficit of ·30 lacs as shown in Ext. A to a surplus of about 1·67 lacs. On these figures payment of ½ month's basic wages as bonus in addition to what the Company had voluntarily paid (·89 lacs) would still leave in the hands of the Company a balance of 1·06 lacs (Rs. ·78+·38) or so, ·38 lacs being income-tax rebate on additional bonus after meeting admissible prior charges on its revenues but a larger additional bonus would not be proper for even if basic wages for 7 days more be given, the balance with the Company would be about 60 thousands only which would be too low a figure (more accurate figures are given below). If, however, the finding of the Tribunal about the amount payable as income-tax for the earnings of 1357 be maintained; the surplus would be able to bear an additional bonus at the rate of one month's basic wages, that is to say, a total bonus at the rate of two months' basic wages; for, after that payment, there would still remain in the hands of the Company Rs. 1·40 lacs after meeting necessary and legitimate prior charges on its revenues. The materials point, therefore, to consider what should be the deduction for income-tax.

6. The Company claims 5·97 lacs on this head. The Tribunal found that income-tax payable on the earnings of 1357 would be Rs. 4·46. This figure the Tribunal has taken from the balance-sheet of the year 1357 and said it is the amount of income-tax payable on the profits of that year. In this respect, the Tribunal has obviously erred; for, that sum represented the tax that was actually paid in the year 1357 for the assessable income for the previous year 1356. For seeing whether any surplus would be available from the trading results of 1357, the income-tax payable by it on its income earned in that year must be ascertained. This has to be found on calculation from the profit and loss account of that year. For that purpose the figures appearing on the expenditure side of the profit and loss account of that year has to be marshalled. This was done by the Full Bench in the Mill Owners' Association case, Bombay. Before we proceed to marshall those figures, it is, however, necessary to deal with the contention of Mr. Sen Gupta who argued the point of income-tax on behalf of the workmen.

7. Mr. Sen Gupta referred to an extract of the assessment order which had been filed by the Company and marked Ext. E. It is clear that the assessment was for the income of the Company earned in the year 1357, for that extract mentions the accounting year to be the year ended 14th April 1951=(31st Chaitra 1357). Two figures separated from each by other figures not shown in that extract are only mentioned there, viz.—

Net profit Rs. 13,47,038	Depreciation admissible under the Income-Tax Rules and an allowance Rs. 3,18,465.

Mr. Sen Gupta deducts this amount (Rs. 3,18,465) from the net profits shown there at Rs. 13,47,938 and contends that the balance which comes to Rs. 10·29 lacs was the amount assessable to income-tax. As the rate of income-tax payable by this Company is admittedly 6·95 annas per rupee he says that the tax payable on the income of 1357 would be only Rs. 4,46,082. Mr. Sen Gupta is not right in making that deduction. It is the net profit which is assessable and which the income-tax officer assesses and the same is arrived at by deducting from the gross profits various items, one of which is depreciation allowable under the Income-Tax Rules. We, therefore, cannot accept Mr. Sen Gupta's argument that income-tax payable for the earnings of that year would be 4·46 lacs.

8. We will now proceed to break up the profit and loss account for the year 1357 in the light of the Full Bench decision in the Bombay Mill Owners' Association's case taking those figures from Ext. A which have been accepted as correct before us by the workmen and the replacement reserve for the year according to our findings as above, leaving out hundreds. They are as follows :—

	Lacs.
Gross Profit	18·72
Less statutory depreciation	3·18
Balance ..	15·54
Less bonus already paid	1·78
Balance ..	*13·76
(*This sum is assessable to income-tax.)
Admissable prior charge :—
Hence less income tax on it at 6·95 per rupee	5·97
Balance ..	7·79
Other prior charges as under which have to be deducted from the above balance—
Debenture redemption fund	0·75
Balance ..	7·04
Reasonable return on paid-up capital at 6 per cent.	3·96
Balance	3·08
Return on reserves employed as working capital at 2 per cent. ..	·09
Balance ..	2·99
Replacement reserve for 1357 according to our findings ..	1·30
Surplus ..	1·69
Claim for additional bonus at ½ month, i.e., 1/24 of the annual basic wages earned in the year.	·89
Balance ..	·80
Add back income-tax which would be refundable on this additional bonus at 6·95 annas per rupee.	·38
	1·08

This will be the balance still left in the hands of the Company. We have already pointed out that bonus should not be increased beyond those figures, for, in that case, the balance in hand of the Company would be too low and that is not desirable. The result is that the award of the Tribunal is affirmed though on different grounds. The net result is that the workmen of the Calcutta & Panihati branches who are in continuous service on the date of payment and who rendered service at least for three months in 1357 B.S. are awarded total bonus for the year 1357 at the rate of 1½ months' basic wages earned by them in the year 1357, that is to say, this is inclusive of what the Company had voluntarily declared for the year. The petition of compromise is made a part of this order. As both the appeals fail we direct each party to bear its costs.

DECISION.

The point that has been referred to this Full Bench for decision is "whether an employer can dismiss a workman joining a strike which is not illegal but is found to be unjustifiable" or, in other words, "whether an employer has the right, with or without qualification, to dismiss a workman for his joining a strike which is not illegal but which at the same time is unjustified". This Tribunal has already held that a strike does not by itself put an end to the relationship of employer and employee nor can an employer discharge a workman for his mere participation in a strike which is not illegal, as also for his mere participation in an illegal strike where there is no appropriate provision in the certified standing orders (Smith Stanistreet & Co., Ltd. versus Smith Stanistreet Workers' Union, 1953, L.A.C., page 31, Workmen of Punjab National Bank versus The Punjab National Bank, Ltd., 1953, L.A.C. 1); but in neither of these two cases the strike was held to be unjustified. So this precise point was not considered. There does not appear to be any decision on the point. It has, therefore, to be decided on broad principles and by taking into consideration the state of labour organisation, the employer-employee relations and the conditions of labour prevailing in the country in general.

2. The right to strike has been recognised by necessary implication in the industrial legislation in India and express statutory provisions have been made for the purpose of regulating it. It is thus a recognised weapon of the workmen to be resorted to by them for asserting their bargaining power and for backing up their collective demands upon an unwilling employer. During its continuance a strike has, however, an adverse effect upon production and upon the industry. It is, therefore, to be used as a last resort when all other avenues for settlement of industrial disputes, as provided for in the statutory machinery, have provided futile. Such being the position, it is desirable to discourage its misuse and to control and minimise the baneful consequences of its misuse in respect of the industry as far as possible and those objection can be attained if suitable disabilities can be legitimately imposed to prevent the misuse of that weapon. But the question as to what would be the disabilities to be imposed in cases where the weapon is misused does not admit of any easy or ready solution. The Industrial Disputes Act has to a certain extent proceeded on these lines by drawing a sharp line of demarcation between strikes which are legal and those which are illegal and the circumstances under which a strike is to be considered as illegal, have been precisely defined therein. The Act, however, does not expressly deal with the effect of an illegal strike on the relationship of employer and employee, but under certain safeguards it has provided for penal sanctions in the form of criminal prosecutions. The model standing orders made under the provisions of the Industrial Employment (Standing Orders) Act, 1946, however, have taken into consideration its effect on that relationship by making participation in an illegal strike a misconduct for which the workman concerned is liable to be dismissed. It further appears that Standing Orders of some industrial undertakings actually specify participation in an illegal strike as a major misconduct for which the employer can dismiss the workman concerned. But where there is no such specific provisions in the particular standing orders of a particular undertaking the employer of that undertaking cannot treat the workman participating in such a strike as being guilty of misconduct and terminate his services. This is the effect of the decision of this Tribunal in the Punjab National Bank's case (1953, L.A.C., page 1). The main consideration underlying that decision is that the security of service of an industrial workman should not be thrown completely at the mercy of the employer. Thus, the present state of employer-employee relationship in the country was considered to be an important factor. This factor would, in our opinion, be entitled to even greater consideration where the strike is not illegal but may be adjudged to be unjustified.

3. A strike which is not illegal and is justified, even though hasty, cannot be allowed to be used by the employer as a pretence for injuring an industrial worker who has joined such a strike, for justified strike implies that the employer himself is, to a certain extent, responsible for it, and, moreover, a recognised weapon in the hands of the workman would be rendered ineffective. The empolyers say that such a strike is an anti-social act for the resulting stoppage of work would have a serious effect upon production and may even result in the closing of the undertaking, and judged in the light of these considerations, an unjustified strike is of greater gravity than many acts which are classified as major misconduct in certified standing orders and so an employer should have the right to terminate the services of a workman on the mere fact that he has joined an unjustified strike. In substance, their contention means that an unjustified strike is to be judged on the analogy of misconduct. The same consequences would, however, flow from a justified strike. We cannot, therefore, accept this contention. There is also another weighty reason why an act of participation in a strike which is not illegal should not be considered on the analogy of misconduct. In Buckingham & Carnatic Mills' case (1952, L.A.C., page 490 at 498), this Tribunal limited the scope of enquiry by a Tribunal where the employer had dismissed a workman for misconduct and observed that in such cases, a Tribunal cannot act like a Court of Appeal sitting in judgment over the Management's decision but can only act like a "supervisory body, exercising what would ordinarily be regarded as powers of revision for correction of basic errors which would go to the rest of the matter and perverse findings". One consequence of treating an act of participation in an unjustified strike as an act of misconduct would be to invest the management with the power to determine whether a strike is unjustified or not, and the decision of the employer would amount to a final determination of the question, in all cases which do not fall within the purview of the four exceptions mentioned in the Buckingham & Carnatic Mills' case. The employer would, in that case, have wide powers to terminate the services of workmen which may be so exercised as to cut at the very root of the bargaining power of workmen, the strengthening of which is the main object of the trade union movement and the law relating to trade unions. The question before us, therefore, must be determined in such a manner that national interest and the interest of the industry may be safeguarded with as little curtailment of the strength of the bargaining power of the workmen as possible. Thus, the employer cannot be given an unqualified right to dismiss a workman simply because he has joined a strike which is ultimately found to be unjustified. But at the same time to withhold the right from the employer in every case of unjustified strike may lead to serious consequences on the economy of the country. A reasonable adjustment should, therefore, be made.

4. A strike may be held to be unjustified for various reasons, which it is not possible to define. A Tribunal may hold that it is not justified because the demands were pitched unreasonably high, or that it was resorted to although the employer had adopted a reasonable attitude by taking steps to have the alleged grievances redressed through negotiation or conciliation, or because the demands were not made bona fide but with other extraneous motives as for instance, mainly for the purpose of embarrassing the employer. One question, therefore, to be considered is whether the reasonableness or otherwise of the demands should be considered in judging whether the employer should be given the power to dismiss. We are not prepared to hold so. A demand may be pitched high for the purpose of having a settlement by bargaining. Besides, in the usual course of things not one but several demands are made, and judged according to the standard of a "reasonable man", some of them may appear reasonable and some not, but the standard of reasonableness from the workers' and the employers' points of view may be quite different. In these circumstances, to make the power of dismissal dependent upon the factor of reasonableness of the demand may (and we may go further and say it will) in all probability have the effect of restricting the field of having industrial disputes settled by bargaining. But as the weapon of strike has been given for a definite purpose it is desirable to impose a check upon its use so that it may not be wholly or substantially used for a different purpose. So bona fides would be a relevant and important factor. Thus, when a strike is resorted to under the pretence of backing a current demand but with the real object of compelling the employer to reopen a demand, which had already been settled by adjudication and which could not be responded on the principles laid down by this Tribunal in the case of the Sugar Mills of Bihar versus Their workmen (1951, Vol. 1, L.L.J., p. 469 in paragraph 19 at page 475) or when it is resorted to frivolously and frequently, the dominating motive being to ruin the industry, the position would be different, and in cases of those types or others where extraneous considerations rule, the employer should have the right to dismiss a workman joining such a strike. The employers want to go further by contending that the nature of the industry or the extent of the direct and indirect loss resulting from an unjustified strike should also be regarded as relevant and important factors. Thus, they contend by way of illustration, that where the nature of the industry necessitates continuous working for technical reasons or where such a strike has the effect of affecting the credit or reputation of the industry, as for instance, where the stoppage of work due to such a strike prevents the undertaking from fulfilling substantial contracts in time the employer should have the power to dismiss a workman joining a strike if it be found to be unjustified. We cannot accede to this contention. The element of loss and the same risks to the credit or reputation of the employer are involved in the stoppage of work due to all strikes, justified or unjustified, and introduction of these considerations would interfere with the workmen's right to choose their own time for strike for the purpose of making that weapon effective; and the effect of making the right of the employer to dismiss dependent on the nature of the industry would be the introduction of a broad distinction between workman and workman which we do not think is desirable. We accordingly hold that under certain circumstances, the employer should have the right to dismiss a workman joining an unjustified strike. It is not possible to define these circumstances more precisely but they must be of the nature indicated above.

Our conclusions are therefore—

(1) that a workman cannot be dismissed for joining a strike which is not illegal but which is simply unjustified;

(2) that the employer, however, will have the right to dismiss a workman joining an unjustified strike;

(a) when the strike itself was not bona fide, or

(b) when it was launched on other extraneous considerations and not solely with a view to better the conditions of labour.

But in all these exceptional cases, the facts whether the strike was justified or not and whether these exceptional circumstances were present or not must be left to the unfettered decision of the Tribunal—without the limitations indicated in Buckingham & Carnatic Mills' case—whenever the propriety of the dismissal is called in question.

The appeal will now be disposed of by the Ordinary Bench of this Tribunal in the light of the conclusions indicated above.

DECISION.

1. The dispute relating to the termination of services of 28 workmen was referred by the West Bengal Government by its order No. 1562Dis./

D/10L-79/52, dated the 3rd June 1952, for adjudication by the Sixth Industrial Tribunal, West Bengal (hereafter called the Tribunal). The award was made on the 31st March 1953 and published in the Calcutta Gazette, in its issue of the 23rd April following. The Tribunal held that the non-employment of all the 28 workmen was not justified. It further directed the Company to reinstate them with compensation. Against that award the Company has preferred this appeal. The facts are these. On the 6th October 1951, six workmen were retrenched. The cases of five workmen out of those six being serial Nos. 23 and 25 to 28, were referred to for adjudication by the said Tribunal. Thereafter there were disputes between the workmen and the Company relating to Puja Bonus and other matters, as also over the termination of services of those six workmen. Those disputes not being settled according to the satisfaction of the workmen, a strike followed on the 6th November 1951. By a written notice the workmen on strike were given opportunity to resume their duties on a certain date. They did not act up to the said notice with the result, that the 23 persons being serial Nos. 1 to 22 and 24 were discharged as from the 6th December 1951. The Tribunal did not deal with the cases of the two groups separately, namely, of the five workmen out of the six who had been retrenched on the 6th October 1951 and of the remaining 23 persons whose services were terminated as from the 6th December 1951 on what in substance was, for participation in the said strike. But proceeded on the hypothesis that the workmen of the first group also had been discharged for their participation in the said strike. The case of the workmen in respect of those five persons, Nos. 23, and 25 to 28, as also the Company's case in respect of them have not, therefore, been considered by the Tribunal. With regard to the persons who had taken part in the strike, the Tribunal found that that strike was not illegal. That finding is right. The Company, however, asked the Tribunal to consider whether the strike was justfiable or not, but the Tribunal considered that point to be irrelevant, as the following observations made in the award will indicate:—

> "whether the strike was or was not a justifiable strike is not within the scope of this enquiry which is limited by the issue specified for adjudication. But it is certain that the strike was not an illegal one. There is no evidence that the workers concerned had resorted to violence in course of the strike or had excited the other workmen participating in the strike to do so".

When the matter first came up for hearing the Division Bench did not agree with those observations and referred the following question to the Full Bench, namely, "whether an employer can dismiss a workman joining a strike which is not illegal but is found to be unjustifiable". The decision of the Full Bench was pronounced on the 18th February 1954. It was as follows:—

(1) "That a workman cannot be dismissed for joining a strike which is not illegal but which is simply unjustified.

(2) That the employer, however, will have the right to dismiss a workman joining an unjustified strike (a) when the strike itself was not bona fide, or (b) when it was launched on other extraneous consideration and not solely with a view to better the conditions of labour."

2. As the case relating to the five workmen, who had been retrenched on the 6th October 1951, has not been considered at all by the Tribunal and as the Tribunal had not considered the effect of participation in an unjustifiable strike, we think that the proper course to follow would be to set aside the award of the Tribunal and remit the case to it for consideration of the cases of the five persons, namely, serial Nos. 23 and 25 to 28, in accordance with the case of the respective parties and to deal with the cases of the remaining 23 persons, namely, serial Nos. 1 to 22 and 24 in the light of the decision of the Full Bench, referred to above. We think it also to be right that the Tribunal should afford opportunity to both the parties to lead such evidence as they may think necessary bearing on the following points, namely, (1) whether the strike was justifiable or not, (2) whether it was a bona fide one or not and (3) whether there were other extraneous considerations and decide the case on the evidence already on the record and on further evidence that may be produced. As the matter has been pending for more than 2 years, it is desirable if the Tribunal takes up the matter as early as possible. It will notify to the parties on the receipt of the records and thereafter fix an early date.

3. Mr. Majumder, appearing on behalf of the workmen, urged that we should give interim relief to the workmen. As we are disposing of the appeal the matter of interim relief would be a question to be decided by the Tribunal, if and when an application for such relief is made before it. The parties to bear their own costs.

PART IB—Educational Notices

BOARD OF SECONDARY EDUCATION, WEST BENGAL.

NOTIFICATION No. Syl./15/54.

Calcutta, the 21st April 1954.

Relaxation of page-limit for books on all subjects except on Languages to be submitted to the Board for approval.

In view of the necessity of making the treatment of topics as interesting and of the nature of a connected narrative as possible and to ensure against a resort to scrappy and disconnected bits of information, it has been decided to have a partial relaxation of the rigidity of the page-limit previously fixed in all subjects except in Language books and to allow a variation of the page-limit up to a maximum of 20 per cent. for Classes VI, VII, VIII and 10 per cent. for Classes IX and X, in order to give the authors greater freedom to develop their treatment in the interest of more attractive presentation.

S. K. CHATTERJEA,
Secretary.

BOARD OF SECONDARY EDUCATION, WEST BENGAL.

NOTIFICATION No. Syl./16/54.

Calcutta, the 21st April 1954.

Modification of notification No. Syl./14/54, dated 5th April 1954, regarding use of International Numerals in books on Mathematics.

It is hereby notified that in Arithmetic books for Class VI Bengali Numerals and Symbols may be used, but for Classes VII to X International Numerals and Symbols should be used in books on Arithmetic, Algebra and Geometry. For the first year only, i.e., for 1955, books on Arithmetic only, written in Bengali Numerals may be accepted, but such approved books will remain in force for one year only. It should, however, be noted that books on Algebra, Geometry, Trigonometry and Mensuration must be written with International Numerals and Symbols.

S. K. CHATTERJEA,
Secretary.

BOARD OF SECONDARY EDUCATION, WEST BENGAL.

NOTIFICATION No. Syl./17/54.

Calcutta, the 21st April 1954.

The following clarifications may be noted with respect to submission of books on the following subjects for approval:—

A. আবশ্যিক বাংলা

1. School Final Examination.—Notification No. Syl./3/54, dated the 18th January 1954—

Item (৭)—It will be a Rapid Reader and should be a complete work by an eminent author, whether living or dead. But in any case the book must be submitted to the Board for approval.

2. (i) Classes VI, VII, VIII.—Notification No. Syl./2/54, dated the 18th January 1954—Text-books in Bengali for Classes VII and VIII need not necessarily be illustrated.

(ii) "Samkalan" means a compilation, not an adaptation, but pieces included may be abridged, if necessary. "Akhyayika" means "Kahini", as such, it may include stories from real life and stories of travels.

(iii) The topics listed at the end of the syllabus for Classes VI, VII, VIII need not be dealt with in a single Reader, nor a gradation need be followed. The topics have been stated in order to give some indication of what the subject matter of the Readers should be.

(iv) The word "Gatha" in topic No. 8 means "narration, usually in verse", though examples of prose "Gathas" are not wanting. Stories from Gathas in verse, if included, should be reproduced in prose.

B. Geography.

(i) Class VI.—Full page maps and full page illustrations will not be taken into account when counting the number of pages of the text-book.

(ii) Class VII.—Syl./29, dated the 2nd July 1953.

Item No. 1.—Includes a brief description of the continents of Africa, South America and Oceania under the heads (a) to (e) and a detailed treatment of the countries mentioned in (i) to (vi).

Indonesia should be treated as a part of Oceania.

C. History.

The Detailed Synopsis of the History Syllabus published by the Board for Classes VI to X need not be literally followed. Text-books should be made interesting and attractive and if the details tend to make them dry reading, only important details likely to convey a general picture may be selected at the discretion of the author. The number of pages of each chapter is indicative of the weight to be given to the subject dealt with therein. But slight variation from chapter to chapter may be permitted, provided that as far as possible the total number of pages as relaxed is adhered to.

Secretary.

PART IB—Educational Notices

BOARD OF SECONDARY EDUCATION, WEST BENGAL.

NOTIFICATION No. Syl./25/54.

Calcutta, the 28th April 1954.

Text-books in Home Science for Classes VI, VII and VIII.

Text-books in Home Science may be submitted to the Secretary to the Board for being considered for selection as approved books for Classes VI, VII and VIII for the year 1955 and at least two succeeding years. One text-book for Class VI and one for Classes VII and VIII are to be submitted. No book will be considered unless it is written according to the syllabuses as notified in this office notification No. Syl./10/54, dated 24th March 1954, as published in the Calcutta Gazette of 22nd April 1954.

Six copies of each book in printed form or in manuscript or in typescript must be submitted along with a fee of Rs. 40 for each book so as to reach the Secretary to the Board not later than 30th September 1954.

If the book to be considered is in manuscript or in typescript, at least four copies of the sketches of the illustrations proposed to be used in the book, when printed, should be attached.

The name of the author, typist or the writer of the manuscript copy or printer and publisher of any book submitted for examination should be given only in one of the six copies to be submitted. There must be nothing in any of the other five copies which would enable the author or the publisher to be identified. If a printed copy of the book is submitted, it should have no cover but a blank white paper and the name of the book should not appear on any page or anywhere else in the five copies. But full specification of the cover with a sketch of the cover layout which will be used if the book is finally approved should be submitted separately.

Authors and publishers of the book are directed to state the approximate price which they propose to charge. The Board will later announce the maximum price that may be charged for an approved book for each subject in each class.

If a book submitted in manuscript or in typescript is considered suitable for being an approved book, the author may have the work published by a publisher of his own choice. Such books as finally printed must be resubmitted to the Board before they can be notified as approved books, to enable the Board to see that the printing, paper and get-up of the book come up to the standard demanded.

All approved books must be printed on white printing paper. The minimum substance of the paper should be of the quality of 28 lbs. Crown. But ivory finished non-glossy paper may be used if half-tone blocks are to be printed in the books. The type and size of the books should be as mentioned in the syllabuses.
